A CATHEDRAL MEETING

President Johnson and Mrs. John F. Kennedy look in different directions in St. Patrick's Cathedral during today's formal installation of Archbishop Terence J. Cook as spiritual leader of the Archdiocese of New York. Johnson's surprise trip to the ceremonies came as he prepared to leave later in the day for a Vietnam peace conference in Honolulu.

COUNTY ADMINISTRATOR

Early Budget Increases, Staff Additions Caused Board Splits

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Donald A. Jensen, Marin's first county administrator, had held a succession of public positions before taking over the job here at the start of fiscal 1957.

He had been, successively, Merced County welfare director, Fresno County welfare director, superintendent of welfare institutuions for Fresno County, and adviser to the Philippines Government Survey and Reorganization Committee.

While in the Philippines, he had met a young Berkeleyan named Alan Bruce, who was employed by the same committee. And early in 1957, the new county administrator invited this acquaintance to come to Marin as his assistant. Bruce took over the assistant administrator job on March 1 of that year at $703 a month.

When the county administrator office was set up, purchasing, civil defense, personnel and central services functions of the county budget were turned over to it.

These had cost a total of $32,232,080 in fiscal 1956. The new administrator's first year budget for them plus his own office totaled $62,403.63.

As his office grew, with addition of Bruce and others, there were budgeting changes.

Purchasing, civil defense, personnel and central services were separated out again. Central services had been merely a postage account. But now a new "central mail services" and "central services" began acquiring other costs. A personnel officer was added. Some of the services performed under the administrator were budgeted to other departments for which they were done, showing up as a credit account in the budget portions charged to the administrator.

Adding the administrative office, the four functions originally put under it and the new ones they spawned together, however,

McCarthy Begins Search For California Support

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy arrived in California today to court the state's youth and minority vote, in a presidential nomination contest with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York.

A cheering crowd of more than 200, mostly young people, greeted the Minnesota Democrat when he flew in at the San Francisco Airport from Connecticut shortly before noon.

He was greeted by such signs as "California is McCarthy Country." But he was starting behind Kennedy who already has made a special appeal to Negro and Mexican-American groups in California.

McCarthy started out seeking the vote of California's young people in an early afternoon address at the Greek theater on the Berkeley campus of the University of California.

He will go after the minority vote in Southern California tomorrow for the June 4 primary, addressing a Negro and a Mexican-American audience.

Johnson Sets Strategy Round In Honolulu On Hanoi Offer

Leaves Tonight; Will Stop For Ike Visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson prepared today to fly to Honolulu to discuss Vietnam peace moves with top U. S. officials from Saigon and South Korean President Park Chung Hee.

Park, whose troops are fighting alongside U. S. forces in South Vietnam, apparently will be the only foreign chief of state taking part in the weekend strategy conference.

Johnson will confer with former President Eisenhower at March Air Force Base tomorrow morning en route to Honolulu.

Meanwhile today South Vietnam, in a report from Saigon, said it welcomed Johnson's current bid for peace. It was the first official reaction from Saigon.

The United States, having swiftly accepted Hanoi's unexpected agreement yesterday to "establish contact," was seeking further information through diplomatic channels on a possible time and place for a meeting.

GENEVA LIKELY

Geneva, site of the 1954 conference that ended the French Indochina war and a traditional international meeting ground, was considered a likely place. There were reports in London that the meeting might be held in Moscow.

Sources at the Soviet Embassy in Washington, however, said they were unable to confirm the reports of a possible Moscow meeting and termed such accounts speculative.

Johnson already has said his prime negotiators would be Ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman and Llewellyn E. Thompson, U. S. envoy to Moscow, two veteran cold war negotiators.

WARNS U.S.

Dr. Ngo Ton Dat, deputy Vietnamese ambassador in Washington, today in effect warned the United States against agreeing to any "coalition or neutralist government" in Saigon. He said that was "merely wishful thinking."

"In spite of their sufferings, the Vietnamese people are basically anti-Communistm and they will fight on to defend themselves the way they have fought invaders in the past," Dat said.

A Hanoi newspaper editorial, meanwhile, demanded that "the U. S. most definitely, completely, and unconditionally put an end to the bombing and all other war acts against the whole territory of North Vietnam."

TO SEE IKE

President Johnson's plans to go to Honolulu late today were announced by the chief executive himself late yesterday after he read a statement saying preparations were under way to establish contact with Hanoi's representatives.

It was also announced Johnson would discuss top level military replacements for Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the American commander in Vietnam and for Adm. U.S.S. Grant Sharp, the commander in the Pacific.

KHE SANH SIEGE NEARING AN END

Huge American Relief Unit Within Mile Of Outpost; Link-Up Expected By Nightfall

SAIGON (AP) — The spearhead of a huge American relief force drove through sporadic enemy artillery and mortar fire today to within a mile of the U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh.

A U.S. spokesman said he expected some of the 20,000-man relief force to link up with the 6,000 Marines inside Khe Sanh by nightfall for the first breakthrough in the siege of the fortress, now in its 11th week. (See war picture, page 2.)

Marines and helicopter-borne air cavalrymen were pushing in three prongs toward the base. Reports from the field said they were encountering sporadic artillery and mortar fire but little other resistance.

A company from the 3rd Marine Division was the spearhead of the drive. After advancing along Highway 9 on the northeast, helicopters landed them northwest of the base and they were reported about half a mile from the barbed-wire perimeter.

Men of the 1st Air Cavalry Division pushed up from south of the base and were reported within 2.5 miles of their goal by midafternoon.

PUZZLED BY ENEMY

Senior U.S. officers were puzzled by the lack of resistance the relief force was meeting. They had expected savage fighting.

That could still be in store. The relief force had come within range of big North Vietnamese artillery and rocket guns in the Co Roc mountains to the west inside Laos, and the troops still had to cross the main enemy trench lines which extend to within 100 yards of the base.

Intelligence officers said they had preliminary indications that major elements of the North Vietnamese force were withdrawing, but they warned that this came from "initial raw data."

The only reported action of any size came yesterday when gunship helicopters caught an estimated 200 North Vietnamese in the open two miles southwest of Khe Sanh. The gunners claimed 20 of the enemy killed.

The aim of the operation, called Pegasus, is to open Highway 9, the land supply route to Khe Sanh which has been closed for nearly three months.

SPOT BOATS

Meanwhile, U.S. Navy fliers reported they destroyed two "high speed surface craft" yesterday off the North Vietnamese coast north of the Demilitarized Zone, the Navy said today.

The craft were not firmly identified but they were believed to be PT-type boats or large, fast bargest.

Also from Saigon it was reported the number of Americans killed in the Vietnam war dropped slightly last week but the total of U.S. wounded soared to the highest for a seven-day period during the conflict.

The U.S. Command said 330 Americans were killed in action last week as compared with 349 a week earlier. The number of wounded was 3,886, spokesmen said, as compared with 1,965 wounded in the week ending March 23. Of that 3,886 total, 1,829 were hospitalized but 2,057 did not require hospitalization, the command said.

Humphrey Delays Announcement

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Vice president Hubert H. Humphrey, in a unity appeal, indicated today he will make no announcement about his own presidential plans while President Johnson is on his Vietnam peace mission in Honolulu.

The vice president, welcomed to this labor center in a light rain, withheld any formal declaration about his 1968 plans and said he will "do nothing that in any way will impair" Johnson's weekend mission.

"I will do everything I can to help that effort—whatever I may be called upon to do," he said.

"I call upon all Americans regardless of party or persuasion to stand together now in unity behind the president in our national quest for peace."

His pledge, made in a speech before the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO convention, carried the implication that he would tailor his own political ambitions to the requirements of the Asian peace drive. That effort produced its first hopeful sign yesterday when Hanoi opened the door to preliminary discussions about negotiations on Vietnam.

The vice president's speech followed a statement by United Steelworkers Union (USW) President I. W. Abel which followed the lead of AFL-CIO chief George Meany in urging Humphrey to enter the race.

"I am wholeheartedly in support of Mr. Meany's position in this matter," Abel said.

At the same time, Humphrey's Washington office gave a Minnesota group the signal to start working in his behalf. Dr. William Kubicek, chairman of the new Humphrey for President Committee in Minnesota, said he was given "full sanction" to organize support by William Connell, Humphrey's chief staff assistant.

Tornadoes Leave 12 Dead In The South

STAR CITY, Ark. (UPI)—Tornadoes spread destruction through two sections of Arkansas, then stormed into Tennessee and Western Kentucky last night and early today, killing 12 persons and injuring scores.

Damage was feared running into the millions of dollars.

Four were killed in Atoka, Tenn. last night. Five died between Star City, Ark., and Monticello, Ark., and another was killed in Paragould, Ark.

The list of injured rose past 50.

Other tornadoes touched down in Hernando, Miss., Soco, Mo., and in or near the Tennessee towns of Millington and Gift.

The weather system that caused the tornadoes swept through Iowa as well, bringing tornadoes there, but none was reported in populated areas of Iowa.

The twisters sucked asphalt from roadbeds and pulled up trees three feet thick. They hurled television sets through walls of homes and flattened houses. Cars were blown into Arkansas woods.

Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller notified officials in the stricken towns to call him personally if they need help.

The first tornado touched down on the flat farmland near Star City and skipped along the ground for nearly 25 miles. It finally went back into the clouds just before crossing the Arkansas River near the Cummins prison farm.

Power was disrupted for 45 minutes at the prison, recently a center of controversy over the unearthing of three human skeletons.

Report Claims Raids Above Johnson Line

TOKYO (UPI)—Radio Hanoi said "American planes" bombed a populated area northwest of Hanoi and near the borders of Laos and Communist China today. This would be far above the bomb limit laid down by President Johnson.

The broadcast said the area hit by three waves of planes was 30 miles west of the provincial capital of Lai Chau in the extreme northwestern tip of North Vietnam. This is 10 miles west of the Laos border and about 38 miles below the meandering Chinese border.

Hanoi Radio said only that "American planes" struck the populated area three times between the hours of 8:40 and 10:40 a.m., unleashing more than 50 bombs. It did not identify the planes by type.

The area in the mountains above Dien Bien Phu is near the ill-defined border region where Laotian air force planes have carried out raids against North Vietnamese supply routes into Phong Saly province of Laos.

The same broadcast also reported American air raids today against the cities of Vinh and Tanh Hoa. Thanh Hoa, a frequently bombed target, is just below the 20th parallel. Vinh, in the panhandle region, is about 80 miles south of Than Hoah.

Hanoi Radio said U.S. aircraft dropped more than 50 explosive and steel pellet bombs on Vinh and that one plane was hit by the local armed forces. It did not say if it crashed.

The populated area is 218 miles northwest of Hanoi, 450 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone and 150 miles north of the 20th parallel.

Search Begins For Successor To Summerskill

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A five-man faculty committee was named yesterday to begin the search for a successor to President John Summerskill of San Francisco State College.

The committee will eventually recommend five prospects to Chancellor Glenn Dumke, who in turn will present two or three names to the Board of Trustees for final decision.

The committee members: Dr. S.I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, professor of English; Dr. Dwight Newell, dean of the school of education, Frank Sheehan, executive dean in charge of campus development; Dr. Eric Solomon, and Dr. Urban Whitaker, professor of international relations.

$28,000 Bill

STANFORD (UPI) — The hospital bill of Mike Kasperak, America's first adult heart transplant patient, totaled $28,845.83, it was revealed for the first time yesterday.

This amounted to about $1,600 a day for his 2 and one-half week stay at Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital. The retired Cleveland steelworker died 14 days after receiving a smaller heart from a housewife on Jan. 6.

A hospitalization plan taken through the United Steelworkers of America while he worked for Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. in Ohio paid $21,580 of the bill. The balance consisted mainly of the cost of 288 pints of blood used for transfusions.

Doles Out Money

DUBAI, Persian Gulf (UPI) — Sheikh Zayek Bin Sultan the Persian Gulf sheikhdom of Abu Dhabi locked up his coffers today after doling out about $4.8 million to $40,000 Omani tribesmen to celebrate formation of a nine-state gulf federation. The money came from the sheikh's $1.2 million a day oil royalties. Abu Dhabi authorities closed their border with Dubai today to stop the flood of Omani tribesmen into the sheikhdom.

Thwarts Assault

ABA, Nigeria (UPI) — Nigeria's rebellious eastern region said yesterday it had thwarted an attempt by the Lagos government to launch a riverborne assault on the vital Eastern Region city of Port Harcourt.

A war communique from the eastern region said its troops broke up a flotilla of boats loaded with federal troops in Bonny Channel and captured a gunboat and several speedboats.

The communique said the Nigerian force was trying to sneak up on Port Harcourt.

Alioto Tax Idea Cited As Reason For Regionalism

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The controversy over San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto's proposed tax on commuters demonstrates the need for regional government, the chairman of the Bay Area Council's committee on governing regional problems said today.

Don Fazackerley, a bank executive, said Alioto's proposed 1 per cent tax "is perhaps not politically feasible, but it reflects the pressing need for some kind of regional coordination."

He urged citizens to participate in hearings Tuesday through Thursday by the Joint Legislative Committee on Bay Area Regional Organization to be held here in the State Building.

The Bay Area Council is a civic and economic development organization.

Ethics Code Passes Amid Betting Cries

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House has established a code of ethics for itself but stopped short of making members fully reveal their financial status. It also refused to ban testimonial fund raising dinners.

Debate on the ethics bill, which passed yesterday by a 404 to 1 vote, was spiced by charges that a well-oiled gambling ring is being operated right on Capitol Hill.

Rep. John Kyl, R-Iowa, said "a very large number" of congressional employees are involved in the "illegal, well-organized" ring which he said involves a numbers racket, sports pools and similar betting ventures.

Kyl, who said the matter is being investigated, said he was "personally satisfied" that no members of the House or any of its officials were involved.

The ethics code passed enjoins officials and employees of the House to conduct themselves "in a manner which shall reflect creditably on the House."

It also requires a limited annual disclosure of outside assets and income, a ban on receipt of gifts from persons interested in legislation and a prohibition on diversion of campaign funds to personal use.

Proposals calling for full financial disclosure and a ban on testimonial fund raisers were shouted down.

Marijuana Case Acquittal Voted

A Marin Superior Court jury yesterday acquitted Daniel E. Mont, 21, of 112 Spruce Road, Fairfax, on a charge that he had a small amount of marijuana when arrested at home Nov. 20.

Deputy Dist. Atty. John Ralph Thomas alleged that Mount had half a marijuana cigarette butt and a few marijuana seeds in his coat when Fairfax police went to his home with a search warrant.

Democrats Deny Any Dinner Ticket Pressure

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Democratic fund raisers, insisting they have a "complete sellout," said today it wasn't true at all that they've been putting the squeeze on government workers to buy tickets for tonight's $250-a plate party dinner.

The dinner, expected to raise about $700,000 for the Democratic House and Senate campaign committees, had nothing but standing room to offer to late ticket buyers.

Erle Cocke Jr., former national commander of the American Legion who is dinner chairman, said there had been a "surge" of ticket requests since President Johnson announced his withdrawal Sunday from the Presidential race.

The chief executive was expected to attend the dinner before he leaves for Honolulu.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey also was scheduled to attend.

Cocke said that ticket sales had been "stimulated" by the recent events, with many Democrats believing it could be the "last political speech" by Johnson and the "first" by Humphrey as a candidate for the 1968 Presidential nomination.

The FBI has been investigating complaints that James W. Gulick, acting head of the Maritime Administration, told a meeting of 79 employees in the $18,000 a year or more salary category that they "would know" what to do about the dinner if they wanted "a nice, clean file."

Gulick has denied making the remark.

"Nobody has been pressured," Cocke said. "We have made no special solicitation of government employees.'

Polish Purge On; Hints Of Antisemitism

WARSAW (UPI)—The Communist Party newspaper Trybuna Ludu reported today two officials of the state-organized Central Council of Trade Unions had been dropped from their post. The usually reticent press hinted the purge might penetrate the top leadership of government.

The newspaper said Jozef Kofman was dismissed on March 22 as vice chairman of the Wages and Labor Committee and Mrs. Wisla Pankiewicz-Morawski was allowed to resign from the Central Council presidium.

Twenty officials were known to have lost their jobs or their Communist Party membership since student demonstrations March 8 brought the political crisis to the surface.

Several journalists, all Communist Party members, have demanded "decisive action...against persons in news media who have cosmopolitan sentiments."

"Cosmopolitan" is an old Stalin era term to describe Jews. Many of the top jobs in the Polish press are held by Jews.

Another target in the purge has been the governing board of the Ladz Film School, famed in Poland as the training ground of the nation's best artistic film directors. Several personnel changes have been announced and some sources said between 30 and 70 per cent of the school's heavily Jewish faculty expected to be fired.

The Warsaw party newspaper Trybuna Mazowiecka criticized the party itself, something rarely done in Poland. It asked how it had been possible "for people who represent our people's authorities daily and even fulfill the highest state functions to turn out to be our enemies?"

Two Soldiers End Runaway To Sweden

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI)—Two American soldiers AWOL for a month in Sweden left their Stockholm refuge and surrendered to U.S. Army authorities in Germany, an Army spokesman said today.

They arrived at Frankfurt Airport yesterday just a few hours after another soldier, Pvt. Ray Roy Jones, was sentenced to four months at hard labor for leaving his outfit and spending more than a year in Sweden.

He said Butler and Lloyd, absent without leave (AWOL) since March 1, were taken into custody by officials at the airport and were turned over to their unit, the U.S. 3rd Infantry Division at Kitzingen, Germany.

The spokesman said the court martial sentence of Jones, the first U.S. serviceman to flee to Sweden because he was against the Vietnam War and the first to return and be tried for it, had nothing to do with the decision by Butler and Lloyd to return.

They surrendered to the U.S. embassy in Stockholm before the sentence was announced, he said.

Sweden, which has granted asylum to 28 AWOL American servicemen so far, has become a favorite refuge of GIs seeking to escape the war. The embassy said it has helped "seven or eight" men to return but others are believed to have returned on their own.

The American Deserters Committee, the Stockholm organization which helps runaway servicemzn, claims there are about 80 U.S. GIs in Sweden.

Ousted Czech Leader Denies Misusing Army

PRAGUE (UPI) — Former President Antonin Novotny, the deposed and disgraced Stalinist leader, denied today in a speech to the Communist Party Central Committee he had tried to use the army to stay in power when he was ousted as party leader last January.

Since January he has resigned under fire as president and been stripped of most party posts. He was allowed today to go before the Central Committee and explain the errors of his ways in an "extensive speech" full of self criticism.

There were reports at the time that Maj. Gen. Jan Sejna, head of the political department of the Czech army, had been involved in efforts to use the army to keep Novotny and other Stalinists in power. Sejna fled to the United States in February, reportedly with Warsaw Pact secrets.

The Czech news agency CTK said the 63-year-old Novotny asked for and received permission to take the floor to reject widely published rumors he had "wanted in any way to misuse the army at the time of the December and January plenary sessions of the Central Committee" when he lost the party leadership to the more liberal Alexander Dubcek.

Drahomir Kolder, presiding officer of today's session, waived the standard 15-minute limit for speeches so Novotny could have his say. He "spoke about his part in the shortcomings and errors" that took place under his 15-year reign, CTK reported.

U.C. Gets Oral Cancer Grant

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Oral cancer is on the rise and the University of California Medical Center here will use a $225,000 federal grant to help fight it.

Major reasons for the increase, said Dr. Sol Silverman Jr., are "smoking of all kinds—cigarettes, cigars, pipes, the use of snuff and alcohol."

"There are 25,000 new cases of oral cancer in the U.S. each year," he reported.

Early recognition can more than double the cure rate, he reported. Thus routine mouth examinations by dentists and physicians are essential.

OVERCOME BY SMOKE

Firemen and a policeman carried an injured woman from the restaurant in the Hartford Plaza building in Chicago last night as fire swept the restaurant, causing damage that extended from the first to the fifth floor of the 21-story building. Four customers and 10 employees of the restaurant fled when the alarm was sounded. Cause of the blaze is under investigation. The woman was treated for smoke inhalation.

Saturn Fizzle Poses Delays In Moon Race

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The third stage of America's Saturn 5 super-rocket failed to restart in space today after two second stage engines quit earlier in a troubled flight that could delay the country's man-to-the-moon program.

Despite the premature shutdown of the second stage engines, other engines took up the slack and the world's most powerful rocket shoved into orbit the satellite weighing 132 tons. The satellite consists of an unmanned, 28-ton, Apollo 6 moon ship, a dummy lunar landing capsule and the third stage.

In all, the Saturn 5 has 11 engines: five first stage, five second stage and one third stage engine.

WRONG ORBIT

The rocket propelled the huge load into orbit but it was the wrong orbit—110 miles too high.

If the Apollo 6 had carried men, a mission to the moon would have been aborted, said an official of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. After the malfunction of the second stage, too little fuel remained to propel the craft outward to the moon.

And he said the later failure of the third stage to restart would have prevented a moon shot in any event.

The restart was attempted more than three hours into the flight after the satellite had circled the globe twice.

"We did not get a re-ignition." the mission control center reported.

Controllers immediately ordered the Apollo 6 separated from the third stage. This was done successfully. Then the space craft engine—instead of the dead third stage engine—was called upon to propel the craft to a point 13,832 miles in space.

FLAMING RETURN

From this height, the space craft will make a flming dive back to the atmosphere at lunar return speed of nearly 25,000 miles an hour. If all goes well it will parachute to a landing in the Pacific Ocean about 390 miles northwest of Hawaii about 4:50 p.m., EST.

The aircraft carrier Okinawa waited there to recover the craft.

House Passes Mild Travel Tax Package

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today passed a travel tax package containing only the mildest provisions of President Johnson's original tourist tax program.

The measure would put a 5 per cent ticket tax on all overseas airline tickets, similar to the tax now imposed on domestic flights, and reduce from $100 to $10 the amount of duty-free goods that travelers could bring home.

The House Ways and Means Committee earlier scrapped Johnson's original plan to put a graduated tax tourists who spend more than $7 a day outside the western hemisphere.

Johnson's original plan was designed to cut $400 million from the dollar drain—which totaled $3.6 billion in 1967.

The limited package approved today would reduce the deficit by about $95 million, according to treasury estimates.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee said the measure would not do much to help the balance of payments.

"We're not presenting this bill as a monumental proposition," he said.

Suburban Banks Tempting Holdup Targets, FBI Says

The branch bank out in the suburbs, with a young manager and three or four women tellers, has become a popular target of bandits without the skill or nerve to hold up the big banks downtown, says Charles W. Bates, agent in charge of the San Francisco Federal Bureau of Investigation Bureau.

Bates, who spoke to the Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club today, said there were only 30 bank robberies all over the United States in 1943. In 1966, there were 1,871, and last year, there were 2,551.

Bates, who is agent in charge of the San Francisco bureau, said he was even involved in the arrest of an 79-year-old woman, four feet, 11 inches tall and weighing 89 pounds, who held up a branch bank. She got the idea from watching television.

"Everybody is holding up banks," said Bates. "They are beautifully attractive, with big windows, low counters and wide doors."

On a serious note, Bates said the public gets no more than what it pays for in law enforcement.

"It has always seemed incredible to me that they take a young man with a high school education, give him a badge and a gun, pay him, on the average, less than $5,000 a year, and send him out to be doctor, lawyer, judge and everything else that a policeman has to be," said Bates.

"The newest rookie on the force is out enforcing the law. You wouldn't take the newest man you'd hired for your business and give him that kind of responsibility."

Crime will decrease when people want it to decrease, he said.

Parolee Pleads Guilty To Lesser Narcotics Count

Bernard G. Gonzales, 35, of San Rafael, who twice won hung juries on a charge he possessed marijuana, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a lesser charge of maintaining a house for the purpose of selling or using narcotics.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson declared the offense to be a misdemeanor and sentenced Gonzales to the time he has served in jail while waiting for his trials — eight and a half months.

Gonzales was transferred immediately to San Quentin Prison to begin serving two and a half years, the sentence set when his parole was revoked.

In two jury trials on the charge that Gonzales possessed marijuana in his San Rafael apartment July 13, the juries reported themselves deadlocked at 8-4 for conviction.

Attorney's Case To Upper Court

The case of Thomas E. Fontecchio, the Internal Revenue Service attorney accued of obstructing and striking a police officer and trying to kick another, went to Marin Superior Court yesterday.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson issued an alternative writ, ordering Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. to acquit the San Rafael attorney on the charges or to appear for a hearing on the issue April 15 in Superior Court.

The writ was issued on the petition of William O. Weissich, attorney for Fontecchio, who claims his client was not given a speedy trial on the battery and attempted battery charge.

A Municipal Court jury deadlocked Feb. 19 on a charge that Fontecchio obstructed a police officer in the line of duty. Weissich claims his client be acquitted on that charge for lack of sufficient evidence.

Stolen Property Charges Dropped

Charges against two San Francisco men of receiving property stolen from a Sausalito home were dropped yesterday after the San Francisco district attorney's office refused to prosecute.

Woodrow F. Bowers, 20, and Joseph Baker, 21, were arrested Monday after detectives found an estimated $900 in clothing in their hotel room.

The clothing identified by Sausalito police as part of $4,000 in property stolen March 24 from 515 Sausalito Boulevard, residence of George Dornin, Steven Schaub and Stanley Evans.

Sausalito police may bring other charges against the two men pending further investigation, Sgt. James Nunes said today.

Marin Woman Pulled Off Span

A San Rafael woman was pulled back from the east railing of the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday by two motorists who saw her stop her car on the bridge at 6:45 p.m., the California Highway Patrol reported.

Mrs. Rita Ann Ganske, 34, of 177 D Street, a kitchen worker at a San Francisco hotel, was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for observation.

An hour earlier, Seaman Bryan T. Baldwin, 20, of Tacoma, Wash., was turned over to Armed Forces police after he told bridge officers he had climbed the bridge railing at mid-span.

Tiburon Firemen Talk Of Boys' Recreation

The Tiburon Volunteer Firemens Association last night discussed organizing some recreational activities for boys 13 to 16 years old, for whom there is no planned local activity, according to member Ray Coombs.

Newly hired fireman Robert B. Hamilton was granted membership in the association, Coombs said.

OFFICE

In fiscal 1958, these totaled $74,199.29; in fiscal 1959, they came to $100,511.94, and in fiscal 1960, they reached $176,049.22.

There began to be rumblings. Others besides Supervisor William D. Fusselman began to find fault with the administrator.

In 1960, two of the supervisors who had voted to create the office of administrator were defeated for re-election. Vera L. Schultz, the board's original promoter for county administrator government, lost to J. Walter Blair. James A. Marshall was defeated by George H. Ludy. both the newly elected officials were critical of county costs — and particularly of the administrator's costs.

Jensen was able to read the handwriting on the wall. He quit to become executive director of the California Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board.

On Nov. 15, 1960, his assistant, Bruce, was given the administrator job at $1,125 per month. The new board members had not yet taken office, but Supervisor Fusselman — scenting victory in his long fight against the administrator's office — told Bruce the job "might be short-lived."

Bruce replied that he'd quit any time he wasn't wanted by a majority of the board.

After Blair and Ludy joined the board at the start of 1961, things moved rapidly. Within two weeks, the board by (3-2 vote) stopped work on the new Civic Center, foundations for which were being poured in Santa Venetia. Fusselman, now chairman of the board, suggested it could be converted to a county hospital.

Public outcry greeted that — so great that the stop-work order was soon rescinded.

But on May 22, the three-man board majority moved against the administrator, ordering the county counsel to draw up an ordinance abolishing the office. Two days later the ordinance was passed, 3-2.

There were now obviously three members of the board who did not want the county administrator. But Bruce did not quit, as he had said he would the preceding Nov. 1. He decided to stay and fight.

While an initiative to put the repealer ordinance on the ballot gathered signatures, the ordinance was held up. But the board proceeded to make things tough for Bruce.

He was given no assistant. He was moved into a 13-by-13-foot office in the courthouse, with scarcely room for his files.

But help was on the way. Citizens who had gathered at College of Marin in a mass protest against the Civic Center stop-work kept their organization together to try to recall the board majority. They decided to zero in on Blair as the most likely target.

On Dec. 5, Blair was recalled from office and Peter H. Behr elected to replace him. Meantime, the ordinance abolishing the administrator's office had been kept inoperative, in abeyance.

The board balance was now changed. On Jan. 8, 1962, with Ludy absent, the board of supervisors by 3-1 vote repealed the repealer. Fusselman voted no.

(Tomorrow: The years of greatest growth.)

Red Shell Kills Former Marinite

A former Marin man, who left the county's Marine Reserve in February to volunteer for active duty in Vietnam, was killed at Khe Sanh 13 days after his arrival, it was announced today.

Marine Sgt. Arnold J. Ferrari, 26, died when his unit came under heavy mortar fire Sunday, said Lt. Col. James T. Bowen, of Company M, 3rd Battalion, 23rd Marine Reserve in San Rafael.

Sgt. Ferreri left Marin in 1965 to live in Napa but continued his membership of the Marine reserve unit which he joined about five years ago.

Call To Alioto For New Transit Links Into Marin

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Mayor Joseph Alioto should seek new transit links between Marin and San Francisco "instead of antagonizing commuters," Donald J. O'Leary of Tiburon yesterday told the Economic Round Table of San Francisco.

O'Leary, a candidate for Marin County supervisor in the Third District, warned that completion of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District system in 1971 may mean Marin and San Francisco will "suffer an economic drain of high-income property owners and major businesses to the East Bay. San Francisco should take heed."

O'Leary recommended improved bus service, water transportation and "immediate planning for the eventual rapid transit and auto tubes to anticipate Marin's growth in the 70s."

Gun Mistake Wounds Teener

A 16-year-old San Rafael boy has been treated for pellet wounds in his face and shoulder after an Oak Manor friend fired a gun he thought was loaded with a blank round.

Sheriff's deputies reported today that Terry Wayne Johnson of 71 Bayo Vista Drive suffered three wounds in the face and three in the shoulder Saturday when shot by Anthony Lee Santos in his backyard at 45 Gregory Drive, Oak Manor.

Santos said he aimed at a bush. He claimed that Richard Giakovmis of 10 Gary Way, Oak Manor, gave him the .22 bird shot round, telling him it was a blank.

Laos Buildup

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Communist forces have chopped a new supply road through the jungles and are building a second for a possible attack on the Mekong River city of Paksane that could come in the next two weeks, Laotian Gen. Kouprasith Abhay said today.

WILLIAM COX

William Vincent Cox, a San Francisco sheet metal worker, died at his home at 75 The Alameda, San Anselmo, yesterday after a short illness. He was 52.

A native of San Francisco, Cox moved to Marin County six years ago. He was a member of the Sheet Metal Workers Union Local 104 of San Francisco.

He is survived by his wife, Carol Cox; three sons, James, Dennis and Patrick Cox; a daughter, Carolyn Cox; five sisters, Mrs. Catherine Hasund of Alameda, Mrs. Margaret Canepa, Mrs. Bernadette Sousa, and Mrs. Dolores Nilsen, all of San Anselmo, and Miriam Cox of San Francisco, and three brothers, Joseph Cox of Woodacre, and John and Frank Cox of San Francisco.

A Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the Star of the Sea Church, San Francisco. Interment will be at the Holy Cross Cemetery. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Evergreen Mortuary, Geary Boulevard at Tenth Avenue, San Francisco.

MAJ. LOUIS S. GALLAGHER

Maj. Louis S. Gallagher, 47, commander of Detachment 1903, office of Special Investigations at Hamilton Air Force Base, died today of an apparent heart attack, base officials said.

He was stricken at his home at 208 West Kelly Drive on the base, and pronounced dead at the base hospital.

He came to Hamilton in June 1966, after a tour of duty at Goose Bay, Laborador. A native of Robbinsdale, Minn., he was in the service for 26 years.

He is survived by his wife, Helen; a daughter, Kathleen, and three sons, Timothy and Gregory, all of the home, and Sgt. Alon Gallagher, serving with the Air Force at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

The body will be sent to Robbinsdale, Minn., for services and burial.

JOSEPHINE RANDALL

PALO ALTO (AP)—Josephine Dows Randall, nationally known recreation planner, died early yesterday at the age of 82.

Miss Randall, who made her home at Atherton, had been admitted to Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital for surgery in connection with an arthritic condition.

A member of a pioneer California family, she had served for 25 years as superintendent of the San Francisco Recreation Park Department until her retirement in 1951.

She founded the juvenile museum in San Francisco which bears her name and in 1948 became the first woman to be elected a Fellow of the American Recreation Society.

A native of Sebastopol, Miss Randall grew up in Santa Rosa and as a young woman worked with famous botanist Luther Burbank who lived across the street from her grandfather's home.

Funeral will be held tomorrow in Menlo Park with burial in Palo Alto.

ISABELLE RODACK

Requiem Mass for Mrs. Isabelle (Belle) Rodack of Sausalito will be offered at 9 a.m. Saturday at the Star of the Sea Church, Sausalito. Interment will be private.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Frank J. Keaton Mortuary, Sausalito.

Mrs. Rodack died Tuesday at her home at 23 Glen Drive, Sausalito, after a short illness. She was 79.

A native of Sausalito, Mrs. Rodack lived in that city her entire life. She was a member of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mill Valley Post No. 284, and of the Star of the Sea Church.

She is survived by her husband, Theodore Rodack; a daughter, Mrs. Camille Collings of Sausalito; two sons, John Lunt of San Francisco and Frederick Rodack of Mill Valley; four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Finch Parole Chance Out To At Least 1970

TEHACHAPI (AP) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch, serving a life sentence for the 1959 murder of his estranged wife, must wait until April 1970 for a chance at parole.

Finch, who was sentenced seven years ago with Carole Tregoff, his paramour, was denied parole yesterday by the California Adult Authority.

The denial was expected since the average time served on a life sentence in California is 12 years.

Finch was convicted of first-degree murder and Miss Tregoff of second-degree murder and conspiracy to murder after three trials.

Finch, now nearly 50, is housed in a minimum security section of the Correctional Institute at Tehachapi. He administers tests to fellow inmates in the facility's education department.

Miss Tregoff, a lab technician at the California Institute for Women in Frontera, was denied parole at her hearing last month.

The board does not disclose reasons for denial. But it said further parole consideration for Finch would be postponed until April 1970.

Peninsula Power Line Sabotaged

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Five San Francisco Peninsula cities were blacked out early today when a 90-foot Pacific Gas and Electric Co. tower was smashed to the ground by a tractor stolen from a nearby water department storage area, sheriff's deputies said.

The incident—called "apparent sabotage" by deputies — followed a series of recent explosions that wrecked several PG&E and Pacific Telephone Co. installations in the San Francisco East Bay area.

PG&E officials said they would ask the FBI to join the investigation in view of the apparent continuation of a "deliberate series of attacks upon public utility facilities."

The latest incident occurred in timbered, sloping watershed terrain 150 feet above the nearest road in an outlying area that feeds reservoirs of the Redwood City Water Dept.

The tower crashed onto the tractor, but the driver apparently escaped serious injury. Sheriff's deputies searched a wide area. Deputies speculated that escape might have been by car on the road 150 feet below.

Full service was restored at 2:18 a.m. by making the last of a series of switches that brought in electricity from alternate lines.

Girls Scare Off Young Burglars

Two teen-age Novato girls returning home after school shortly before 4 p.m. Tuesday, frightened off four boys who were ransacking the house of one of the girls, Novato police reported.

Liz S. Shurtleff, 15, of 764 Kendon Lane, and her friend, Pamela Donna Lione, 14, were entering the Shurtleff house when four boys, described as about 14 to 15 years of age, fled from it.

The boys had ransacked two bedrooms and when they fled, dropped $20 in cash and 10 packages of cigarettes, police reported. Police will not know if anything else was taken until the family inventories its belongings. Entry was made by prying open the door between the house and garage, according to police.

Wounded Vietnam Veteran At Home

Seaman 3/c C. J. Peetz Jr., 22, of 50 Lakeside Drive, Corte Madera, wounded in Vietnam Feb. 28, arrived home yesterday on 30-day leave.

Peetz, assigned to a landing craft with Assault Craft Division 11, suffered shrapnel wounds of the left shoulder, neck, face and leg while carrying Army troops to Dong Ha, which is just below the demilitarized zone.

He was flown to Balboa Hospital in San Diego for treatment and will return there after his leave for further assignment.

Peetz, a member of the Naval Reserve, has been on active duty since May 1, 1967.

Novato GOP Women Seek Girls' Clothes

Clothing is needed for children from one year to 18 years of age. Mrs. Genevieve Grundstrom of 100 Old Ranch Road, Novato, is chairman of the project to collect and ship the clothing.

Innocent Plea To Check Fraud

Carl Phillip Umland, 21, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday to felony charges of possessing a fraudulent check and passing a check without sufficient funds.

He allegedly possessed the bad check Feb. 14 in Fairfax. He reportedly passed another bad check at the Crocker Citizens National Bank in San Rafael last Wednesday.

Preliminary hearing on the charges was scheduled for Monday.

Directors of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council will meet for dinner at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Lin-Fa Gardens in Terra Linda. There is no business agenda.

Congress Fears Red Ink In Postal, Tax Offices

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Appropriations Committee said today that despite best economy efforts, running the Post Office and Treasury departments will cost an extra $610 million next year.

It broke the bad news to the House in approving an $8.1 billion money bill to run the two agencies and related minor offices in the 12 months starting July 1. That was $181 million less than President Johnson asked.

The committee, more determined this year than ever before to trim government spending, said it had cut wherever it could. But the fact is 20.000 more clerks will have to be hired to handle the swelling mail load, it said. And the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) will need 1,600 more people to handle the extra flood of tax returns resulting from population growth and higher incomes.

It was Congress's second lesson today in how hard it is to save money. The first came with a House-Senate Conference Committee's decision to eliminate summer job and Head Start funds for the ghettos.

Rep. Roman Pucinski, D-Ill., and some other big city members called on the House to reverse that economy as likely to cost more than it would save.

Sleeping Bag Taken

Smoking, Smog Perils Recited

George Williams, executive director of the Tuberculosis and Health Association of California, believes that cigarette smoking and air pollution pose as great a threat to health as tuberculosis did at the beginning of this century.

Speaking at the annual dinner of the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Association Tuesday, Williams said contamination of the environment was the nation's major health problem. He said the tuberculosis association should help fight it.

$289 Fine Is Given On Drunken Driving

Stuart Valentine, 51, of 58 Montego Key, Bel Marin Keys, was fined $289 and placed on six months of probation in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday for driving while drunk Dec. 22 on Highway 101.

George Augustus of Santa Rosa was fined $150 and placed on probation for six months for the same offense Oct. 26 on Highway 101.

Engine Parts Stolen

Engine parts, worth $270, were taken from a boat motor in a warehouse at 26 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, police said yesterday. The property was owned by Robert J. Goldthwaite of 131 Surrey Lane, San Rafael.

Hawaii Talk Slated For Audubon Society

L. Martin Griffin, a founder of Audubon Canyon Ranch and former president of the Marin Audubon Society, will talk on "Wild Hawaii" before the Marin Audubon Society at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the supervisors' chamber, Marin County Civic Center.

Griffin last fall explored the tropical rain forest of Maui Island on an expedition sponsored by Nature Conservancy. He will show slides taken on the expedition.

Federal Subsidy Urged To Save Crack Trains

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A state senator is urging federal subsidies to save the California Zephyr and the City of San Francisco — passenger trains their railroads want to abolish.

"American railroads supinely throw up their hands and annouce defeat" by airlines and bus companies, Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, said yesterday at the first day of a two-day Interstate Commerce Commission hearing.

"Perhaps the time has come for the federal government to step in and save the passenger train in the United States if the railroads cannot or will not," he said.

If Western Pacific wins permission to drop the Zephyr and Southern Pacific its City of San Francisco, Santa Fe's Chief will be the last transcontinental line serving the north state.

Conservationists Lose In Court To Salt Company

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—U.S. District Judge William T. Sweigert has dismissed a suit which had sought to block an exchange of San Francisco Bay land between the state and Leslie Salt Co.

He ruled that the Alameda Conservation Association and eight of its members had no basis for bringing the action since members were not directly adversely affected by the swap.

The state was given 1,601 acres of submerged land in exchange for 420 acres of filled land in San Mateo, Santa Clara and Alameda counties.

The legislature had authorized the transfer in a 1959 law and the State Lands Commission worked out the detail and issued an order for the exchange last Jan. 26.

The conservation group had contended that some of the land Leslie Salt is acquiring would be navigable waters if the firm had not illegally filled it.

Hanoi Feeler Fails To Halt Campaign Debate

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The first faint stirrings toward possible peace negotiations in Vietnam are not likely to take the war issue out of the frenetic presidential campaign picture.

Though President Johnson had accepted Hanoi's offer of exploratory discussions only hours earlier, Democratic peace candidate Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy late yesterday was back on the war theme.

Campaigning for Connecticut's April 9 primary, the Minnesota Senator told Hartford voters Vietnam was "a war which no one ever really decided upon. It just simply happened."

McCarthy did not mention the late developments toward U.S. contact with Hanoi in his Hartford speech, but earlier he told an airport news conference they were "the most encouraging sign we have had that something toward a first step might be in the offing."

New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, McCarthy's only announced rival for the Democratic nomination and himself a critic of U.S. war policy, received the news with mixed hope and caution.

"We have a long way to go with many pitfalls and difficulties," he said, "but it is a step."

Former Vice President Richard Nixon issued no immediate comment. Nixon has stood for U.S. military firmness against the Communists.

But Gov. Ronald Reagan, candidate for California favorite son at the GOP national convention, said "Communists use negotiations as a weapon. If they really are willing and ready now to bring this tragic war to an end, a total ceasefire should be the first condition."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey meantime stayed on the fence as a growing body of supporters urged him to step into the Democratic race as the administration candidate. (See story on page 1.)

Later AFL-CIO President George Meany took an unprecedented step and without ratification by the membership announced his unions' endorsement of Humphrey. The Vice President was also encouraged to run by Texas Gov. John Connally, who may be the favorite son candidate of state Democrats. New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was urged to reconsider his decision not to run by Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky.

Prison Filth Rumors Found False

A charge in San Quentin Prison's underground newspaper, "The Outlaw," that the entire sub-basement of the south cellblock is covered with human excrement from a burst sewer pipe is a fiction.

The Outlaw's colorful report, which was noted in a San Francisco newspaper column yesterday, is apparently almost a total invention.

A reporter's inspection of the sub-basement of the south cellblock disclosed old steam and sewer pipes which occasionally need repairs. This was all.

The latest issue of The Outlaw, a one-page underground news sheet which makes occasional appearances in the big yard at San Quentin, declared, "It was called to our attention by a convict who is an eye witness with some good sense . . . that the entire sub-basement level of the south cellblock is completely flooded with human waste.

"It is a bloody fact that it is from one to 18 inches deep."

An anonymous phone caller, who identified himself as a correctional officer at the prison, told the Independent-Journal that there was four and a half feet of human excrement in the sub-basement.

Respiratory Illness Strikes Judy Canova

ALTADENA (UPI) — Comedienne Judy Canova, 51, is reported in satisfactory condition and improving at a hospital where she is being treated for a respiratory ailment complicated by a severe allergic reaction.

Miss Canova was admitted to La Vina Sanatorium and Hospital here last Sunday. A family spokesman said doctors were trying to learn what caused the allergic reaction.

TWA introduces "Foreign Accent" flights inside USA.

Announcing the end of routine air travel!

Now you can fly non-stop from San Francisco to New York or Chicago on one of our new "Foreign Accent" flights. But you won't know which till one of these gorgeous creatures welcomes you aboard. Now that kind of makes routine air travel not-so-routine, doesn't it?

The flights come in four styles with hostesses to match: Italian (see toga), French (see gold mini), Olde English (see wench). And the Manhattan Penthouse (see hostess pajamas). Hostesses should look like hostesses, right?

You'll find a whole new atmosphere throughout the plane, first-class and coach. Foreign music. Foreign magazines and newspapers. Foreign touches all around. And the best in foreign cuisine. (Yes, you may still enjoy a steak broiled to order. That's a TWA specialty.) All in all, TWA's new "Foreign Accent" flights bring you the best the world has to offer. And if you're as bored with routine flying as we think you are, you're ready for it.

Call us at 388-3723 or Mr. Information (your travel agent). He knows all about it.

Washbourne Was 84

A death notice in the Independent-Journal last week incorrectly reported the age and birthplace of Walter H. Washbourne, long-time Sausalito resident and former Sausalito city gardener, who died on March 26. Washbourne was a native of England who came to the United States as an adult. He was 84 at the time of his death.

Your living room furniture lasts longer, stays fresher, thanks to the Shaker Quarry fabric made with VECTRA® olefin fiber

ENJAY Vectra OLEFIN FIBER

What is VECTRA®?

It's the fiber that made indoor-outdoor carpeting possible. It is amazingly durable, and comes in permanently brilliant and beautiful colors and in a sumptuous texture.

What does VECTRA® do?

1. It gives you a truly permanent stain-resistant upholstery fabric, because the stain resistance is part of the fiber itself. No finish is applied. There is nothing that can rub off.
2. It lets you wash off spills with any household detergent, leaving the fabric as clean and fresh as ever.
3. It gives you the world's most colorfast upholstery fabric, because the color is part of the fiber itself, not just applied to it.
4. It is impervious to moisture or sunshine. It cannot rot or mildew. It cannot fade. Even fog and smog do not affect it!
5. Vectra® is non-allergenic, virtually static-free, and moths just hate it.

Who needs VECTRA®?

1. Young families with active children and pets.
2. Busy career people who entertain informally.
3. People furnishing a winter or summer home.
4. Owners of furnished apartments or studios.
5. Professional people furnishing an office.

Tax Relief Hopes Still Lack Votes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The year's first major tax hearing left legislators today with the rugged task of trying to patch together a way of providing Californians with property tax relief promised them for this year.

Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax relief proposal and other important tax reduction bills were taken "under submission" late last night — the usual legislative term for postponing action on a bill unable to win enough votes for passage.

There was no indication when the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee will try to bring to a vote any of the proposals to make a start on easing the burden of businessmen and homeowners.

At issue is the $155 million set aside by the legislature last year for property tax cuts this year. However, that session left it up to this election-year meeting to figure out how to carry out the intended reduction

Yesterday, in a hearing of more than five hours, county supervisors promised the lawmakers that they will not divert property tax relief funds to increased spending, as some legislators fear.

Democratic Assemblyman John P. Quimby of Rialto produced a letter from Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post saying that the legislature could order the property tax cut money put into a special fund earmarked for that purpose in the 58 counties. However, he added, there is no way to require "that these new funds be used for property tax relief."

Republican Assemblyman John G. Veneman of Modesto pointed out to the committee he chairs that his bill would actually amount to $208 million in tax relief because it would eliminate the tax on household furnishings, such as television sets.

Another of the bills taken under study was a major Democratic effort to have the state take over full control of welfare in California. Estimates of the cost to the state ranged from $250 million to $350 million.

However, the bill's sponsor, Democratic Assemblyman Leon Ralph of Los Angeles, noted that the counties now only pay for 16 per cent of the total welfare bill.

The committee did approve a Veneman bill for phasing out the business inventory tax, but its fate is as uncertain as that of all the other tax reduction measures.

Bagley Lauds, Schmitz Hits Reagan's Stand On Housing

SACRAMENTO (AP) — One Republican legislator praises Gov. Ronald Reagan's pledge to block repeal of California's open housing law while another labels the governor's move as "twisted politics."

"I am truly proud that the governor, knowing he is correct, would risk the wrath of some of his supporters in the cause of cause of racial justice," declared Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael yesterday.

"Governor Reagan's statement that he would veto an outright repeal of open housing legislation," Bagley said, "is an act of true statesmanship in the field of racial relations and human justice."

A bill to repeal the Rumford open housing law was before the Senate Governmental Efficiency Committee yesterday, but a hearing on it was postponed until April 24.

Meanwhile, that measure's author, Republican Sen. John Schmitz of Tustin, said Reagan broke promises to those who elected him, adding that "a governor who breaks his word cannot stand against an aroused people."

Schmitz said Reagan "came before the people of California as a conservative. In 15 months he has given us a billion dollars in new taxes and proposed almost a billion dollars in new spending.

"Now he says he would veto repeal of the Rumford Act. If he believes in big spending, high taxes and forced housing, then he is in the wrong party," Schmit said.

"Maybe he ought to go back to the party he started out with," he added, referring to Reagan's switch to the GOP in the early 1960s after being a lifelong Democrat.

Volunteers Sought For Traffic Count

San Anselmo City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell has asked for volunteers today through Saturday for traffic counting in the city's traffic survey.

He said shifts are two hours long, and results will go into the traffic study authorized by the city council Sept. 26 for San Anselmo's major streets.

Reed School District Board has James B. Atkin as its chairman.

READY FOR A RIDE — Assemblyman Carl Britschgi, helped by Assemblyman Don Mulford, tests a motorcycle helmet. The Assembly Ways and Means Committee held hearings yesterday on a bill requiring wearing of the head protectors, opposed by the Hells Angels.

Regents Open Meeting Bill Progresses

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A constitutional amendment to require the University of California Board of Regents to hold most of its meetings in public has been approved by a key Assembly committee.

The Constitutional Amendments Committee yesterday approved the measure which would "help eliminate the aura of suspicion" around some regents meetings, according to its author, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Bagley said the regents have guidelines on when they can close their meetings to the public and press, but they "have ignored these bylaws in the past . . . from time to time" by a unanimous vote of regents present.

The measure, if approved by the legislature and then by a vote of the public, would bring the regents under current state law forbidding public bodies from holding private meetings unless considering hiring and firing employees.

Additionally, the regents would be allowed closed-door sessions when discussing matters of national defense, such as federal research projects; awarding honorary degrees and accepting anonymous gifts.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

11:05 a.m., Fort Baker — Small fire started while gas range was being disconnected in unoccupied quarters; scorched wall.

11:40 p.m., Sausalito — Front seat of car owned by Marti Sousanis of 12 Excelsior Lane ignited, apparently by cigarette, while parked in fron of Casa Madrona Hotel, 156 Bulkley Avenue; damage confined to car seat.

3:57 p.m., San Rafael — False alarm at Coleman School, 1700 Grant Avenue.

HELLS ANGELS HAPPY

Lawmakers Find Faults With Crash Helmet Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assemblyman Carl Britschgi pulled the wrap-around motorcycle crash helmet over his head and peered out its window at the rest of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

"That's gonna kill it right there, them guys puttin' on those helmets," said Paul Hibbits of Oakland, a member of the Hells Angels motorcycle club.

His fellow "Angel," Sonny Barger, had finished testifying against a proposed law which would require all cyclists and passengers to wear crash helmets and face protection. Barger said helmets cut down on side vision and hearing.

"He's right," shouted Assemblyman John Burton, D-San Francisco, from beneath a helmet he tried on. "You can't hear a thing."

How do the Hells Angeles feel about another part of the bill which would set up special licensing and testing of cyclists?

"We go along with that 100 per cent," Hibbits replied. "The way it is now is like giving a kid a gun when he doesn't know anything about it and telling him to go out and play."

The committee postponed action until April 17 on the bill, similar to one which passed the Assembly last year but which died in the Senate.

Thoresens Seek To Block Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Multimillionaire William Thoresen 111 and his wife have pleaded innocent to new indictments for illegal possession of weapons, but legal maneuvers are in motion to block their trial, set for June 10.

Thorsesen, 31, and his wife, Louise, entered their plea in U. S. District Court here yesterday after flying in from New York where they had pre-trial conferences in that state's supreme Court. Mrs. Thoresen is charged with violating New York's Sullivan gun act.

Federal Judge Stanley A. Weigel set May 7 for arguments on 14 defense motions aimed at preventing their trial. On charges which stemmed from discovery of some 70 tons of munitions, ranging from grenades to an antitank gun.

To Juvenile Court

Lawrence Herbert Gould, 18, of Novato, was certified to Juvenile Court from Marin Municipal Court yesterday to face a charge that he possessed marijuana in a car in Novato March 15.

Tapes Stolen

Sidney Albert Neuman of 30 Gustafson Court, Novato, reported to police that 12 stereo tapes were taken from his car while it was parked at his home between midnight and 6:45 a.m. yesterday.

Larkspur police chief is Howard Clark.

Court Continues Explosives Case

Preliminary hearing for George K. Giakovmis, 24, arrested March 27 on a charge of illegal possession of TNT, has been continued to 2 p.m. April 11 in Hayward Municipal Court.

Giakovmis was arrested at his mother's Oak Manor home by Marin sheriff's deputies after a series of explosions and fires destroyed his room in a Hayward boarding house March 26.

Santa Cruz Asks Holiday Restraint

Over 450 youths were arrested during Easter vacation last year for violation of curfew and liquor laws and for sleeping on the beaches, according to Chief Probation Officer James Solomon in Santa Cruz.

Solomon said that the teenagers get into grouble each year "mostly because they are here without adult supervision."

$649,555 Is Proposed For Transit Budget

A $649,555 budget for fiscal 1968-69 was proposed last night by Marin Transit District Mgr. Seymour Kashin.

The district's budget for the current fiscal year is $410,941, but the totals for both years include large reserves being accumulated for the day when the district actually goes into the transportation business.

The reserve proposed for the next fiscal year is $292,392. This sum, plus $275,000 budgeted for consultants' services, would leave the district with $82,163 — enough to hire three more staff members proposed by Kashin. He and his secretary now are the only staff, and Kashin last night asked for a projects engineer at $13,500 to $15,000 a year, a transportation analyst at $9,500 to $11,000, and a stenographer.

The $275,000 he proposed for consultants' services, Kashin told directors at Cviic Center, probably would not be needed, "but would be a measure of our good faith to move ahead."

Kashin's budget was based on the district's maximum allowed rate of five cents per $100 assessed valuation, which would raise $267,886 from property taxes.

All but one of the seven members of the board agreed to defer action on the proposed budget, and a special board meeting was set to consider it at 4:30 p.m. on April 16 in the supervisors' chambers.

Director Dean N. Meyer, a Mill Valley councilman, wanted to vote on the budget last night.

The proposed budget, Kashin explained, would finance "a detailed work program," including precise plans on how bus, ferry and rail transit systems could be set up.

Unless the district promptly arrives at a transit plan that can be implemented, he warned, "the county risks the loss of initiative in this area and the imposition of solutions from outside."

A workable plan for a bus system, which would be essential for both ferry and rail systems, can be completed in nine months, Kashin estimated. The bus study would include study of reserved rights-of-way and culminate in a balance sheet showing the actual cost of setting up and operating a bus system, he said.

Although the board was unwilling to act without further study of Kashin's proposal, it voted unanimously to ask Sonoma County to share the cost of the work program, which would include study of service to Santa Rosa. Kashin termed the request "premature," arguing "we need to develop more details first."

Marin Transit District directors also:

FERRIES — Voted unanimously to contribute up to $15,000 to a $45,000 study of a ferry system proposed by San Francisco, the study to be done only if the federal government agrees to reimburse its full cost.

STUDY — Authorized Kashin to testify before the Joint Legislative Committee on Bay Area Regional Organization April 11 in San Francisco. Director John F. McInnis objected Kashin's appearance "would be a waste of time," but Behr argued "we'd look foolish not to show up."

Scavenger Firms Seek Rate Hikes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A substantial rate increase is being sought by the city's scavenger companies.

The boost would be 25 cents for apartment houses and from $1.60 to $2 for residences.

The application will be considered at a hearing of the city Department of Public Works.

Mayor Decries County Remarks On Park Plan

Corte Madera Mayor Edward W. Colthurst yesterday termed comments by the Marin County Board of Supervisors on the town's rejection of a 250-acre park as "injudicious."

A letter by Colthurst to the board said, it "would be unfortunate indeed if the spirit of cooperation which has existed between the Corte Madera Town Council and Marin County were to be damaged by the injudicious remarks attributed to members of your board."

Colthurst said although Corte Madera is incorporated, it has consistently recognized the benefits of cooperating with other area governments. He cited cooperative efforts including the Corte Madera Creek flood control project, city-county planning council, lower Ross Valley library study, and the urban thoroughfare system.

The town extended full courtesy to County Park and Recreation Director Pierre W. Joske in his park and recreation center proposal, wrote Colthurst, and the council is not responsible for "his failure to convince the people we represent of the wisdom of his ideas."

Joske has proposed a park for 20 acres of East Corte Madera marshlands. The Town Council rejected the plan after presentations were made to several town clubs and homeowner groups.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr was quoted Tuesday as saying he didn't "see why a small town should stand in the way of overriding county countywide interest." Supervisor Thomas T. Storer mentioned the power to condemn the land through the right of eminent domain. Storer said yesterday, however, that the issue wouldu't be "crammed down anybody's throat as long as I'm on the board."

Redwood High Paper Wins National Honor

- The Bark, Redwood High School's student newspaper, has been awarded the rating of "first class honor" by the National Scholastic Press Association for its fall semester publications, school officials said yesterday.

Novato Election Headquarters Set

Election returns in Tuesday's municipal election will be tabulated in the council chambers of the Novato Community House, City Mgr. J. Julian Baget announced today.

The returns should start coming in about 9 p.m., Baget said. Persons wanting the latest figures may telephone city hall. Several operators will be on duty.

Nine candidates are running for three council seats.

Chaker Grand Theft Charge Is Dismissed

A grand theft charge that Dr. Henry Chaker, formerly of Novato, overcharged county welfare patients was dismissed yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court.

On Dec. 21, a jury of 10 women and two men deadlocked 6-6 on the grand theft charge and 7-5 for guilt on a lesser offense of petty theft. A second trial was scheduled to begin Tuesday.

REJECTS OFFER

Before dismission the charge, Judge Wilson noted yesterday that Dr. Chaker had rejected a prosecution offer to dismiss the felony charge if he would plead guilty to misdemeanor petty theft.

Such a guilty plea might start the doctor off on the wrong foot in any proceedings the state Board of Medical Examiners might care to initiate on the charge, Judge Wilson said.

His decision to dismiss the charge was influenced by the knowledge that the incidents charged are still subject to investigation by that board, the judge said.

Other reasons given by Judge Wilson for dismissing the charge were:

The case was well tried during the previous four-week trial. There would be no new evidence offered at a second trial and there is no reason to believe it could be tried better.

CROWDED CALENDAR

The court calendar is crowded, with four judges facing four murder and numerous narcotics trials in the next few months.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest C. Zunio charged at the first trial that Dr. Chaker overcharged between $384 and $776 in welfare patients fees.

George T. Davis, attorney for the doctor, argued Chaker was a victim of persecution by the Marin County establishment.

Dr. Chaker, now living in Shell Beach, San Luis Obispo County, is suing several county physicians for $5 million, claiming they excluded him from their "personal society," blocked his right to practice and taunted him as an Arab.

He was born in Lebanon, but is a naturalized American citizen.

Escaping Gas, Fire Destroys Oakland Houses

OAKLAND (AP) — Escaping gas is blamed for an explosion that blew a house off its foundations, destroyed the next-door house by fire, and shattered windows for a block around yesterday.

No one was seriously injured.

The occupants of the blasted home at 170 John Street, Mrs. Susan Hillery, said she heard a hissing sound and got out in time.

The home at 168 John Street was destroyed after flames from the explosion leaped a narrow walkway. Sitting in a wheelchair in this house was Raymond McCarthy, 34. He was cut by flying glass, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCarthy, were hit by falling plaster.

Lebanon Police Rout Attackers In Village

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Police said today they had arrested several men at the village of Deir El Ahmar following an attack upon the village police station yesterday. Supporters of defeated parliamentary candidates disarmed the two-man police force and threw up barricades around the village, police said, but later were routed by police reinforcements.

In Beirut yesterday, university students clashed again with police. Lebanese University was closed by the government for two weeks Tuesday following a clash which injured four policemen and 14 students.

ALL-AGE PEACE RALLY

Waving a small American flag and wearing a hat for Vets for Peace in Vietnam, an older woman joins a predominantly youthful crowd at an antiwar rally in Philadelphia. Some of the participants yesterday turned in what they said were draft cards to be held by one of the speakers.

SAUSALITO SEEDY?

Council Candidates Debate Civil Image

Sausalito's image has become a bit tarnished, most of the candidates for the city council agreed last night.

"We ought to let people sit downtown as long as they don't break any laws," Hoffman told the audience of 150 at the candidates' night sponsored by the Sausalito Woman's Club. "What are parks for but to loiter in?" he asked.

'THREE TS'

Incumbent councilman Alexander R. Imlay, an attorney, said the town's big problems are "the three Ts — tourists, trash and tramps."

Both two-legged and four-legged tramps need to be controlled, Imlay said, and he promised to establish a municipal dog control agency if the city's ever growing canine population can't be managed by the county humane society.

Imlay told the audience that Sausalito has been a leader in attacking the drug problem, which, he said, is not just Sausalito's problem.

He also urged additional police foot patrols on a limited basis in the downtown area and the issuance of citations to violators of local ordinances.

PARK CLOSING

Mrs. Robin Sweeny, housewife, said gates should be installed in Vina del Mar park so it can be closed at the discretion of the city gardener to prevent the park from being worn out.

She also supported increased foot patrols and ordinances against hitchhiking, sleeping on public property downtown and stricter dog leash laws.

Mrs. Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford), local restaurant owner, said the city's image could be upgraded by improving the quality of business. "You don't see hippies in the better restaurants in town — that's because they aren't comfortable there."

"We need better talent and taste on the city council if we are to prevent Bridgeway from being renamed Barleycorn Boulevard," artist Serge Trubach said. "People come here to let their hair down — there's already too much hair down in this town."

Trubach said the city should construct a large parking structure on the east side of Bridgeway at the north end of town. The structure could also serve as a community and teenage recreation center, he said.

Imlay suggested the city develop new ways to bring the tourists into the city. "We may not be able to keep them out but we can control the means by which they get here."

TRANSIT IDEAS

He named buses and various kinds of water transportation as an alternative to the automobile.

Both Mrs. Sweeny and Hoffman joined Imlay in supporting development of parking lots at the north end of Sausalito with an elephant train to bring tourists into the downtown area.

The city's need for schools was touched upon by the candidates.

Hoffman said schools are vital to the growth of the community and added, "I'd be really ashamed of this town if we turned down school bond issues and tax measures and then voted money for a civic center."

Imlay and Mrs. Sweeny both supported schools over a civic center but noted that schools were not under the jurisdiction of the city council.

'HEART OF TOWN'

"Schools are the heart of the town," Imlay said. "When people move into town they buy the school district along with their home."

Trubach called upon the city to be more concerned with the problems of Marin City. "We ought to prevail upon the county to do more for Marin City and Sausalito should develop programs for the youngsters of both communities," he said.

Imlay also supported "better communication" between the two areas and noted that Sausalito is an "equal opportunity city which offers jobs to anyone who has the ability to fill them."

No questions were asked nor did any of the candidates touch upon the council's action Tuesday night in placing a Vietnam resolution on the June 4 ballot.

The five candidates are running for three vacancies on the council. Of the three councilmen whose terms expired, only Imlay is seeking re-election. Mayor Mel Wax and Councilman Eleanor O'Hara Chapin are retiring. The election will be Tuesday.

Meeting Delayed

Last night's scheduled meeting of the Marin City Homeowners and Improvement Association Board was postponed for lack of a quorum. The board will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Boy's Club of Southern Marin.

Buses Still Run For Commuters

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Greyhound Bus Lines still was in operation today as its negotiations continued here with the Amalgamated Transit Union.

A company spokesman confirmed today that the more than 4,000 Marin commuters who use its buses will get at least 24 hours notice of a strike.

The company and the union have continued negotiations despite the expiration of their contract on March 1. Federal mediators said the talks, centered on wages and fringe benefits, were "meaningful," but there were no reports of substantial progress.

The union represents 5,000 Greyhound workers in 11 Western states.

Wants Name Changed To City Of Nairobi

PALO ALTO (UPI) — The municipal council of East Palo Alto announced yesterday a public hearing will be held on a proposal to change the name of the community to Nairobi.

A majority of East Palo Alto's 22,000 residents is Negro. Nairobi is the capital of Kenya, Africa.

Single Transit Authority Urged For Bay Counties

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — "A strong regional transportation agency" should be established in the Bay Area, the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission said yesterday in a policy statement.

The acengy, which might be called the Bay Area Metropolitan Transportation Administration, could take over all bridges, the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, metropolitan highways, airports and seaports, commissioners agreed.

Its first duty, however, would be to set up and coordinate development of an area-wide transportation system.

The governing board of such an agency should be appointed by members of existing governmental agencies, commissioners said. Their policy statement made no provision for direct election of the proposed agency's governing board.

George H. Ludy of Marin, representing the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District on the commission, abstained from the vote without an explanation.

The policy statement was drafted for presentation to the Joint Legislative Committee on Bay Area Regional Organization on April 11 in San Francisco.

The International Monetary Fund is the world's largest source of quickly available international credit. The fund has over $21 billion in gold and national currencies in its coffers.

WHITE HOUSE VISITORS

President Lyndon B. Johnson is visited by his grandson, Lynn Nugent (left) and the family of Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., in his White House office. The Jacksons — Peter, 2 years old yesterday; Anna Marie, 5; Mrs. Jackson (background) and the Senator — were in Johnson's office when news arrived of Hanoi's reply to the United States' peace offer of Sunday. The White House released this picture last night.

Marinites Cautioned About Phone Pitches For Tickets To Circuses

The Better Business Bureau in San Francisco yesterday cautioned Marin residents who are being telephoned to buy tickets to three circuses sponsored by law enforcement agencies.

Proceeds from the circuses will go toward various charities, according to telephone salesmen, "but only a very small portion of the proceeds will actually get to the charity," warned a spokesman for the Better Business Bureau.

The spokesman said that contracts between the circuses and the sponsoring organizations were written so that profits will be divided "after expenses," and that only the circuses owner will say what the expenses are.

"We tell people that if they wish to contribute to charity, they should do it directly," a bureau official said.

Three Marin law inforcement organizations have agreed to sponsor circuses and allow their names to be used in ticket sales.

Marin County Deputy Sheriffs Association is sponsoring the Rudy Brothers Circus May 25 and 26 at Marin Catholic High School. On the same days, the North Bay Chapter of the International Footprint Association, a police booster group, will sponsor the James Brothers Circus behind Northgate Mall.

The Gatti-Chartles Circus is being backed by the Mill Valley Reserve Police Officers Association on June 28 at Tamalpais High School.

Fifty per cent of the profits from the Rudy Brothers Circus will go to the Marin Deputy Sheriffs Association, according to Deputy Robert Richmond, chairman of the group's circus committee. The money will be given to Marin Aid to Mentally Retarded Children, he said.

A scholarship fund of the International Footprint Association will benefit from the James Brothers Circus, according to San Francisco attorney Wilbur Mathewson, counsel for the association. Mathewson, who lives in San Rafael, said he does not know what percentage of the profits his group will receive.

"I think we get 50 per cent of the gate receipts," said Karl Zipf of Mill Valley, secretary-treasurer of the association.

Proceeds from the Gatti-Charles Circus will be used by the Mill Valley Reserve Policemen for youth projects, according to Matron Eileen Bassett of the Mill Valley police. She did not know what percentage of the profits the group would receive and no other spokesman for the association could be reached.

Telephone salesmen say they are calling for the law enforcement organization.

Marin residents have complained to the Better Business Bureau about a "hard sell" by callers. According to the bureau spokesman, most of the complaints have been about the James Brother's Circus.

"We think this is cleared up now," Mathewson said. "We heard complaints about salesman saying the money was being used for crippled children or other charities. We asked the people telephoning not to do this again."

He added that the Footprint Association is sponsoring the circus this year for the first time and will not do so again if they feel it is not satisfactory.

"We have received only a few complaints about telephone sales," said Deputy Sheriff Richmond. He did not think the complaints were legitimate.

The owners of the three circuses could not be reached for comment.

Hashish Smuggle Charge Dropped

Charges against Philip Davenport of Larkspur of smuggling hashish into the United States were dismissed yesterday for lack of sufficient evidence by Judge Stanley A. Weigel in the U. S. District Court in San Francisco.

Similar charges against Davenport's wife, Clara, were dismissed on March 12.

The Davenports were arrested after 123 pounds of hashish were found in a suitcase they claimed at the San Francisco Airport on Jan. 23. The suitcase had been shipped from Pakistan.

Wife Discovers Husbands Body

Leonard W. Hamilton was found at 5 a.m. by his wife, Virginia, lying face downward in the living room. Nearby, Eugene R. Fontaine, assistant county coroner, found a partially consumed glass of whisky and two bottles of barbiturates with a quantity of pills missing.

The death was listed as suicide pending an autopsy, said Fontaine.

Mrs. Hamilton said she went to bed at 10:30 p.m., leaving her husband watching television.

She said her husband worked at the Presidio of San Francisco and the job was creating a strain on him.

The body was taken to Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Firemen's Picnic Set To Improve Rec Area

The Marinwood Volunteer Firemen's Association will use proceeds from a May 19 barbecue to improve the picnic area and install tables at the picnic grounds across the creek from Milller Creek School.

This was announced at the association meeting Tuesday night at the Marinwood firehouse. The barbecue will be held at the picnic grounds. Fire Chief James W. Cameron said residents of Marinwood and surrounding communities are invited.

Marin City Citizenship Need Urged

Redevelopment of Marin City is doomed to failure unless its citizens get a real voice in the important decisions that are made about the community's future.

This was the main point of a talk last night by Marshall Kaplan of Terra Linda, a planner, at a meeting of the Marin Council of Civic Affairs' committee on redevelopment of Marin City.

"You can't invite them in, and then not give them any real voice," he told the committee, which met in St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church in Marin City.

Then, once citizens have helped make decisions about their community, "they have to see some success, or you'll lose their representation," he said. "You've just got to convert aspirations into reality," said Kaplan.

Government will have to provide financing necessary to redevelop communities like Marin City, he said, because there is little chance of attracting private capital.

Engineering & Planning Are Important to Mill Valley

By George E. Wickham

Engineering and planning are both important factors in the City Structure. Each has its own particular place, yet overlap one another in many ways.

I have proposed in the past and again in this campaign, that the City retain the services of a full-time engineer. That the Department of Community Development and Engineering be combined under the direction of this engineer. My reasons are two-fold—

First—Engineering services have been and are continuing to be a major item of expenditure within our budget. During the first eight months of this fiscal year we have spent more than $50,000 on engineering. All we have to do is look at the future to point out the growing need. Sycamore extension, sewer systems, flood control, streets, building inspection and retaining walls. Many problems with respect to accepting or denying new projects within the City pertain to engineering and existing ordinances more so than to planning. A qualified engineer would be versed in planning as well as engineering.

Second—Planning for Mill Valley has been well established by past actions of planning commissions and councils. The key to planning is zoning which is set by council action after public hearings. Even the 701 program followed the existing zoning. Major developments in Mill Valley will be presented to the City for approval, based on plans prepared by professional planners. The approval or disapproval of such plans will depend a lot on the personal feelings of the appropriate commissions. Planning for all City projects is done by outside consultants.

Regardless of the merits of whether or not one function is more important than the other, the fact is that engineering requires considerably more effort within the City Structure than planning. This need can best be fulfilled in line with my proposal and at a lesser overall expenditure.

If annexation of most of southern Marin is the goal, then I admit that I am wrong, we will need a planner.

Rail Station Ticket Clerk Still At Desk

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

It's been almost 10 years now — Nov. 10, 1958, to be precise — since railroad ticket clerk Mary King has written out a ticket for someone to board a train in San Rafael.

There are pads full of tickets lying around but an acute shortage of trains. The last one was the Redwood which left on its final run to Eureka that foggy morning 10 years ago.

NO TRAMPLING

Nowadays, no one gets trampled in the rush to Mrs. King's counter behind the frosted-glass door marked Ticket Office.

"In fact, there are some people in San Rafael who have forgotten we're here any more," she said, seated behind a desk at San Rafael's Northwestern Pacific Railroad depot on Tamalpais Avenue.

Not that Mrs. King is idle for one moment. There are tickets to write for the railroad company's freight business which, she said, is increasing at a rapid rate.

Then there are the passengers who buy tickets made out from other stations; from Oakland and San Francisco. The telephone keeps ringing with timetable queries.

GET BUSY

Things really get busy in the summer but life around the depot, which slumbers in the warm spring sunshine like a deserted hacienda, is not what is used to be.

For as long as she can remember, Mrs. King's life has been centered around the Northwestern Pacific. When she retires next year after 40 years service, she will break a family link with the company which began in 1891.

So she has reason to regret the decline of many of the company's passenger services — prompted by rising costs and dropping demand.

"People now seem always to be in a hurry and railroads were hit badly by the rise in popularity of airlines," she said. "I suppose it's understandable to want to get to Chicago in three hours instead of three days but the going is not so pleasant from the scenic point of view."

NO TRAVELERS

She glanced at a freight shipment paper someone placed on her desk and laid it to one side for the moment.

"You know," she said, "what never ceases to surprise me is that adults often come here and admit they have never once traveled on a train."

Her grandfather, Thomas Bradley, joined the railroad in 1891 and was a car oiler in the yards at Tiburon before he retired in 1919.

She remembered a story that her grandfather told of receiving a check for 19 cents for one day's pay. At that time, the company was called the San Francisco North Railroad.

Mrs. King's father, the late Charles A. Kircher, began with the railroad in 1903 and was an engineer on the ferry between San Francisco and Marin until the building of the Golden Gate Bridge forced his retirement.

She has four brothers who have all, at one time, worked for Northwestern Pacific. John was a clerk; Charlie, a marine fireman; Philip, a painter's helper and Tom, also a clerk.

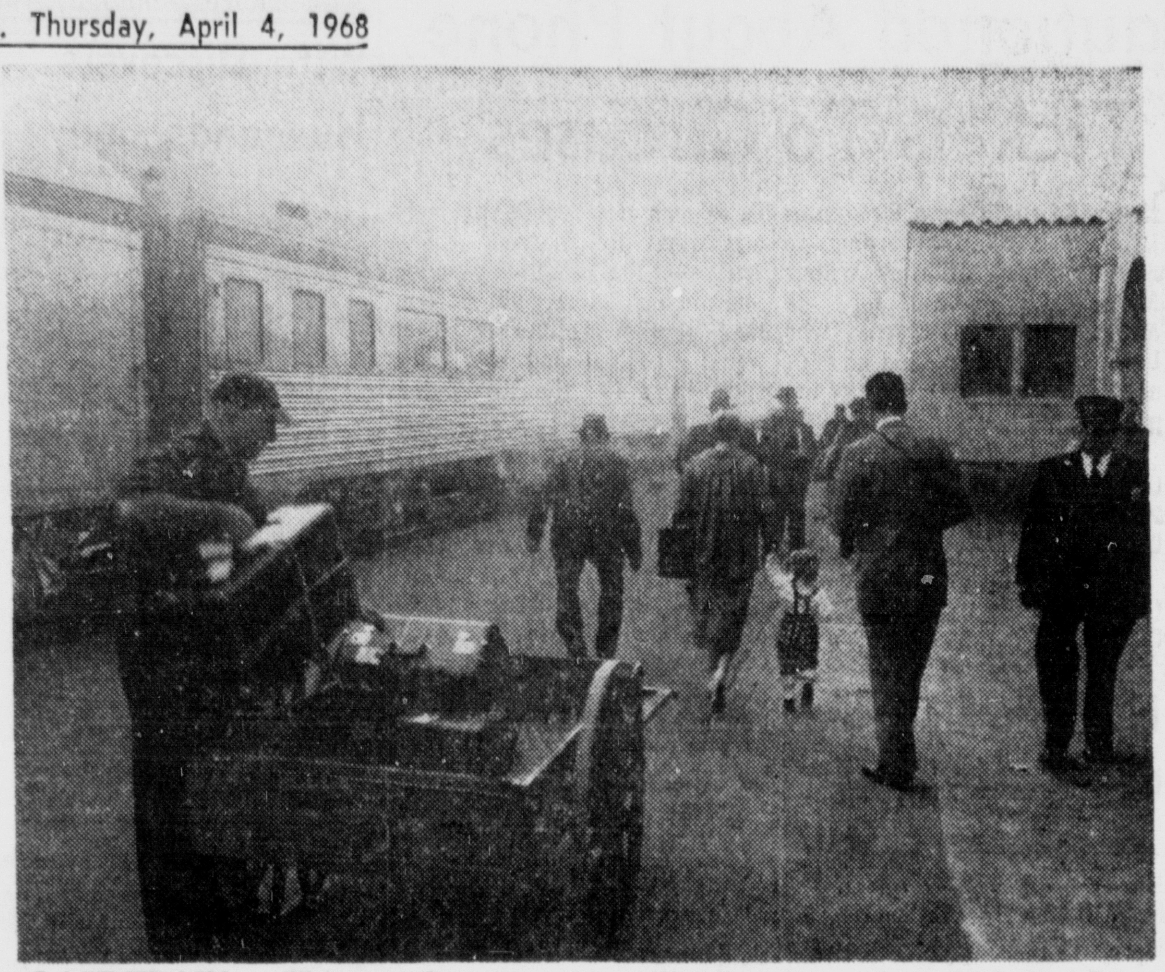
And topping all this railroad tradition, Mrs. King's husband, George, is a retired railroad clerk having worked 33 years with the company in San Francisco and Petaluma.

Her mother, Mrs. Agnes Kircher of Tiburon, was Marin's "senior citizen of the year" in 1966. As a teen-ager, Mrs. Kircher commuted by train to San Rafael High School from Tiburon.

Said Mrs. King: "I owe everything I have had in life to the railroad, one way or the other. It is the only thing — have ever known."

The railroad will have the last word when she joins her husband in retirement next year.

From their home at 36 Adrian Way, Santa Venetia, George and Mary King can hear the whistle of a train as it heads towards Petaluma. It pulls freight and not passengers, but it is still a train.



LAST TRAIN — This was the scene 10 years ago as the final passenger train was boarded at San Rafael's railroad depot. In the ticket office, right, clerk Mrs. Mary King was selling her last tickets with San Rafael as the point of departure. Next year she retires, breaking a link with an era of transportation never to return.

Lochinvar Road Stop Signal Plans Favored

New plans for the widening of San Pedro Road to include stop signals at Lochinvar Road were approved last night by the Loch Lomond Home Owners Association.

Previous plans for the project, which will extend the four-lane section to just east of Lochinvar Road, aroused the association's opposition because they did not include the signals. Its opposition convinced the county public works department to redraw the plans.

Association directors last night also approved the alignment of the project, which is to be done this summer.

Directors also agreed to consider hiring a private police patrol for their neighborhood. Four or five homes have been burglarized in the past month, reported director Franklin Battat.

The Robert McCarthy Co., developer of the neighborhood, has offered to extend the present yacht harbor patrol to include homes in the area, Battat said. Homeowners would be assessed for the cost of the patrol if it were provided, he said.

Vow To Continue Fight For Peace

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI)—The seven allies in the Vietnam war today vowed to keep fighting until a peace is attained in which Hanoi respects South Vietnam's "democratic and constitutional rights."

In a statement issued after a one-day meeting the allied countries' foreign ministers also ruled out a coalition government in South Vietnam as "unacceptable."

The statement, whose signers included U.S. Secretary of State Dean Ruks, appeared to be written to allay fears among America's Asian allies that the United States might be weakening in its determination to see the war through.

DeMolay Will Install Laurence G. Clark

LAURENCE G. CLARK
DeMolay Councilor

Laurence G. Clark, a College of Marin student, will be installed as master councilor of the Marin chapter of Order of DeMolay at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Masonic Temple, San Rafael.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Clark, 107 Las Flores Avenue, San Rafael.

Other elected officers to be installed are senior councilor Robert Krambs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krambs, 482 Cedar Hill, Marinwood, and junior councilor Fred Adam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adam, 50 Forbes Avenue.

The present chapter sweetheart, Nanette Hedrick, will continue as chapter sweetheart until October.

Mother Lode Trip For Seniors

Elderly gold-diggers will be heading for the Mother Lode country April 25 on a one-day trip sponsored by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department's Senior Advisory Board.

The trip, open to residents of Marin at least 50, will leave by chartered bus at 7:30 a.m. and return 12 hours later.

April is deadline for reservations to be made by mail or in person at the Community Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets, San Rafael.

First Priority Given To Check Of Creek Erosion

The Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission Tuesday night assigned first priority to control of creek erosion near Park Road in the Fairfax Park.

Control of the erosion is an item in the Fairfax general plan, and the commission members said they felt the work should be assigned the earlies expenditure of park money in Fairfax.

The commissioned asked the city council to designate May as Senior Citizens' Month in Fairfax, and set another meeting for Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Fairfax Women's Club to discuss the location of a new exit in the Fairfax Pavilion.

Frank Blake was seated as a new member last night. He was appointed to fill a vacancy and will serve until 1971.

Campaign Slide Show

A slide show about Mill Valley and city council candidate Edward Farrell will be shown tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday evenings at Carl Mosher Shoes, 96 Throckmorton Avenue. The 12-minute presentation will run from 6:15 to 10 p.m. each night.

Honored Dentist Guest In Mill Valley Home

By MOLLY MARIN

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Hurt of Tortola, British Virgin Islands, were guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hurt of Mill Valley, last week. Dr. Hurt visited the Bay Area, in part, to confer with officials of Omicron Kappa Upsilon, national honorary dental fraternity he co-founded in 1914 at Northwestern University.

The septuagenarian dentist was named a Member of the British Empire in the Christmas Honors List this winter although he is a United States citizen. He has a private practice in Tortola and also provides the only dental care available to the 2,000 school children of the island. The latter activity and his work as member of the Island Development Board were cited as the basis for his recognition.

Prior to moving to Tortola in 1958 Dr. Hurt practiced 10 years in India at New Delhi, Simla and Darjeeling.

MR. AND MRS. Peter Flood have moved from Tiburon to Lima, Peru, where he will be associated with management of a hotel. Among those who entertained for the couple before their departure were the Patrick O'Briens of Tiburon.

THEIR FIRST child, a son, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Peacock Jr. of Tiburon at Marin General Hospital. The infant will be named Jason Kendall Peacock. He is the grandson of Mrs. Roberta McFarland of Los Gatos, Thomas Constantino of San Jose and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Peacock of Silver Spring, Md.

MR. AND Mrs. Willard Stump of Kentfield have returned from a one month trip to Hawaii, the Fiji Islands and Australia. In Hawaii they visited with the Norman Campis of Kentfield, who are also vacationing in the islands.

MAJ. AND MRS. John R. Winter of Novato are parents of a fourth child, a son, John Reuel Winter II. Major Winter is presently attending helicopter training school at Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls, Texas. Following completion of the course he will be assigned to Udorn, Thailand, for a year.

The other children in John's family include Gregory, 8, Laura, 6, and Connie, 3.

VICKI DENTERLEIN of Sausalito was honored at a bridal shower given by her aunt, Mrs. Sol Gross of Sausalito, and her sisters Judi Denterlein, also of Sausalito, Mrs. Charles

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Newsboy Who Caught 'Em Kissing Should Return The Ten Skins

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a newsboy. A certain lady always tells me if it's raining to leave the paper on the hall table.

The other day I walked in to leave the paper, and there she was kissin' up a storm with another one of my customers. They're both married but not to each other. Guess they didn't hear my knock.

I pretended not to see, and said real loud, "Anybody home?" Then I got out of there fast. The next night when I collected, they both gave me envelopes with five dollars in them.

I could sure use the ten skins, but it doesn't seem very honest. Do I give them back or forget the whole thing?

PAPER BOY IN THE KNOW

DEAR P.B.:

You know, of course, you got two bribes. It will hurt like the dickens but I think you should return the bills with notes saying, "Sorry, I can't accept this." Your honesty will make you ten skins poorer but it may shake or scare these dishonest people back to their real mates if that's any consolation to you.

H.

DEAR HELEN:

I like a certain girl except for two things. She wears black sneakers, and they don't do a thing for her legs and feet, and her stomach always talks. Should I tell her or drop her?

—EMBARRASSED GUY

DEAR GUY:

Stomach rumbles? They're beyond her control, but keep crackers handy. Maybe she's hungry.

H.

DEAR HELEN:

Recently I have read many letters in your column about unwed mothers. I too am one, but proud of myself for one reason: I support my daughter alone, asking no help from her father. Hearing his reaction after I told him, I realized he had dated me for only one purpose.

I thought of filing a complaint against him but changed my mind. The value of pride and self-respect were clear to me. If I were to go before a court for his money, I'd feel as if I were being paid for the privileges I permitted him. After all, I took a chance and lost.

—ALONE AND PROUD

DEAR HELEN:

Until the other day I thought my parents and all other older people had very square tastes, but gosh, I was at our 60-year-old neighbor's and she had the stereo on. Was I ever surprised! I listened, and I mean really listened to her record. She had dreamy waltzes and love songs by Ed Ames. Wow! And some by the Sons of Pioneers: "Cool Waters," etc. You could shut your eyes and feel really good, not at all like this crazy now stuff makes you feel.

Maybe if more kids would listen to square music, they'd discover it's really there.

—DONNA

DEAR DONNA:

Thanks, pal. I like your now music too.

—H.

DEAR HELEN:

What's with this kid? He knocks himself out proving he's a man, yet he always runs right back to mama.

He flunked college to spite his parents. He enlisted in the army to get away from his mother. He knocked two of my teeth loose because I argued with him. But every leave he gets, it's right back to mama's apron strings. She pulls them so he never sees me. She accused me of trying to sink my claws in her little boy. I woke up and gave his ring back, and now he's threatening to beat up my new boyfriend. What should I do?

—TIRED OF MAMA'S BOY

DEAR TIRED:

—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of The Independent-Journal.

Shelley Hogan Is Bride Of Ronald James Daley

Shelley Hogan and Ronald James Daley were married Friday at City Hall in San Francisco. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Michael J. Hogan of Mill Valley, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Daley of San Anselmo.

Shelley was attended by her sister, Judith Anne Hogan of San Francisco, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Michael Timothy Hogan of Albany. Robert Parkes of San Francisco was best man.

The bride attended 3-R High School, College of Marin and Zweegman Medical Secretarial School. She is employed at University of California Metabolic Research Unit in San Francisco.

Ronald is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and attends College of Marin. He is also employed at Mill Valley Market.

The couple will live in San Francisco. They are planning a trip to Rome in August for a church wedding and to visit the bride's parents, who are living there for a year.

Mission Nuptials For Claudia Ayala

Claudia Ayala of San Rafael became the bride of Roberts Bennett of Lafayette in a morning ceremony held on Sunday at Mission San Rafael Arcangel.

Claudia's sister, Marian, attended as maid of honor and Rich Harrison of Falls Church, Va., acted as best man.

Following a reception held at the San Rafael home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ayala, the couple left on a honeymoon in Carmel. On returning to the Bay Area, they will make their home in Berkeley.

Patricia Ann Kessler Married On Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Newt Shands Trail were married Saturday at Swedenborgian Church in San Francisco. The bride is the former Patricia Ann Kessler, daughter of Mrs. Gordon Albert Kessler of Tiburon and the late Mr. Kessler.

Patricia's sister-in-law, Mrs. Gordon A. Kessler Jr. of Corona del Mar, was her matron of honor. James Ray of Dallas was best man, and John Wade Kiser Jr., who is with the Air Force stationed on Mt. Tamalpais, ushered.

The bride attended schools in Pennsylvania, Mt. Lebanon High School in Pittsburgh, Penn State University. She is the sister of Mrs. James Edward Lynch of Punxsutawney, Pa., and Mrs. Kessler.

Her husband is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Scott Trail of Kaufman, Tex. He attended Kaufman High School and Texas A&M University.

A reception was held at the bride's mother's home in Tiburon. The couple will live in Texas where the bridegroom is a captain with Braniff International Airways.

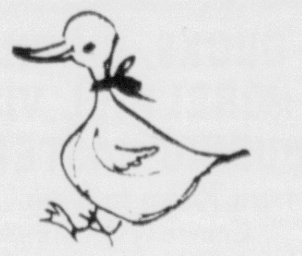
BEST FOOD BUYS

Pork Cuts, Poultry Top Plentiful Meats List

WASHINGTON (UPI)—USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that weekend shoppers will find ample supplies of meat and poultry and good stocks of some fresh vegetables and fruit in food stores and supermarkets.



Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys head the list as being the most abundant meats. Pork cuts in the abundant category include chops, roasts, bacon and ham. Smoked picnics may be in the abundant class in some areas. Ample cuts of beef should also appear in most areas with roasts, ground beef and steaks being featured. North Pacific halibut steaks and fish fillets are fish buys to watch for, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Cabbage, carrots and potatoes are the most abundant available fresh vegetables. Celery may join this group in some areas. Fruits in the abundant class are bananas and apples; and grapefruit and oranges, in some areas.

IN THE WEST:

Fruits and vegetables in best supply this week in West Coast markets include apples, bananas, grapefruit, oranges, cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce and potatoes.

Price trends on beef and smoked pork are slightly higher in the Pacific Northwest, and several major pork cuts are averaging increases in San Francisco. Other changes on wholesale meat prices include a cent increase on fresh skinned hams in the Los Angeles area.

Ready-to-cook chicken fryers are slightly higher in Portland and in all California markets; young hen and tom turkeys are also up slightly in price in Los Angeles.

Best fish buys for the West are: North Pacific halibut steaks, ocean perch, cod and sole fillets, rockfish, dungeness crab, Pacific oysters and canned tuna.

Photo Course, Rummage Sale Among Upcoming Marin Events

An eight-week course in photography will be held at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, beginning April 12 from 9 a.m. to noon by Cynthia Beeman, Bay Area photographer.

Miss Beeman, who studied at the San Francisco Art Institute and at the Stanford Institute of Radio and Television, has had her work reproduced in both magazines and newspapers.

Her course, which will include field trips, individual projects and lectures, is designed for beginners and intermediate students. There will be darkroom procedure demonstrations and discussions of print mounting and display.

Reservations are made at the center.

NOVATO GUILD 1 of Sunny Hills will have its 16th annual rummage sale from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Friday, and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday at the IDESI Hall in Novato. Mrs. Robert Weber, chairman, will be assisted by Mesdames Louis Ondrasek and Stanley Harmon.

MRS. ANN Rufty, membership chairman of the Novato Newcomers Club, is planning a coffee in the home of Mrs. Hal Hogue, 26 Terry Circle, at 10 a.m., Tuesday. Novato women interested in learning about the Newcomers Club are being invited.

THROUGH THE Marin Volunteer Bureau, daytime work with young children can be found. Volunteers able to give one morning a week to a San Rafael school are needed to assist teachers of youngsters who are having problems with speech and coordination. Training is given on the job.

Volunteer teacher aides are also invited to attend a series titled, "What Every School Volunteer Should Know." A five-week course, it is cosponsored by the bureau and the College of Marin. Registration will be held at the first meeting on April 16 at 725 A Street in San Rafael. Call the Volunteer Bureau for information about the course or an interview appointment for a volunteer job with children.

MRS. CHARLES Wettstein, chairman, has announced the winners in the poetry contest sponsored by Court St. Raphael, 1406, Catholic Daughters of America.

First place in Division I was awarded to Peggy Berg, San Anselmo, 6th grade, for a poem. Heidi Fels, Greenbrae, 5th grade, won second prize. Third prize in Division I went to Jane Pansini, Greenbrae, 4th grade. The girls all attend San Domenico School.

First place winner for Division II was Victor Pizarro, an 8th grader at St. Isabella's School. Second prize winner was Sherie Wilner, Kentfield, 8th grade, San Domenico. Angela Cass, Terra Linda, 8th grade, St. Isabella's, received third place. The six poems will be entered in the state-wide contest.

Vocational Nurses Training At Base

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Beginning their training as vocational nurses, 24 women and one man arrived at Hamilton Air Force Base Tuesday morning to inaugurate the program of the College of California Medical Affiliates of San Francisco.

Judith Abramson, a Sausalito resident and a registered nurse, has been owner and operator of CCMA since 1963. It is a training facility for nurses aides and orderlies, and she is extending the program to the training of licensed vocational nurses.

The program at Hamilton also will include training in the obstetrics and pediatrics wards. Strangely enough, says Miss Abramson, it is difficult to find a hospital to place students for study of obstetrics, probably because of the "The Pill," she comments.

The 25 students will also take training at Ft. Miley Veterans Administration Hospital in San Francisco.

Under the direction of CCMA's director of vocational education, Miss Maxine Tiffany, R.N., Mrs. Arden Van Upp will be instructor and supervisor of the LVN students at Hamilton.

Because of the great need for the vocational nurses, and because of the need for rehabilitation of welfare recipients, the program offers gainful employment following the training. Mrs. Abramson says all of the graduates are placed.

Seven of the students are under the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation, and 13 are being sponsored through the Manpower Development and Training Act funds allocated throughout the state.

However, five are private students. The tuition for each student is $2500 for the 1663 hours of study during the 50 weeks. These students may also apply for a $1000 interest-free loan, as the school has been approved for government free loans.

The one year program will include a 40-hour, five-day week. The students will rotate, with 10 students participating in the program at Hamilton and 15 students at Ft. Miley. The training program also includes study in theory at the college in San Francisco. Upon completion of the course students will be eligible for the state board examination as licensed vocational nurses.

The hospital at Hamilton is used by at the students at no cost to the taxpayer, says Col. Genevieve G. Harrold, chief nurse at the hospital and director of the program there. The students are using the two military facilities only, and if they desire they may apply for work at the military hospital upon completion of their work.

The entire program is approved by the State Department of Educaton and meets all standards of the state board of vocational nurse examiners, said Miss Abrahamson.

Another first for CCMA will begin within the year as Miss Abrahamson will begin another much needed program. She also plans to begin a program to train operating room technicians to supplement the shortage of registered nurses.

New Stewardess

Nanci Lee Findley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Findley of San Rafael, has completed stewardess training with Trans World Airlines in Kansas City and will be based in San Francisco. Nanci attended College of Marin and was employed with the Tiburon Lodge.

FEMININE SPIRIT

Mill Valleyans Plan New Shop-Gallery

Three Mill Valley women are giving a preview party tomorrow from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. at their unusual shop and art gallery which will open Saturday on Miller Avenue.

They are Suzanna Broughton, wife of the noted poet and filmmaker James Broughton; Gloria Churchman, wife of the University of California economics professor C. West Churchman; and Manche Harvey.

The shop-gallery called Anima Mundi (Latin for feminine spirit of the world) featuring unusual folk art, handcrafted treasures, singular garments and "cosmic reminders" will have shows changed every month.

Suzanna says of their venture, "As the shop decor begins to reveal itself, older business inhabitants say—"Horrors, a psychedelic shop!' We are flattered, since we are all over 40. When the young Hippies peek in they say—mmmmm—'Too elegant.' So what are we? A head shop for people over 30?

"I have always loved shops—unusual shops, good shops. I lived on Union Street in San Francisco several years while the varied colorful shops were just beginning to go in. I have shop-sat in some of these, and found that I liked it very much.

"Mill Valley is full of very individualistic looking people wearing a wide variety of interesting clothes from all parts of the world. One sees Guatemalan jackets, skirts from Pakistan, even native shifts from remote regions like the village of Solola at Lake Atitlan, and many colorful Mexican garments on the backs of Mill Valley natives.

"They live in very individual houses, usually stamped with their own personalities in utensils und decorations.

Throw Salt

A handful of salt, thrown on the coals in the barbecue grill, will lower the flames and deaden the smoke from the broiled meat.

Suzanne Cook To Become June Bride In New Jersey

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Cook anounce the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne Virginia, to Bruce Beers Kenseth of Chatham, N.J.

The future bride is the sister of Mrs. Charles Berg of Buffalo, N.Y., and Nancy Cook of San Rafael.

Bruce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harald E. Kenseth of Chatham. His sisters are Mrs. Christopher Hill of Massachusetts and Joy Kenseth of Chatham. Jon Kenseth of Chatham is his brother.

Suzanne and Bruce are both graduates of Chatham High School and attend Trinity University in San Antonio, Tex.

They will graduate in May and plan a June wedding in Chatham.

Empty Egg Shell Dyeing—A Tricky Art

If you want to dye empty egg shells for Easter, pierce opposite ends of a raw egg by tapping them with a needle to make holes about ⅛ inch in diameter. Cup your hands around the egg and blow out the contents into a bowl or covered storage container. Refrigerate the eggs. Rinse shells well, dry and color. Use reserved eggs to make dollar-size omelets Easter morning. Beat 8 eggs with ½ cup of milk. Stir in 2 (4½-ounce) cans of deviled ham. Drop batter by spoonfuls onto well greased frying pan. Brown quickly and turn to brown other side. Serve in stacks with fresh fruit garnish. Makes two to three dozen tiny omelets.

After dyeing whole eggs with harmless food coloring, store them in the refrigerator until the Easter egg roll. While eggs are in the Easter basket, keep it away from hot places such as radiators. After the egg roll, immediately return the eggs to the refrigerator and plan to eat them within one or two days.

Hospital Care Costs Rising

Wanted: A drug to control the pain in the pocketbook when a person's assigned by disease or accident to the hospital.

The American Hospital Association says, in case you wonder why, that the cost of a day's care rose to an average of $58.06 last year. That's up 15.4 per cent over the previous year. Hospital economists see the uptrend continuing this year—and the year after and after.

Spring Opera Opens With Mozart Debut

By GARY TISCHLER

The 1968 San Francisco Spring Opera season opens Tuesday with the premiere production of Mozart's "The Abduction from the Seraglio," at the Opera House, followed by a repeat weekend performance on April 13.

Diminutive soprano Elisabeth Carron, a 4-foot-10-inch product of the New York City Opera, sings the role of Constanza, a role she performed in San Francisco in 1962. A Spring Opera veteran, Herbert Beattie of the New York City Opera, will perform the role of Osmin, the harem keeper.

Evan Whallon, regular conductor of the Columbus, Ohio, Symphony will lead both performances of "Seraglio."

Future productions of the Spring Opera will be Bizet's "Carmen," April 16 and 19, Puccini's "La Rondine," April 23 and 26, and Verdi's "Rigoletto," April 30 and May 3.

Violinist Nathan Milstein will be the featured artist in his first appearance with the Oakland Symphony in three symphony concerts Monday through Wednesday at the Oakland Auditorium Theater at 8:30 p.m. Gerhard Samuel will conduct the performances which will also feature oboeist Leland Lincoln, clarinetist Rudolph Tapiro, Earl Saxton, French horn and James Schultz, bassoon.

The West Coast Premiere of Gustav Mahler's Symphony No. 5 in C Sharp Minor will be presented by the University Symphony Orchestra of the University of California at Berkeley at Hertz Hall, Sunday and Monday at 8:30 p.m.

On the popular front, The Little Rascals of "Groovin" fame will be in a one-shot engagement at the Oakland Coliseum April 9 at 8:30 p.m. Singer Glenn Yarbrough is in concert at the University of San Francisco's Memorial Gymnasium tomorrow night at 8:15 p.m. Singer, songwriter and poet Rod McKuen is at the Berkeley Community Theater Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

DRAMA

Two-time Academy Award winner Shelley Winters, who specializes in over-the-hill floozies and domineering mothers, will make her return to the legitimate theater in Tennessee William's "Sweet Bird Of Youth" at the Circle Star Theater, beginning Tuesday and nightly except Mondays at 8:30 p.m. Jackie Coogan and Terry Kiser are co-starred.

Members of the Burgtheater Company of Vienna will perform concert readings of Austrian poetry and drama in German on Thursday, April 11, at the University of California's Pauley Ballroom at 8 p.m.

Also at U.C. is the National Theater of the Deaf, which will give two performances Saturday at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. at Wheeler Auditorium.

FILMS

At U.C., it's the third of a series of films in conjunction with the upcoming Centennial Jazz Festival. On the program for Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Pauley Ballroom are Bill Evans, Jazz Pianist, "Love You Madly," the acclaimed Duke Ellington documentary, and "Monterey Jazz Festival," the last two produced by KQED.

Also at U.C. the Jean Luc Godard Retrospective continues with "A Married Woman" and "Band of Outsiders," Monday at 8 p.m. at the Wheeler Auditorium.

"Shakespeare Wallah" and "Householder," directed by Californian James Ivory, will run through April 16 at the Cento Cedar Cinema in conjunction with the Arts Of India, a series of cultural events sponsored by the American Society For Eastern Arts.

Electric Shock Kills Two Boys

HEALDSBURG (AP) — Two boys were killed by electric shock when the live end of an extension cord fell into a tub in which they and a brother were taking a bath.

Killed Tuesday night were James Ralph Junker, 3, and his stepbrother, Timothy Earl Mathews, 8. Kenneth Junker, 6, survived and was in satisfactory condition.

The coroner said yesterday that one of the boys had got out of the 12-inch water to move a lamp and let the cord fall.

Sonoma State Concert To Pay Ives Tribute

David R. Sprung, assistant professorof music at Sonoma State College, will conduct the college Philharmonic Orchestra in a spring concert at 8:30 p.m. today and tomorrow in Ives Hall on the campus.

The orchestra will perform Charles Ives' "Symphony No. 2" in honor of the composer, after whom the new music building was named. Other selections include "An Outdoor Overture" by Copeland and Beethoven's "Piano Concerto No. 3." Piano soloist for the concerto will be William Vendice, a student at the college.

Faculty Recital Set At College

The College of Marin Music Department will present a faculty recital at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Choral Hall of the new Fine Arts Building, Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Laurel Avenue, Kentfield.

Music instructors Robaline Meacham, pianist, and Charles Meacham, violinist, will perform, as will guest artist Gwen Curatilo.

Miss Curatilo will sing songs by William Walton and the Meachams will perform the "Sonata in A Major for Violin and Piano" by Gabriel Faure.

The three artists will also present works by Telemann, Vaughan Williams, Milhaud and Villa-Lobos.

New Play To Open

"The Dream," a new play written, staged and directed by Sonoma State College Drama Professor Lynn Clark, will open at 8:30 p.m. April 18 in the recital hall of Ives Hall at Sonoma State College. Additional performances will be presented April 19-20 and April 25-27.

Series Of Burglaries Reported To Sheriff

Thefts of two automobile stereophonic units were reported today by the Marin sheriff's office.

Jeffrey D. Finley of 232 San Felipe Way, Novato, complained that someone broke into his car in the College of Marin parking lot Monday at noon and stole his $54 stereo.

Roger J. Reclus of 703 Hacienda Way, Santa Venetia, complained that someone broke into his auto early yesterday and stole a $110 stereo and 15 tapes worth $90.

Other burglaries and thefts reported by the sheriff's office today included:

Theft of a $350 transmission from the carport of Dick Alexander Workman at 461 Liveoak Drive, Tamalpais Valley, during the last two weeks.

An eight-foot hydroplane boat of Timothy Hart Keeler of 1 DeSilva Island, Alto, stolen from the Kappas Yacht Harbor between March 24 and Sunday.

Tam High Gives Building Cash To Peace Corps

Tamalpais High School students yesterday presented $1,376 to a Peace Corps representative to build a three-room school in Togo, West Africa.

The money was raised by students last September by a work week, talent show and other fund-raising devices.

The school will be built at Agbanon, Toga, where the only other school, the French-built Ecole St. Joseph, has been condemned.

Susan Haas, chairman of the fund-raising committee, and Melissa Wuoltee, fall semester student body president, gave the check yesterday to Howard Fleming, Bay Area Peace Corps representative and a returned Peace Corps volunteer.

The money will buy building materials for the school, which is to accommodate 324 students, and the people of Agbanon will build the school with assistance of Peace Corpsmen on the scene.

Strawberry Rec Fees, Pay Voted

Summer recreation program fees and staff salaries were set by Strawberry Recreation District directors last night.

The district will sponsor two-week swimming instruction courses, starting June 17 through Aug. 9, according to Mrs. Jean Heick, board clerk.

Directors also endorsed a proposal from Commodore Don Fraser and Mrs. Robert Allen of the Strawberry Yacht Club for a sailing and water safety course to be given by the yacht club.

Regular board meetings for May, June and July will be held at 8:30 p.m. instead of 8 p.m., on the first Wednesday of the month at the Strawberry Point School, Mrs. Heick said.

Civic Center Landscaping Draws Fire

Landscaping around Marin County's Civic Center is poor and looks as if "someone bought out a defunct nursery" and scattered plants at random, a landscape architect charged today.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said Kapranos' suggestion will be on the supervisors' agenda Tuesday.

Plants at the Civic Center are "conglomeration of ubiquitous exotics that have no relationahip to our native growth nor can even complement it," said Kapranos.

Native plants are placed out of context with the surroundings, he charged. "The redwoods are placed like lightposts along the drive." He said views from the Civic Center will soon be obliterated by the Monterey pines nearby.

Kapranos urged that a team comprised of an independent landscape architect, representatives of the planning and parks and recreation staffs, and citizens be formed to evaluate the site.

Jail, Probation Set In Narcotics Case

Paul Douglas Givens, 18, of Los Angeles, was sentenced to two days in jail and placed on six months of probation in Marin Municipal Court yesterday after he pleaded guilty to being under the influence of a narcotic.

An earlier charge that he used marijuana and trespassed on a Mill Valley woman's property was dismissed.

Dieters Booming Sales Of Artificial Sweets

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A Chicago chemist told colleagues yesterday the artificial sweetner business in America, now a $500 million market yearly, will probably double in the next four years.

Pressures for synthetic foods as the population grows will doubtless mean an even greater market in the future, Dr. Karl M. Beck, chemist for the Abbott Laboratories in Chicago, told the 155th national meeting of the American Chemical Society.

Beck related how the story began in 1900, when President Theodore Roosevelt was an early enthusiast of saccharin, then the development of the cyclamates in 1937, which led to a business that took in only $250,000 by 1950.

Beck said the weight-watching furor that began in American in the 1950s started the big boom in artificial sweetners. "Technological advances were creating more sedentary mobs and fewer jobs requiring physical activity," he noted.

From 1955 cyclamates and saccharin began to be mixed in table sweetners and food additives, and the market jumped ten-fold from 1956 to 1962, Beck said.

The artificial sweetners proved safe and sweet with no unpleasant aftertaste, although the Food and Drug Administration now insists they be labelled "should be used only by persons who must restrict their intake of ordinary sweets."

Proposed FDA regulations, to be considered at a Washington hearing next month, would require labels to state a gram of cyclamates equals the sweetening power of 30 grams of sugar, and a gram of saccharine is equal to 300 of sugar.

Beck added a warning to the chemists that "we can expect lobbying by established interests to retard progress here as it usually has throughout history," evidentally meaning the sugar growers are still to be heard from.

Novatan Hospitalized After Fray In Bar

A Novato man was admitted to Marin General Hospital in good condition today with a concussion and a fractured nose suffered when he was kicked in a disturbance in Bermuda Palms Motel, San Rafael, police reported.

Edward A. Blaske of 1336 Monte Maria was reportedly knocked from a bar stool and kicked in the face as he lay on the floor. Police were today investigating a suspect.

Rafferty Blasts LBJ War Policy

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Max Rafferty says the Johnson administration should drop its "yo-yo policy of escalation and de-escalation" in the Vietnam war and listen to the generals "who know how to win it."

Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction and a candidate for the Republican Senate nomination, yesterday called the President's decision to stop bombing most of North Vietnam "asinine."

Rafferty, who is challenging incumbent Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel for the GOP Senate nomination, made the comments after a luncheon talk before a Republican women's group.

Driver Wins Hearing On Lawyer Call

A Walnut Creek contractor, who claims he was not allowed to call his attorney before deciding whether to take a blood test for alleged drunken driving Aug. 14 in Marin County, won a Superior Court hearing yesterday.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court issued an order to Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos to appear for a hearing on the issue April 22.

John J. Prentice represented by San Rafael attorney Berwyn Rice, claims he was arrested at 3:30 p.m. by the California Highway Patrol Aug. 14. He was booked at 6 p.m. and was not allowed to call his attorney until 11:04 p.m. he said.

Prentice told the judge that the jailers told him he had to submit to a blood test before he would be allowed to call an attorney.

When he said he wanted his attorney's advice before taking the test, Prentice claims, he was thrown in a cell.

Rice said today that the Department of Motor Vehicles has declined to suspend Prentice's license for refusing to take a blood test. The department ruled that he should have been allowed to call his lawyer, Rice said.

Candidate Talks Of Public Costs

Good government costs no more, it just gives taxpayers more for their money, Stanley W. Little, a candidate for the Fairfax City Council, said last night.

Little, speaking at a coffee gathering in the home of Albert E. Gately, said new business can be encouraged downtown, while at the same time "the small village atmosphere" can be retained. Commercial development outside the downtown area might hurt existing businesses, he said, and leave empty, run-down buildings in the city's core.

The city's recently adopted general plan, Little said, can protect property values by providing solutions to the need for parks and recreation, and by solving traffic congestion.

The meeting, attended by about 45 persons, was co-sponsored by the Committee to Elect Stan Little and the Citizens for Fairfax.

Manager Of Novato's Chamber Faces Ouster

The executive committee of the board on Tuesday asked for Loegering's resignation by 9 a.m. today, but it did not come, said Jack Kinney, chamber president. The executive committee was ready to ask for his immediate dismissal, Kinney added.

"The man will not take directions from any of the officers or the board of directors," Kinney said. "He does just as he pleases."

Reached at the chamber office this morning, Loegering confirmed that he had declined to resign, but would not comment further.

"If the board votes to keep him, it will lose all of its officers — it's either him or us," Kinney said.

The executive committee is composed of all board officers and past chamber presidents.

Kinney said that the executive committee had agreed to resign if the full board outvoted them and kept Loegering.

Collegians Force Class Halt At Small Southern School

The students announced they would present a list of grievances to Dr. Rudolph Jones, president of the school, when he returned during the day from a meeting in Raleigh.

One student said the grievances concerned alleged restriction of social privileges and insufficiency of faculty communication with the students.

About 300 of the school's 1,100 students took over the building last night. But only a few dozen remained overnight. Other students brought them breakfast from the dining hall.

The college a mile north of midtown Fayetteville was established in 1867 as a school for the training of teachers. It became state supported in 1887.

Sewer Assess District Started

The Ross Valley Sanitary District Board last night passed a resolution of intent to form a special sanitary assessment district along Forest Avenue from the San Anselmo city limits to Summer Avenue in Fairfax.

District Mgr. Ralph C. Noah said property owners requested formation of the district, reporting many septic tank failures.

Cost is estimated at $156,000, Noah said. The resolution goes to the Fairfax City Council and the Marin County Board of Supervisors for their approval, Noah said.

Educator's Wife Granted Divorce

Supt. Walter Schneider of the Sausalito School District and his wife, Edith Margaret Schneider, were divorced yesterday after a brief, uncontested hearing in Marin Superior Court.

The divorce was granted to Mrs. Schneider on the grounds of extreme cruelty. The couple married in 1942 and have a daughter and two sons.

Peace Moves Bring Gold Price Down

LONDON (UPI) — Vietnam peace moves sent speculators scurrying to sell today and the price of gold plunged on both the London and Paris markets.

On the big London market gold dipped to $36.70 an ounce, its lowest point since the London market was reopened April 1.

On the smaller Paris market the price of gold slipped to $36.96 an ounce, down from $37.95 yesterday. It was $37.90 on Tuesday. Trading volume was down to $4.9 million from yesterday's $5.1 million.

At the morning price setting session in London gold was changing hands at $1.30 an ounce cheaper than at the same time on Monday.

Dealers said gold's price started today at $37 an ounce but the big volume of selling orders pushed it down another 30 cents before buyers showed any interest. Conditions were "very active" but dealers declined to estimate total turnover.

The chances of clearer sailing for the dollar and pound as key trading and world reserve currencies kept the pound firmer on foreign exchanges while the French franc turned weak.

Industrial shares pushed higher on the stock market but it was nothing like the steady Wall Street climb.

American stocks quoted in London, however, quickly jumped ahead to bring them in line with transatlantic prices.

Larkspur Panel Approves Four Lanes For Magnolia Avenue

Larkspur City Council last night approved plans for widening Magnolia Avenue from Woodlark Apartments, south of Murray Avenue, to the north city limits.

The plan calls for four traffic lanes, retaining the parking area on the west side of the avenue and constructing a four-foot, six-inch wide sidewalk along the east side.

The vote was 3-1. Mayor Earl J. O'Grady, who favored wider traffic lanes, dissented, and Councilman Vaughn Marker abstained.

VARIOUS PLANS

Councilmen had considered various choices for the widening project at previous sessions and heard from property owners in the area last night before reaching their decision.

O'Grady explained the project would be the first of a three-phase program for the widening of the avenue from Doherty Drive to the north city limit.

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst reported that the city has been allocated $146,000 in Marin County urban thoroughfare funds for the program in the next two years. The project also will be supported with gasoline tax revenues, he said.

He estimated cost of the first phase at $63,000 and hoped a contract could be awarded by mid-June. Repair of sanitation facilities and partial undergrounding of utilities could be undertaken at the same time, Bathurst noted.

THREE LANES

The plan provides three traffic lanes 10-feet, six-inches wide, one lane 11 feet, six inches wide, and an eight-foot wide area for parking on the west side.

O'Grady and Marker favored 11-foot, six-inch traffic lanes which would have eliminated the sidewalk along the east side.

Bathurst contended that the sidewalk was important and "made the difference between a shopping area and a shopping unit."

Paul Daly, owner of a swimming pool at 980 Magnolia Avenue, said, "Anything would be 1,000 per cent better than what we have now." The factor that "could be most easily dispensed with would be the on-street parking," he contended.

Charles McLeran, owner of property in the area, said the council "might be jumping the gun on four lanes," which he felt might "turn it into a speedway."

Councilmen explained that the urban thoroughfare funds were appropriated for a four-lane project, and if they weren't obligated by June 30, the city might lose them.

John J. Schuck of 16 Murray Avenue and Lawrence Goldberg of 75 Murray Avenue told of the difficulties encountered by drivers entering Magnolia Avenue from Murray Avenue.

Schuck said on-street parking on the west side should be abolished from Murray to Francis Avenue, and a traffic signal installed at Francis and Magnolia avenues.

Councilman Neil R. Brixon suggested that the city should seek help from the property owners for widening the sidewalk on the east side.

Sausalito Import Shop To Remodel Gate Theater

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night approved a conditional use permit to allow commercial use and remodeling of the theater at 668 Bridgeway.

The Sausalito Planning Commission also:

FERRIES — Set a hearing for April 17 on a zoning ordinance change on ferry boat landings. The amendment would make landings a conditionally permitted use in the two zones where they are now permitted.

VARIANCE — Granted a variance to Paul B. Meserve and Dale H. Hawkins to allow two parking spaces at 494 Sausalito Boulevard.

BCDC — Endorsed a state Senate bill to extend powers of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Jaycees Launch Mill Valley Poll

The wurvey asks questions about postal service, teen recreation, restaurants, and priorities the city council should give local issues.

Marker Is Given Tie Clasp, Gavel As Retirement Gifts

Vaughn Marker, leaving the Larkspur City Council after almost five years, got a farewell gift from councilmen last night.

Marker received a tie clasp with a gavel and the numerals "66" on it, representing the year he served as mayor, 1966.

Mayor Earl J. O'Grady presented the gift.

Marker was appointed to the council in June 1963, to succeed Daniel Allen, and elected to a four-year term in 1964. He is not seeking re-election this year and was attending his last regular council session.

Warden Thwarts Convict Service

Warden Louis S. Nelson of San Quentin Prison has blocked, although with an appreciation of their willingness, an offer by 50 prison inmates to fight in Vietnam.

In a letter which they wanted sent to the Defense Department, the inmates declared they were trained in "gorilla and jungle warfare" and said, "We feel that we cannot turn our backs on the complete safety of our country. We sincerely would appreciate the chance to prove our desire to fight."

Declining to forward the petition to Washington, Nelson replied in his column in the San Quentin News, the prison newspaper.

"We are impressed by the willingness of so many of you to serve," he said. But he said there is no provision for paroling men to the armed forces.

Woman Faces Dope Charges

Ann Weiner, 45, of Stinson Beach, was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today after her arrest Tuesday for possession of marijuana.

Mrs. Weiner was brought to county jail Tuesday on a warrant issued in a Marin Superior Court civil case.

When a matron examined her purse at the booking desk, she reportedly discovered some marijuana. Mrs. Weiner was released on $500 bail and told to appear in court today.

Smog Fighters Hold Line, But Bay Death Toll Cited

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Smog levels at measuring stations in six Bay Area counties held steady during 1967 after a substantial reduction during 1966.

However, Dr. John Goldsmith, chief of the bureau of environmental hazards of the state Department of Public Health, told directors of the Bay Area Pollution Control District yesterday smog may have caused up to 30 deaths in the Bay Area since 1965.

He said approximataly 10,000 cases of asthma and other pulmonary diseases in the Bay Area may be attributed to air pollution from vehicles. He called air pollution "a substantial threat to public health."

The district reported the average high hourly oxidant concentrations during 44 abnormally warm days last year remained at an oxidant count of .10 per million parts of air, the same average as during 1966. This compared to 1.3 in 1965.

San Rafael, with a reading of .07, and San Francisco, with .08, were the least smoggy areas in the Bay Area. Both oxidant concentrations were the same in 1966.

Oxidants are eye - irritating compounds which are the major products of photochemical smog. They are measured at stations in San Rafael, Walnut Creek, San Jose, Redwood City, San Francisco and San Leandro.

San Jose and Walnut Creek were the only stations reporting higher oxidant levels last year. Population growth and a corresponding increase in automobiles were blamed for boosting the oxidant level from .10 to 1.3 in Walnut Creek and from .11 to .13 in San Jose. Both averages were still below 1965 levels.

The district said the 25 per cent reduction in smog levels during 1966 was maintained in 1967 due to the control of vehicle emissions and reactive organic emissions from stationary sources.

General In Surgery

Juvenile Hall Escaper Nabbed

A neighbor reported seeing the boy in the home of John H. Brown at 251 Karen Way, Tiburon. When a deputy ordered the boy out of the house, he sprinted through a back door and down the nearby railroad tracks, officers said today.

The boy was stopped by a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. employee who was working near the tracks.

Fairfax Man Denies Selling Marijuana

Alfred James Quiroz, 23, of Fairfax, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to charges of selling and possessing marijuana March 15 at his home.

Quiroz, who allegedly sold two ounces of marijuana to agents of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau, was ordered to return to court May 20 for a primary hearing on the charges.

Bon Air Bridge Pile Damage Is Held Minor

City Engineer Roy Hoffman told the Larkspur City Council last night that the loss of the concrete section had not endangered the bridge, but he felt repairs should be made to prevent further damage.

The repairs are needed at a pile cap on the south side at about mid-span where an area about three feet across, two feet high and two-and-a-half inches deep has broken away, Hoffman said.

Hoffman said the damage probably resulted from the stresses of expansion and contraction with temperature changes.

He estimated that repairs would cost $2,300, and the council authorized him to seek informal bids on the job.

The Larkspur City Council also:

MOSQUITO BOARD — Appointed John Barry, an insurance broker, of 130 Pepper Avenue, to the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board to fill the unexpired term of the late Hil B. Probert.

UNDERGROUNDING — Introduced an ordinance establishing procedures for undergrounding utilities, with Mayor Earl O'Grady, who is employed by Pacific Telephone Co., abstaining.

SIGN — Set a public hearing on the revised sign ordinance for 8 p.m. May 1 at City Hall.

WIDENING — Received a letter from Madrone Woodlands Home Owners Association asking when the Redwood Avenue-Oak Road widening project would begin. City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst reported that an appraisal of a piece of land needed for right-of-way will have to be completed before a construction timetable can be set up.

SUIT — Authorized Mayor O'Grady to file suit against Mrs. Russell J. Merret, owner of the Dollars 'N Sense store at 1100 Magnolia Avenue, to abate retail sales use of warehouse space, which the city contends is in violation of a variance permit.

RADIO — Tabled action on a recommendation from Bathurst to buy a radio system for the public works department and portable radios for the police and fire department on a lease-purchase plan at a cost of $7,500. Councilmen asked for further information on how the equipment would be used.

MERGER — Endorsed Corte Madera's proposal to have the Corte Madera Sanitary District merge with the town of Corte Madera.

CALLS — Adopted a resolution authorizing the Larkspur fire department to respond to calls outside Marin County at the discretion of Fire Chief George Bartram.

INSTITUTE — Approved city membership in the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers at a cost of $67.50 a year.

GOVERNMENT — Received a resolution from the Ross Valley Chapter of DeMolay thanking the city for its participation in "City Government Day" when students assumed city offices.

REZONING — Introduced an ordinance rezoning property along the west side of Locust Avenue between Ward and King streets from commercial to multiple residential. Ronald H. Glander, building and planning superintendent, said residences are now in the area.

DECENCY — Proclaiming the week of April 22-28 as "D for Decency Week" at the request of Los Angeles County Supervisor Warren Dorn, who urged action against obscenity and pornography in literature and motion pictures.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until 8 p.m. April 16 to canvass the results of next Tuesday's municipal election, seat councilmen and elect officers. The next regular session will be May 1 at 8 p.m. at City Hall.

Hi-Fi Theft

Mrs. James L. Connelly of 23 Golden Gate Avenue reported to Belvedere police that someone removed a hi-fi turntable and FM tuner, valued between $400 and $500, from her unlocked house yesterday while she was away between 9:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Chicken Or Egg? Conundrum For College

Which came first, the man or the job?

Marin Junior College District trustees this evening will have the task of answering this variation on the "chicken or the egg?" conundrum. We expect they'll find it no easier to answer than the original version.

The college trustees are returning to their old dinner meeting plan tonight, gathering at Sabella's Restaurant in Alto at 6 p.m. before moving to the board room at the college in Kentfield for the regular meeting. (Side question to County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney: Since this is a regular meeting, can the board legally move it around from place to place like that?)

Initially, it was reported by College President-Superintendent William K. Ramstad that the closed meeting would be to discuss creation of a new administrative position. Later, doing some fancy footwork to avoid violating a couple of state laws (in both education and government codes) against closed meetings for such a purpose, it was announced it would be to discuss the man to be hired for the job — if it is created.

"Creation of a new administrative position" is on the agenda for the regular meeting.

Now, what is this all about?

RAMSTAD HOLDS the twin titles of president of College of Marin and superintendent of Marin Junior College District (as did his predecessor, Stephen E. Epler, and Epler's predecessor, Ward H. Austin, and Austin's predecessor, Clyde Olney). But with a second campus planned in North Marin, Ramstad feels the roles should be separated. A president should be named for each campus, he contends, with a superintendent over all.

This idea is not just a whim of Ramstad's. Julio Bortalazzo last week quit the dual job of superintendent-president in San Mateo Junior College District over such an issue.

This separation of superintendent and president has not been discussed at the recent board of trustees meetings. But it would seem Ramstad has explained his stand to the board members.

More than that, it seems he has a candidate for the Kentfield presidency already.

SO TONIGHT, over the seafood at Sabella's, the trustees are to privately consider the proposal and the man suggested for the job.

How are they going to do this?

They could meet in closed session to discuss employment of the man suggested by Ramstad. But for what job? The separate college presidency has not yet been created — let alone a salary set up for it.

They could meet in open session, create the job, then go into closed session to interview Ramstad's candidate and perhaps appoint him. But creation of the job is on the agenda for the later meeting at the college.

PERHAPS, OVER the coffee and dessert, they can figure out a way around this "which comes first, the man or the job?" conundrum.

They'll probably have little help from the faculty in doing so. The faculty is very upset. Although there is an elaborate committee system set up for "self-government" of the college, culminating in faculty senate and administrative council, it seems nobody asked the faculty about the plan to create a separate presidency (and thereby somewhat insulate Superintendent Ramstad from their committees). And, to rewrite an old proverb a trifle, Hell hath no fury like a teacher scorned.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — It isn't at all surprising that the office of Gov. Ronald Reagan is receiving bundles of mail protesting the increases in California's income tax. The surprising thing is that there isn't more of this protest mail.

However, the correspondents are addressing their complaints to the wrong party. The governor can do no more about it than the humblest citizen. And again, the timing is wrong. The period for protest ran out last year when the state legislature adopted the new income tax law, which increased annual payments doubly in a lot of instances and as high as four times the previous year in some.

The individual who feels like writing a protest might as well save his six cents postage as far as accomplishing anything in the way of income tax another raise is averted this year and next year.

MANY ELECTORS WHO helped vote the Democrats out of office felt entry of the Republicans into the administrative scene would provide a panacea for the ills that beset the state then and now. Those who have completed or are working on their 1967 state income tax returns are finding out just how wrong they were.

It's an old saw that "those who dance must pay the piper." It applies in full to the taxpayers of California this year. The state danced for eight years to the tune of profligacy, and now comes the time when it has to reimburse the orchestra.

It does no good to "put the blame on Mame," as the damage has been done. And the worst part of it is, the damage will continue, lo, into reduction. He'll be lucky if the next generation, when the nearly five-billion-dollar bonded debt the state is carrying is taken into consideration.

THUS, WHEN the protesters protest, it might well behoove them to think back a few years and ask themselves how many bond issues they have voted for that might have been skipped; how many legislators they have supported who in turn supported social benefits such as give-away welfare programs, excessive medical aid above and beyond the call of necessity, and increasing educational facilities based on the whims of educators rather than on actual needs.

And these same protesters might also ask themselves how many times they have waxed voluble when an administration or official sought within their powers to reduce funds for some pet project. The volume of letters of praise commending the administration for the spending reductions it has made is minimal compared with the flood of criticism castigating the tax increase.

So it appears that what the situation boils down to is one that only one group can do anything about, and that group is the electorate itself.

The electorate can do this by placing legislators in office who are economy-minded, who are more interested in the welfare of the taxpayer than in re-election; and who consider basic needs more than fanciful programs which "enrich" everyone except those who pay the bills.

Medi-Cal Points Up High Costs For All

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Regarding your editorial on Medi-Cal, I wonder if perhaps you are looking at this program from the wrong angle. For the first time, the public at large is getting an opportunity to learn what medical care actually costs. If drug prices are indeed inflated, if medical vendors are raising their prices, Medi-Cal is bringing to light the burden middle income families are staggering under.

I was working closely with this program when it first started, and remember the amazement when numbers of middle income persons applied. It was not expected but, you see, Medi-Cal did not carry the "welfare" stigma at that time.

When you talk about cutbacks in medical service, please put this in human terms. Do you really think that old people should do without dentures, that school children should do without eyeglasses, or that psychiatrically disabled people should do without the tranquilizers they need to prevent institutionalization?

If, on the other hand, your arguments are that vendor costs are too high, then follow your logic one step farther. If standard costs are too high for the medically needy, then they are too high for everyone except the wealthy. If the fee a medical vendor is permitted to charge a welfare client is fixed at a fair rate, why should the middle income family not have the same protection against excessive charges? If Medi-Cal did nothing else, it would be valuable in dramatizing the actual cost of medical care today.

Hawk Brigade For Vietnam War?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The aging B-performer who temporarily occupies the governor's chair in Sacramento has expressed himself as being disappointed in the president's partial move toward peace in Vietnam and said he would be in favor of "stepping up the war."

Is the rumor true that he is organizing a volunteer outfit with John Wayne, Chuck Connors, Max Rafferty, Sam Yorty and George Murphy — under the leadership of "General" Ky —to carry on in place of the 19, 20 and 21-year-old Californians we have lost in this immoral war?

'Cry California' Position Needed

Editor, Independent-Journal;

May I comment on your recent editor's notebook reference to "Cry California"-type conservationists.

Subscribers to Cry California, who are also members of California Tomorrow, do not differ from members of other groups or individuals concerned with the preservation of our state's great natural beauty. We share a concern that this objective still occupies a low priority in the plans of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., the state Division of Highways, and other important segments of the economic community, although their efforts to date deserve credit.

The endless march of unsightly power lines and poles, and the continuing encroachment of insensitively planned highways on the California landscape, bear witness that plain-spoken conservationists, including the "Cry California"-type, are needed as never before.

Vietnam 'Cause' Called Hypocrisy

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I agree with Gen. David M. Shoup, former commander of the U.S. Marine Corps, winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor and many other decorations, who says:

"I don't think the whole of Southeast Asia, as related to the present and future safety and freedom of our country, is worth the life or limb of a single American. If we would keep our dirty, dollar-crooked fingers out of those nations, so full of depressed and exploited people, they will arrive at their own solutions."

He reminds us of another honest Leatherneck chief, Gen. Smedley D. Butler, who once spoke bitterly in realization that he had fought, in Latin America and elsewhere, "to make the world safe for the United Fruit Co. and Standard Oil."

So with Vietnam. Stripped of scare-baloney about yellow hordes of Communist maniacs, and stripped of hypocrisy about halting "aggression" by Vietnamese inside their own country (kept split only by U.S. sabotage of the 1954 Geneva Agreement for nationwide elections) this war has had the following actual purposes:

Real Purpose No. 1 — To establish one more power-base against all nations struggling to consolidate socialism or even mere national independence — thus to insure continued profit-extraction from the rest of the "free" world's millions (including our own) by a few great international interests that care nothing for any people. (That is what General Shoup is talking about when he speaks of "dirty, dollar-crooked fingers" and "exploited people." But, of course, the official description is "defense" of "our" way of life.)

Real Purpose No. 2 — To use the lives of our young and the money of us all, to provide a terrifying "example" of what will happen to any people — especially in "our" hemisphere — that dares try to free itself from dictatorships that have sold their countries to the world combine now represented by the corporation-White House-Pentagon axis. (Of course, again, this is all described as saving the "free" — for plunder — world.)

The combine is using the U.S. flag not for but against both the Vietnamese and the American people. This represents the take-over by that "military-industrial complex" against which President Eisenhower warned in his farewell address . . .

Meanwhile, an "American" military "victory" over the skinny little National Liberation fighters is as impossible as was a Redcoat victory over our "ragged continentals" of Valley Forge. And for the same reasons: "Give me liberty, or give me death!" If an American can't understand that, he can understand nothing.

That is, such "victory" is impossible, except at enormous risk of starting world war, not to mention economic collapse and civil war in the U.S.A. or what will be left of it.

As an ex-serviceman myself (and no draftee but a draft-exempt volunteer in a different kind of war) it takes some discipline to ignore the mudslinging which a handful of misled citizens have heaped on other citizens fighting to save our country from a ruinous course. . . . And we are trying to help and save them, too.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

Lily Pons

PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S father once learned to his sorrow that Miss Lily Pons was not only a great singer, but a deadly gin rummy player. The two met in the smoking lounge of a transatlantic liner one evening, and after an hour's gaming, Papa Kennedy found himself deep in the hole. "I haven't got enough cash with me to pay you," he admitted, "but here's a token of my debt."

On the back of a beverage list he wrote, "John Keats, $182." "'What does this mean?" asked Miss Pons. Kennedy bowed and explained. "Owed to a nightingale."

Al Morgan tells about the Hollywood agent who was trying to clarify for his 5-year-old son the status of a Salvation Army Santa Claus. "He's just a man trying to raise money for a very worthy cause," explained the agent. "He's a symbol. He merely represents Santa Claus,'' "Aha," nodded the agent's son. "You mean he's his agent."

Republicans' Unity Facade Misleading

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The appearance of unity in the Republican party with Richard M. Nixon breezing along toward the presidential nomination obscures deep divisions in the party on issues before Congress.

In the big fight over spending cuts, a sizable group of House Republicans is trying to counter the meat-ax approach favored by the GOP leaders with a plan to plow some savings into programs to help the cities.

The group has set up a staff, conducted hearings and welded a program of cuts totaling $6.5 billion, of which $2.5 billion would be used to expand programs to meet "urgent human needs and the urban crisis."

"WE NEED a new set of priorities," says Rep. Charles E. Goodell of upstate New York, a leader of the effort, "one that recognizes the enormous financial difficulties facing us but which also recognizes the terrible human waste which is resulting from past and current inattention."

About 40 Republicans, mostly younger ones and those from the suburbs, have indicated an interest in such an approach. But the party hierarchy is lined up solidly behind a move to slash spending without permitting any increases.

ON NO ISSUE, however, is the split in Republican ranks sharper than on the open-housing provision in the Senate-passed civil rights bill now before the House.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the GOP boss in the House, is insisting the bill be sent to a conference with the Senate to seek a compromise on the housing section. He has a majority of the Republicans with him, but Rep. Clark MacGregor of suburban Minneapolis, who wants the Senate bill accepted, says as many as 45 per cent of the 187 House Republicans are prepared to desert Ford and vote for the bill.

Ford's refusal to go along with the Senate bill also puts him at odds with his party's leader in the Senate, Everett M. Dirksen, who played a key role in breaking a Southern filibuster to get the bill passed.

BEFORE New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller became a primary campaign dropout, the division on both the urban and civil rights issues followed roughly the split among members favoring Nixon or Rockefeller for the presidential nomination.

Rockefeller's supporters felt it would be a calamity for the Republican party, needing urban support, to go into a presidential election without a clear-cut record of support for the Senate bill, particularly with George C. Wallace siphoning off Southern votes.

Now, civil rights leaders are urging Nixon to see if he can't get Ford to change his mind and accept the Senate bill.

JUST AS Rockefeller avoided openly tangling with Nixon in the name of party unity, so the divisions on issues are muted in the House.

But they are there, and if the Republicans should know the luxury of being the majority party in the next Congress, they will be hard to keep hidden.

Czechs' Freedom Moves Worry East German Reds

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The liberalizing trend in Czechoslovakia clearly is causing alarm in Communist East Germany.

It is indicated in the haste with which the regime under party leader Walter Ulbricht announced on March 25, a plebiscite to approve a new East German constitution would be held April 6, permitting only 11 days for preparation.

It further was indicated in the violence of an attack on the New Czech regime by Prof. Kurt Hager, East Germany's chief ideologist, accusing the Czechs of betraying East Germany by encouraging West German attempts to isolate her from her Communist allies.

CONTRARY to Czech moves away from centralization of controls, the new East German constitution is designed to give increased control to the Communist party leadership.

Announcing it Dec. 1, Ulbricht declared it would give East Germany "a strong Socialist government, with Socialist democracy and with stable Socialist economic conditions."

The old constitution came into being in October, 1949.

Its outline followed western lines, providing for free and secret elections and division of power among executive, legislative and judicial branches.

In practice, however, it never was followed.

Only a dozen or so nations recognize the Ulbricht regime even after 19 years, compared with more than 90 that recognize West Germany.

Under former President Antonin Novotny, Czechoslovakia had been considered, along with Poland, a loyal ally against a "revenge seeking" West Germany. Should a liberalized Czechoslovakia follow Romania and Yugoslavia by establishing diplomatic relations with West Germany, Ulbricht's regime would be further isolated.

That isolation would be virtually complete should the West Germans succeed in their present campaign to convince the Poles that they have no aggressive intent against the Polish Oder-Neisse border and the Poles then also succumb to the lure of West German trade and gold.

Some improvement in their economic well-being has induced a certain lassitude among East Germans toward their regime. But they are not immune to revolt. They proved it in 1953, and the knowledge must also weigh heavily upon old-Stalinist Ulbricht.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Come Now Linguists With Franca Of Own

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The rediscovery of phonics as a means of teaching reading has given encouragement lately to many Americans long frustrated over Dick and Jane.

There are all sorts of "new" phonic approaches nowadays, extending even to ITA, which creates a new and larger alphabet to get word sounds back into the teaching of reading.

Late research, as reported by Jeanne Chall of the Harvard Graduate School of Education in her new book, "Learning To Read," shows that pupils taught by phonetic methods advance more rapidly than those taught by the look-say system popular through three decades of American education. (Research a few years ago, of course, reportedly proved the opposite.)

MUCH OF THE credit for the return of phonics has gone to a newly prominent breed, the linguistics experts. These include, among many others, California Maurice William Sullivan, whose "Programmed Readers" give children a reading vocabulary of 2,892 words in three years, and Caleb Gattegno, whose "Words in Color" system is reportedly especially effective with slow learners.

Many parents cheer the results of such men's work (especially if their school district has adopted one of the new methods to replace the old "basal readers"). But we have just discovered that, alas! there is a bit of danger here, too — as, probably, in all innovation.

Put together with their own kind who can speak their own language, it appears these linquists are enough to frighten even the most abstruse educationist with his meaningless educanto.

We came upon this discovery by accident, in reading the New York Times, which sent reporter Douglas Robinson to cover the 13th annual Conference on Linguistics, sponsored by the Linguistic Circle of New York.

THE LEAD paragraph of reporter Robinson's story is one that deserves to be preserved for posterity:

"Allophonemes and phonemes, pursued occasionally by verbs and vowles, raced around the Windsor Hotel yesterday. The loser was syntax by half an apophone."

But the part of his report that sent words in color running up and down our phonetic spine was this.

"A roomful of 75 people, all of whom appeared average, nodded in understanding and agreement with such sentences as:

"It is hypothesized that rules adding syntactic features to complex symbols which are probably dominated only by noun heads (i.e., government rules) and rules spreading syntactic features from noun heads over all lexical items which can be said to stand in endocentric relation to them (i.e., concord rules) should not be stated in the rules of any specific grammar but are, like deep structured government convention, part of the general theory of language."

Can people who talk like this be the people who are producing our readers of tomorrow?

Reporter Robinson did not mention whether Dr. Sullivan, Dr. Gattegno, or Sir James Pitman, who originated ITA, were among the 75 present at the conference. We earnestly hope not!

What if "rules spreading syntactic features from noun heads over all lexical items which can be said to stand in endocentric relation to them" should creep into next year's third reader?

Run, Spot, run! The linguistics are after you!

THE LIGHTER SIDE

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At this stage of the campaign, many of the pundits are saying that students will play a decisive role in the 1968 presidential election.

I assume they mean college students, although high school and elementary school students also have been demanding a bigger voice in national affairs.

And almost any day now I expect we will start hearing from the kindergarten set.

ON A RECENT afternoon I had occasion to stop by Mrs. Kasper's Kiddy Kollege where my preschool son is taking an undergraduate course in show-and-tell.

As I entered the classroom, all of the young scholars were sprawled out on the floor.

"Good grief!" I exclaimed. "They're staging a lie-in."

Mrs. Kasper assured me it was the rest period rather than a protest demonstration. She subsequently confided, however, that there was a rebellious faction in the kindergarten.

That evening I decided to have a talk with my son about it.

"WHAT IS the issue that is causing the conflict between the students and the kindergarten administration?" I asked, taking a blind leap across the generation gap.

"Academic freedom," he replied.

"Is the faculty perchance insulating the students from reality with archaic instructional procedures, the foundation of which is expressed through the adventures of Sally, Jane and Dick and their dog Spot?"

"Exactly," he said.

"And what demands are the students making to overcome the stultifying, repressive atmosphere and force the adoption of curricula more in keeping with the times?"

"WE ARE seeking the right to look at comic books during the first fun-and-games period and to wear 'Batman' sweatshirts during the fingerpainting period."

"Anything else?"

"Yes. We feel that the students should be given a larger role in establishing playground policy, such as regulating the use of the jungle gym."

"Have you talked this over with your teacher?"

"We don't trust anyone over 7."

"I see. By the way, what's that thing pinned inside your jacket?"

Bones Found In Creek Identified

A human skull and other bones, dug up along a creek behind Hill Road, in Novato, have been identified as those of an elderly female, probably Indian, police reported.

Paul Leonard Pickart, of 1524 Hill Road, told police that his grandson, Ronald Pickart, 12, of 1 Edgehill Road, San Rafael, and some other boys found the bones when they were digging along the creek on March 21, police reported.

The bones were given to John McBeath, anthropology instructor at Novato High School, who identified them. He said that there were Indian burial sites along most of the creeks in the Novato area. McBeath kept the bones for further identification and classification, according to police.

Hub Recreation Signups Slated

Registration on a first-come basis for the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department's spring recreation program is underway, with activities scheduled to start April 15.

Class fees must be paid in advance and nonresidents, except those from Fairfax, must pay an additional fee, according to Frank L. Quinn, parks and recreation director.

Stereo Tapes Stolen

A car parked by William R. Hamilton of 24 Longwood Drive, San Rafael, at San Rafael High School had 17 stereo tapes stolen from it, he told police yesterday.

Novato High Band Plans Dance To Finance Trip

A spring swing dance to raise funds to send the Novato High School band to Disneyland will be held from 9 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. April 20 in the high school gymnasium.

The band has been invited to play two marching concerts May 25 at Disneyland. The band needs $3,000 to pay trip expenses.

The music department at the high school will provide music, decorations, tickets and refreshments for the dance.

Mrs. Margaret Magill is dance chairman. Working with her include Mr. and Mrs. William Washburn, tickets and posters; Mr. and Mrs. William Gillen, outside organizations; Mr. and Mrs. John Catlin, services; Anna Secrist, pre-dance parties; Jean Birdsall and Della May Ream, refreshments; Virgil Birdsall, Carol Lundquist and Carolyn Harrison, decorations, and James McMillen and Robert Ramsay, publicity.

Fair Trial, Press

A panel discussion on the right of fair trial and freedom of the press will be heard at the 8 p.m. April 22 meeting of the Marin County chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union in Room 4123 of the Co-Op Shopping Center in Corte Madera.

Fourth Trial For 1961 Murder

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Eddie Dean Griffin, 57, who was saved from the death penalty three years ago by a landmark decision of the U. S. Supreme Court, is on trial for the fourth time for a 1961 rape-murder.

Griffin has been convicted twice and sentenced to death in the slaying of Essie Mae Hodson, 49, of Los Angeles. A third trial ended in a hung jury. The fourth started Tuesday.

His first conviction was reversed by the high court on the ground that his constitutional right against self-incrimination was violated when both the court and the prosecutor commented on his failure to testify in his own behalf.

Collegian To Discuss Southeast Asia Future

Jeffrey Freed, program coordinator of the International Relations Center at San Francisco State College, will discuss "Laos, Cambodia, Thailand: Future Vietnams?" at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Alexander Hall at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

The program is co-sponsored by the Church and Society Commission of the Seminary Student Council and the United World Federalists of Marin County. The meeting is open to the public.

MAKE US PROVE THAT ALL PRESCRIPTION PRICES ARE NOT THE SAME!

State code prohibits a druggist from advertising prescription prices! The only way you can find out if you are paying too much is to shop and compare prices!

Is Quality The Same?

Absolutely! Every pharmacist is required by law to fill a prescription exactly as specified by the doctor. No substitution of ingredients or quality of ingredients is tolerated and this is enforced under strict penalty of the law.

Is The Pharmacist Qualified?

Absolutely! Every pharmacist is required by law to undergo 6 years of rigorous training and then pass exacting qualifying examinations before he is permitted to fill your prescription. He must be careful, precise and professionally competent.

Then Why Do Prices Vary?

For the same reason they do in almost any business! Store policy, cost of overhead, volume purchasing . . . these are the major reasons. Some charge more because they sell less. (Perhaps that's why they sell less!). Some because of high overhead cost. (Again, probably because they sell less!). Some even build a reputation by charging more. (Strange in view of the fact that there is no difference in quality!). Some build a reputation for charging less but they really don't. (Too many prescription buyers just take price for granted!). Some do sell for less but prescription prices cannot be advertised. (It's up to you to find out!)

How To Buy A Prescription

It's really one of the easiest things to shop because you are absolutely assured of quality and that leaves price the one and only difference between quotes. You have every right to take your prescription to a pharmacy and ask him to quote his price. You don't have to have it filled until you are satisfied. If you have a standing prescription, your doctor will gladly provide you with another one. This is as good as the original. Don't "lock" yourself in . . . shop and compare!

Carefree Gardening ... with Carefree Geraniums™

F₁ hybrid, the status symbol of flowering plants, brings new distinction to geraniums with the introduction of the Carefree strain for 1968 gardens.

It took a little doing. Hybridizers of the Pan-American Seed Company of West Chicago worked at it for eight years, but it was worth the effort. They came up with eight colorful varieties that grow true to color from seed and which develop into robust, superior plants as hybrids should.

Three of the varieties are so outstanding that they were chosen for All-America awards for 1968, an unqualified endorsement of their value for planting in home gardens everywhere. They are:

Carefree Bright Pink—Intense rose-pink flowers of this variety won the favor of the All-America judges, as they will yours.

There's sparkling appeal in the vibrant hues of the five other varieties, too. They are:

Carefree Red, an intense salmon-red; Carefree Light Salmon, which is almost peach in color; Carefree Light Pink, a delicate pink; Carefree Picotee, a charmer with white petals edged with rose-red, and Carefree White, which is truly white and bright.

All of the virtues of hybrid breeding—vigor, abundant flowering, and disease resistance—put the Carefrees in a class by themselves. And their name is no idle whim, as you'll discover how little care they need to perform like the winners they are.

Plant them generously in your beds and borders next spring, and brighten your window boxes with a few. You'll enjoy them all summer.

Basketball's Money War Out In Open

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The pro basketball money war broke into the open yesterday. The flames were fanned by the National Basketball Association's announcement that it has completed the first round of its college player draft.

"What about their pledge to allow these ballplayers to play in the Olympics?" was American Basketball Association Commissioner George Mikan's retort.

IN A SPOT

"This puts us in a terrible spot," added Mikan. "They're going out and signing all these fellows. What is their feeling on the Olympics? Now we'll have to go ahead and try to sign them, too."

The ABA held what Mikan called an evaluation session nearly a month ago at Louisville, Ky., at which time each ABA team picked the names of four players to negotiate with.

"We're going ahead with our draft on April 27 in Los Angeles," Mikan said. "Our teams still are in consultation with the players whose names they received at our Louisville meeting.

UNHOLY WAR

"I guess we have to enter into the unholy war of going after these ballplayers."

The Houston Mavericks of the ABA reportedly offered Houston University star Elvin Hayes first $500,000 then $750,000 but he signed with San Diego of the NBA for a reported $440,000, four-year contract.

"You can't win them all," Mikan said of that loss. "We wish the boy well in his future."

The Baltimore Bullets of the NBA and Kentucky of the ABA both have drafted rights to Westley Unseld of Louisville, and the opening bid reportedly is $500,000.

CANADIAN GRID TEAM LIKES NAME WILLIAMS

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — The British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League announced three player signings today and you can lump them all under one surname: Williams.

The three imports are Ralph, Richard and Malcolm Williams and they are not related.

Ralph Williams, 23, is a 6-foot-2, 235-pound defensive end from Allen University in Columbia, S. C.; Richard, 26, is a 5-10, 190-pound speedster from South Carolina, and Malcolm, 25, is a 6-2, 245-pound guard from Santa Barbara J. C.

Here's Skyscraper On Arizona Dessert

Phoenix — Farms in Berkeley? Skyscrapers in the desert? The latter is just as unlikely as the former, but there it was, jutting out of the plains like a perpendicular oasis — the San Francisco Giants' Francisco Grande Hotel and Motor Inn. A glittering showpiece for our national pastime.

Located five miles from Casa Grande and midway between Phoenix and Tucson — as the buzzard flies — Francisco Grande is a beautiful resort the year 'round and also a training base for the Giants and their farm system during the spring.

The hotel is a nine-story beauty that startles many a traveler rising dramatically out of the middle of nowhere. It is surrounded by 360 acres of greenery including four baseball diamonds and an eight-hole golf course. Baseball is the theme throughout and its two swimming pools are shaped like a bat and ball.

Given A Royal Tour

The 80 members of the Bay Area Giants Boosters Club here to follow their favorite ballclub in spring training were given a royal tour of the unique resort the other day as special guests of Horace Stoneham, the club president.

As a training base it is second to none. The Giants' parent team works out there in the early spring before moving into Phoenix for its exhibition schedule then the farm clubs move into Dandy Grande.

Presently there are five clubs working out at Francisco Grande — Phoenix, Salt Lake City, Fresno, Decatur and Amarillo. For games there is a 3,200-seat ballpark. For general practice sessions there are three diamonds, in the center of which is an observation tower where coaches easily can scout all the athletes.

The weather in this country at this time of the year is beautiful but during Tuesday's tour it was unusually cold and windy. The hospitable host Stoneham thinks of everything. He even ordered Candlestick Park weather to make his Boosters Club guests feel right at home.

It's A Diamond In The Rough

If you're ever in this neck of the desert — Francisco Grande even has an airport — I'd advise you to take a tour of the resort. It literally is a diamond in the rough.

The Boosters Club will be returning to the Bay Area tonight after eight days toying in Arizona. A funny think happened today. Just as this lively group was checking out of the Caravan Inn the mental health conference delegates were checking in. I think there might be something significant there.

GIANT NOTES: During a visit with Stoneham in the dugout before yesterday's game, the squire of Candlestick Park gave us a little idea of the big business of baseball, to wit: Ball clubs spend approximately $300,000 to develop each average major leaguer, or, look at it this way: Nine men on the field at one time represents an investment of $2.7 million. With 25 men on each of the major league's 20 rosters — let's see now, where did I put my piggy bank. Walter Blake supervisor of Petrini Market in Greenbrae had a nice chat yesterday with Ron Hunt, the newly-acquired Giant second baseman. Hunt is a close personal friend of Redwood High School teacher Lyle Fisher and Ron said: "I sure love the country over there in Marin County. I'd like to live there because I think it's the nicest part of the Bay Area. But my family's not coming out to the coast this season so I'll be staying with some players either in San Francisco or down the Peninsula."

New Orleans Fans Finally Come Out To See Cagers

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "I think New Orleans has accepted us finally," said Buccaneer Coach Babe McCarthy after his team won its American Basketball Association Western Division semifinal playoff series with Denver.

A standing room only crowd of 6,500 saw New Orleans come up with a big third quarter last night and beat the Rockets 102-97. The Bucs won their three playoff games at home, losing two to Denver on the road.

It was the season's largest home attendance for New Orleans. Although the Bucs led the Western Division most of the regular season, they floundered at the gate at home.

"It's been a long hard fight," McCarthy, said, "but I think New Orleans people realize we can give 'em good entertainment."

The Bucs open a best-of-7 series for the Western Division title with the Dallas Chaparrals here tomorrow night. The winner plays the Eastern Division titlist.

Big Doug Moe interrupted McCarthy's postgame commentary to explain: "Now tonight's game was a technically good game, but it was a hustling contest and exciting for the fans. Denver didn't get the breaks going down to the wire and we did."

For quite a while it didn't appear as if Denver really needed any breaks. The Rockets roared away in the first half, outshooting and outhustling the host team. New Orleans was behind 47-43 at intermission and trailed by 10 points early in the third period.

OUCH! THAT SURE SMARTS

Houston first baseman Rusty Staub drops his bat and grabs his arm after being plunked with a pitch by Detroit pitcher Mickey Lollich in the fourth inning of yesterday's exhibition game in Cocoa, Fla. Staub shook off the pain and stayed in the game. Detroit catcher is Arlo Brunsberg. (AP Wirephoto)

Killy To Ski Last Big One

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP) — Jean-Claude Killy, the world's greatest skier, said today he will ski the final big race of his career on Sunday at Heavenly Valley, last of the World Cup events.

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP) — The top ski racers of a dozen nations trained at Heavenly Valley today for the last of the season's World Cup races.

Among the racers were Austrian star Karl Schranz and Canadian champion Nancy Greene. The french superman Jean-Claude Killy arrived last night but there was a question whether he would race.

"We're really in trouble" said Willy Schaeffler, technical delegate of the meet, as he looked up the sun-baked East Bowl slope where slalom and giant slalom events will be staged Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Schaeffler said the slope, which will be used for all races, was being groomed at night to preserve the snow as long as possible. Day after warm day the snow line has been receding up the mountain. The finish line of all races will be at least a quarter mile up the mountain.

Early arriving racers yesterday headed up to 10,000 feet for free skiing beneath a cloudless blue sky with Lake Tahoe sparking 4,000 feet below.

It was not certain whether the Olympic triple gold medalist came here to race, or to collect his second straight World Cup crown Sunday. Killy got enough points to assure his victory last week in British Columbia.

It was rumored that he would enter at least one race, which would be his last before launching a new career in auto racing.

Miss Greene, gold and silver medalist at Grenoble, is almost as sure that she has won the ladies World Cup crown for the second straight year. She has 186 points toward the Cup. Another 14 would sew it up.

The shortage gives Isabelle Mir of France a technical chance to tie for the girls' crown. That would happen if she won both slalom and giant slalom, and Nancy disqualified.

But whatever happens, Nancy says she will retire after the current meet and go back to college.

The first event of the World Cup finale will be the men's giant slalom at 9 a.m. tomorrow followed by the women's giant slalom at 11 a.m.

Four Giants Due Some Bad News

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Four players were supposed to get the sad news later today as the San Francisco Giants trimmed their roster to the opening day limit of 25.

Three youngsters—a catcher and two infielders—and one of the veteran pitchers were picked as the likely minor league candidates by sportswriters who have covered the Giants since they opened spring training in Casa Grande.

Manager Herman Franks, discussing his plans after the Giants lost 7-6 to the Chicago Cubs in 11 innings yesterday, also said he has not decided on an opening day catcher between Jack Hiatt and Bob Barton.

DIETZ OUT

Dick Dietz, considered the No. 1 catcher before his recent sickness, is not ready for heavy duty. He recently returned from a San Francisco hospital where he underwent treatment for high blood pressure and dizzy spells.

The Giants scored in the eighth to make it 3-2, but in the ninth, the Cubs blasted Frank Linzy for four runs on six consecutive hits.

The Giants came back to tie it 6-6 in their half of the ninth on a single by Jesus Alou, a double by Dave Marshall and triples by Nate Oliver and Bob Ethridge.

Good Ski Conditions Reported For Norcal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Spring snow conditions prevailed at most Northern California resorts today but many reported packed powder.

Skiing was good to very good.

The 10 a.m. report from the California State Automobile Association:

Interstate 80: Sugar Bowl, Donner Ski Ranch, Soda Springs, Boreal Ridge 60-120 inches. Sugar Bowl has packed powder and spring snow, other resorts have spring snow.

Highway 89: Squaw Valley, Alpine Meadows, Papoose Peak, Tahoe Ski Bowl and Homewood 20-87 inches; spring snow throughout.

Highway 50: Heavenly Valley 53 inches, powder to spring snow; Echo Summit 36 inches, spring; Sierra Ski Ranch 12-51 inches, spring.

Highway 4: Bear Valley 88 inches, spring.

Mt. Shasta: Ski Bowl 120 inches, packed powder.

Mt. Lassen: 75 inches, spring.

Yosemite: Badger Pass 42 inches, packed powder.

Nevada: Slide Mountain and Mt. Rose 48-97 inches, spring; Incline 18 inches, marginal operations pending new storm; Tannebaum closed pending new storm.

Bill Munson Says He'll Leave Rams

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bill Munson, the Los Angeles Rams' reserve quarterback, said yesterday that he will not be with the National Football League club for the 1968 season.

He played his option out last season and will be eligible to make a deal with another NFL team after May 1.

"It looked like I was going to stay but it didn't work out," the 26-year-old Munson said. "I most definitely won't be back."

Group Seeking Successor For Cal Post

BERKLEY (AP) — A six-member committee has been named to screen applicants and select a successor to Pete Newell, California athletic director.

Newell's resignation is effective in July.

Earl Cheit, executive vice chancellor at the university, heads the committee, which includes Lou Kirtman, high hurdler and one of the 40 Black Athletes who two months ago accused the athletic department of discrimination.

Another member of the committee, named Wednesday, is William G. Dauben, professor of chemistry and member of a fact-finding committee that recently recommended improved racial relations after looking into the Negro athletes' demands.

Mr. Cepeda Strikes Out In His Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals, in a three-judge decision, has upheld a U. S. District Court verdict denying Orlando Cepeda's $1 million suit against Look Magazine.

The decision, announced yesterday, also upheld instructions that U. S. Dist. Judge Stanly A. Weigel made to the jury in November, 1967. Cepeda's appeal challenged the judge's statements.

Cepeda, St. Louis Cardinal first baseman who was then with the San Francisco Giants, had charged he was libeled by an article written in 1963 by Tim Cohane, then sports editor of Look.

Cepeda was portrayed in the article as not being a team player and a player who did not always put forth his best efforts.

Weigel instructed the jury that it must determine if the article showed malice or was guilty of irresponsible reporting.

In upholding the verdict and Weigel's instructions, the appeals court decision said, "The burden of proof was rightly placed upon Cepeda to prove, if he could, actual malice or extreme departure from the standards of investigation and reporting."

In Canadian Open

TORONTO (AP) — Billy Casper, Art Wall, Gene Littler, and Doug Ford will compete in the Canadian Open Golf Championship June 20-23, it was announced yesterday.

Senate Committee Makes First Move In Track Squabble

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate Committee made the first move today toward congressional intervention to enforce peace in the bitter track war between the nation's colleges and the Amateur Athletic Union.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, announced his group would meet as soon as possible, probably within the next week, to "consider alternatives which are obviously necessary."

TURNED DOWN

The National Collegiate Association and its ally, the U.S. Track and Field Federation, turned down yesterday a settlement suggested by a Senate-backed arbitration board. Magnuson said he was "absolutely astounded" by the rejection.

The USTFF, meanwhile, asked the Justice Department to begin an immediate antitrust investigation of the AAU's control over sanctioning track meets. The USTFF made it clear that if the government doesn't go to court, it will.

The colleges promised the feud won't affect America's prospects in the 1968 Olympic Games in Mexico City this October and declared a truce until Nov. 1.

LION'S SHARE

Magnuson said earlier the committee would take steps to write a settlement into law, building it around the proposal already spurned by the colleges. The arbitration panel's recommendations left the AAU with the lion's share of the compromise on track control.

The commerce committee chairman said he would call an immediate meeting after conferring with Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., who has a bill pending to create a super group to oversee amateur athletics. Congressional sources said the committee meeting probably would be scheduled before the Easter recess a week from today.

Bando Feels His 'Slump' Is All Over

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Sal Bando has had his slump for the 1968 baseball season, he hopes.

Bando broke out of what he called "a mild slump" yesterday as he homered and singled in the Oakland Athletics' 9-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox in Winter Haven.

The A's met the St. Louis Cardinals today and leave tonight for Birmingham, Ala., where they will begin a three-game series with the Cincinnati Reds.

FIRST INNING

Bando stroked a two-run homer in the first inning off Jose Santiago and singled in another run in the eighth, in which singles by John Donaldson, Ramon Webster and a sacrifice fly by Danny Cater, brought in another run.

Donaldson's double, Cater's single, two walks and Phil Roof's sacrifice fly contributed to three runs in the seventh.

NINTH HOMER

It was Bando's ninth homer of the spring, but his first in the last eight games.

Going so long without a homer didn't bother him, said Bando.

"As long as I am hitting, the homers will come," he said.

MIAMI WINS TUG OF WAR OVER CSONKA

MIAMI (AP) — The Miami Dolphins won a tug of war with the Canadian Football League today by signing their No. 1 draft choice, record-breaking fullback Larry Csonka of Syracuse.

The American Football League club declined to release any details of the contract, including money or duration, but managing partner Joe Robbie said the terms "recognze Csonka as one of the top ball players in America."

The 6-foot-3, 240-pound Csonka, who reportedly had a three-year offer of $100,000 from the Montreal Alouettes, said he was happy with the outcome of the Dolphin negotiations.

They started yesterday afternoon immediately after Csonka flew in from Syracuse.

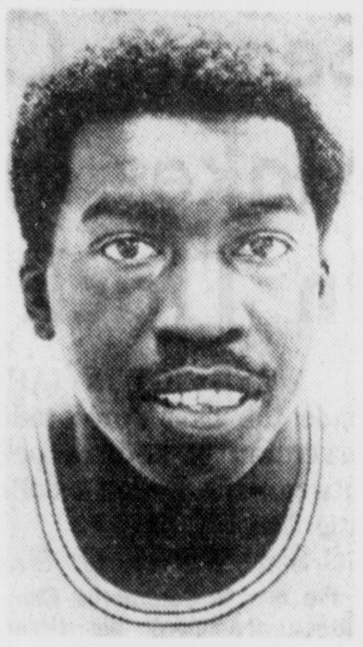
Monroe Named NBA Top Rookie

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl Monroe of the Baltimore Bullets was named the National Basketball Association's Rookie of the Year for the 1967-68 season, the league announced yesterday.

Monroe, fourth highest scorer in the league during the season with 24.3 points a game, received 78 of the 79 ballots cast by sports writers and broadcasters. The lone remaining vote went to Bill Bradley of the New York Knicks.



EARL MONROE
NBA honors

Monroe, a small-college All-American at Winston-Salem College during his senior year, broke all Baltimore single game scoring records with 56 points against Los Angeles on Feb. 13. He will receive $500 for winning the award.

BASKETBALL

MILWAUKEE — Larry Costello, recently retired from the Philadelphia 76ers, was named head coach of the new Milwaukee franchise in the National Basketball Association and John Erickson, head coach at the University of Wisconsin, was named the team's general manager.

SWIMMING

TENNIS

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — Vicky Rogers of Rye, N.Y., upset Leslie Turner Bowery of Australia 6-4, 6-3- in the Caribe Hilton Tennis Tournament.

BOWLING

AKRON, Ohio — Dick Weber of St. Louis totalled 3,442 for his first 16 games and took the lead in the $100,000 Firestone Professional Bowlers Association Tournament of Champions.

CINCINNATI — Norm Abrams contributed 592 to his Schmidt's Beer team 2,980 total, then turned in the highest individual effort of the day at the American Bowling Congress Tournament with a 1,813 in all-events.

HORSE RACING

ARCADIA, Calif. — Mellow Marsh, $3.60, broke last but came on in the stretch to capture the Fresno Fair Handicap at Santa Anita.

ALBANY, Calif. — Miss Sabra, $14.60, easily won the Marina Purse at Golden Gate Fields by three lengths over Miss Machete.

Cubs Purchase First Baseman

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Washington Senators sold first baseman Dick Nen to the Chicago Cubs today for a sum slightly in excess of the $20,000 baseball waiver price.

Earlier this week, the Senators assigned Nen to their Buffalo farm club of the International League. Nen, a fancy-fielding first baseman, batted .231 in parts of three seasons with the Senators.

Bad Day For Major League Pitchers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dave Morehead, who once pitched a no-hitter for the Boston Red Sox, and Bill Rohr, who once almost did, will be doing their throwing in the minors this year.

The Red Sox optioned Morehead, who threw Boston's last no-hitter in 1965, to their Louisville farm team Wednesday. Rohr, who came within one out of hurling a hitless game against the Yankees in his first start last season, was released outright.

BAD DAY

It was, in fact, a bad day for pitchers all around. The Cincinnati Reds optioned out 19-year-old Gary Nolan, 14-8 last year, to the minors because of arm trouble. And the New York Yankees sent Steve Barber to their Syracuse farm.

Also, the Red Sox optioned Darrell Brandon and the New York Mets gave Hal Reniff, a mainstay of the Yankees in better days, his outright release.

In exhibition action yesterday, Detroit beat Houston 3-1, Washington edged Baltimore 3-2, Atlanta pounded the Yankees 7-1, Pittsburgh downed Cincinnati 4-3, Oakland crushed Boston 9-2, Cleveland outslugged Los Angeles 10-8.

Also the Chicago Cubs outlasted San Francisco 7-6 in 11 innings, California beat its Seattle farm club 2-1 and Philadelphia nipped St. Louis 5-4.

Mickey Stanley's three-run homer in the third inning gave Detroit all the runs it needed to win. Mickey Lolich and Dennis Ribant combined to stop the Astros on five hits.

Sam Bowens hit a homer in the ninth for Washington's victory margin over Baltimore. The Senators have a spring record of 17-6, best in the majors.

The Braves beat the Yankees on six runs in the fourth inning. Atlanta put together five singles, a walk, a wild pitch, a passed ball an error.

BUNNING GOES NINE

Jim Bunning went the distance for the Pirates and survived a rally in the ninth inning with the tying run on third, by retiring Pete Rose and Alex Johnson.

Vern Fuller drove in four runs, three with a homer for Cleveland. The Indians didn't wrap the game up until Angel rookie pitcher Vicente Romo's throwing error let in the tie-breaking run.

Cookie Rojas and Mike Ryan each drove in two runs for the Phillies. Rojas homered in the first and Ryans two-run double in the eighth provided the winning runs.

Eight NHL Teams Open Playoff Action

By Associated Press

The chase for the Stanley Cup, hockey's most cherished piece of hardware, begins to-night at four National Hockey League sites.

The Chicago Black Hawks, who finished a stumbling fourth in the NHL's East Division, play the second place Rangers at New York and East champion Montreal hosts third place Boston.

In the West Division playoffs, St. Louis, which finished third, visits champion Philadelphia and second place Los Angeles entertains Minnesota, which finished fourth.

All series are best-of-seven games.

Last year's Cup champions, the Toronto Maple Leafs, finished fifth in the East Division and did not qualify for the playoffs.

And the Black Hawks, last year's regular season champions, entered the Cup showdown with a host of problems, among them a six-game winless streak in the final two weeks of the regular season which slid them from second to fourth place.

Then there are injuries. Scoring champion Stan Mikita was a doubtful starter for tonight's opening game because of a back injury and Bobby Hull and Denis DeJordy also were nursing bruises.

"I'm having treatments," said Mikita, "but the worse thing is I don't know what the trouble is."

Peggie Gets Her Second White House Invitation

NEW YORK (AP) — What does a president talk about when he meets a queen?

"Oh, not politics, Vietnam or anything like that," pretty Peggy Fleming said today, gushing over the invitation from President Johnson to make her second visit to the White House.

"He is a wonderful man—I adore him. When he received me last week in his office, the President wanted to talk about the Olympics, the countries I had visited and the people I had seen.

"He pinned a flower on me. He gave me a bracelet and a pin and he joked about my helping the gold drain by bringing back a gold medal."

The President has invited the 19-year-old world figure skating queen to dinner at the White House next Wednesday night, her second command appearance in less than two weeks.

Perhaps Mr. Johnson wants to talk to Peggy about balancing the national budget.

GREENSBORO OPEN GOLF

Most Big Names On Hand

GREENSOBRO, N.C. (AP) — The professional golf tour, which has produced eight one-stroke victories in 11 major events this year, pitched camp at the Sedgefield Country Club today for the Greater Greensboro Open, worth a record $137,500.

Competition through the first quarter of the year has been especially keen. Of the eight events decided by a single stroke, two required sudden death playoffs.

The widest spread between victor and runnerup has been three strokes.

Attention centered on the efforts of Arnold Palmer to sharpen his game for next week's Masters at Augusta, Ga. Although he has played the four-day, 72-hole GGO often, he has not been eminently successful. His best finish in the GGO was last year when he finished third behind winner George Archer, four shots off the pace at 271 over the par 71 course measuring 7,034 yards.

Four years ago, when Palmer won his fourth Masters, he played at Greensboro the week before and did no better than a tie for 13th, shooting 286.

Top contenders include Doug Sanders, twice a GGO champion and winner of over $46,000 in GGO money; Julius Boros, another who has won here; and such foreign threats as Gary Player, Bob Charles, Bruce Crampton, Harold Henning and Bob Verwey.

And then there's Sam Snead. The one-time Virginia hillbilly, whose tournament appearances are limited sharply, has won here eight times, starting with the 1938 inaugural. His most recent triumph came three years ago at the age of 52, making him the oldest winner of a PGA tour event.

Sam has won over $45,000 here in 27 appearances. In addition to his eight victories he has been second or third nine times.

The last four holes will be televised nationally on Saturday and Sunday. The winner will receive $27,500.

Among the few top notchers absent are Jack Nicklaus, Canadian George Knudson, two-time winner this year, and Englishman Tony Jacklin, who won at Jacksonville, Fla., last Sunday.

In Wednesday's $5,000 pro-am warmup, Player carded a three under par 68 in the rain to win top money of $500. The little South African was one stroke ahead of Don Bies of Seattle, Wash., whose 69 earned him $425.

Yes, It Was Long Season For Oaks

OAKLAND (UPI) — Figures showed today it was a long season for the American Basketball Association's Oakland Oaks at the box office as well as on the court.

Thirty Oaks games at home drew 76,178; nine at home courts outside Oakland drew but 9,859 and road games pulled 88,576. It all comes out to about 2,500 a game at home and 2,300 on the road.

The smallest crowd was 605 which turned up at the Coliseum during the Oaks' 17-game losing streak. The largest home crowd was just two days earlier, when 5,402 showed up to watch Oakland battle rival Anaheim.

It's Road Runner Baseball Season

By GARY TISCHLER

Larry Blackwell, the Redwood outfielder who is the Baseball version of "The Flash," has, since arriving at Redwood, stolen 30 bases out of 31 tries. This year, he's seven-for-seven, although he has only one hit.

The whole league, in fact, has been running itself dizzy. Redwood stole six bases against Novato, Terra Linda ran for six stolen bases against Tamalpais and had eight in a non-league contest. Marin Catholic had eight against Tamalpais.

And it's not the usual first-to-second steal. They're stealing everything but the umpire's pants this year, going for third and home in the bargain. Redwood executed a double steal of second and home against Novato.

Terra Linda coach Jess Payan must feel like a genius this week. He brought up sophomore Dewey Forrey from the junior varsity against Cardinal Newman Tuesday and Forrey responded with a three-for-three showing, including two triples and six runs batted in in a 7-6 Trojan win.

Russ Dillon, bothered by injuries in the early part of the season, made his return to mound warfare against Redwood. The former Babe Ruth League star who hurled Novato into the Babe Ruth World Series had some of his form, allowing only four hits, but the layoff showed in nine walks and a wild pitch. Watch out when this boy gets back in form.

If Bob Luiz, the ace of the Drake pitching staff, ever gets healthy, it will bode ill for the MCAL hitters.

Luiz is suffering from a sore arm, but he still hurled six innings of two-hit shutout ball against Redwood before retiring, then hurled three and two-thirds innings of two-hit ball against San Rafael before the sore arm forced him out of the game.

MOST OF THE MCAL swimming coaches saw San Rafael's bubbles burst when the Bulldogs came up. But once again Tuesday, it didn't happen, despite expert predictions. San Rafael picked up a 49-46 victory over Redwood with that last-event relay turning the trick again.

The unbeaten Bulldogs will have more trouble against Tamalpais, whose 400-meter relay team has the best time in the league in the 3:35 range and coach Norm Cady says they can do better than that.

Drake's Bob Girvin has to be one of the best swimmers in the county. His 4:07 in the 400 free borders on the range of a sub-four minute mile and he swims just about every event, and swims it well. He's a great one. As one coach said when hearing of the 4:07 "that's really moving."

MURDERER'S ROW Department: The MCAL teams forced to face Redwood in the singles matches of a tennis meet face an ominous task: Mike Machette, Steve McDonald, and Bob Knight, all of them veterans of the junior net circuit and all of them rated.

Against Lincoln, which had inflicted the only loss on the Novato varsity earlier in the season, the Hornets came up with six sub-80 rounds in an 18-hole match, having to leave one poor fellow off the list with a 79. Most teams would put that score at the head of the class.

Leach, in that match, came up with a par 71 at Indian Valley, shooting a 39 on the first nine and a hot 32 on the back nine.

Novato coach Al Scott asked him if he changed something he was doing wrong.

"No, coach, I just bore down," Leach said.

"I think we're ready for the league," Scott said after the match.

Pacific-Eight Heads Back NCAA Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Tom Hamilton, executive director of the Pacific Eight, has backed the United States Track and Field Federation's rejection of a proposed compromise in its feud with the AAU. He called for a reorganization of amateur sports in this country.

Earlier yesterday, the USTFF told the Senate Commerce Committee that a proposed compromise was "unworkable." The Pacific Eight is a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association which supports the USTFF.

"Since the AAU would not submit the issues to binding arbitration, I believe the U.S. Track and Field Federation is correct in not accepting the decision," Hamilton said.

"Self-serving politics should be removed from amateur sports," he added. "And a single purpose organization should be formed in the American way where the government is formed and operated with the consent of the governed.

"In my opinion, the answer is to completely reorganize the amateur sports structure and for the United States not to attempt to limp along on the present, inadequate makeshift methods which the board of arbitration would perpetuate."

Tennis Pros Might Skip Wimbledon

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The historic first Wimbledon Open championships may be played without the touring pros of the National Tennis League.

"The amateurs still want to control the game even though the pros are supplying the money," promoter George MacCall said yesterday.

MacCall's league is made up of 10 of the world's top professionals—six men and four women.

They are Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall, Fred Stolle, Roy Emerson, Pancho Gonzales, Andres Gimeno, Billie Jean King, Rosemary Casals, Ann Haydon Jones and Francoise Durr.

MacCall also said his tour would not compete in the two-week French Open in May.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

STEVENS

Several months ago, I was asked to name one type of fishing in this part of California that furnished the most sport, and was the most productive; that furnished the greatest variety of fish; was economical, and could be practiced by anglers of all ages and of either sex.

I have received a short letter from the person who had asked for the information. It began with the following statement: "I am a convert to deep sea fishing. Everything you told me has proved true!"

THE LETTER goes on to describe a deep sea trip last Saturday. The writer made no mention of the area fished, nor the name of the boats and the name of its skipper, but the fact that the trip was last Saturday, the boat was very likely the Blue Horizon, working out of Sausalito Boat and Tackle.

I had a phone call on Monday from Betty Urbais of the Sausalito Bait and Tackle Shop. Betty reported the Blue Horizon as having a very successful trip on Saturday. "Thirty-nine limits, Ralph, 780 assorted deep sea fish and 4 ling cod."

The area fished, Betty said, was the Farralon Islands.

SOME TIME ago I was asked what sort of fish were taken. That was a question hard to answer, there are a great many species of rockfish which may populate an area such as the deep water off the Farralones. When you feel a nudge on your line and bait resting 100 feet from the surface, you may reel in a Garibaldi (which you may not keep as it is protected at present;) you may catch and keep, however, a Halfmoon, Bocaccio, Yellow-tailed Rockfish, Starry Rockfish, China Rockfish, Cabezone, Black Croaker, Cultus Cod, Spotfin Croaker, California Sea-Trout, Sablefish, California Halibut, Chili-pepper, or one or more fish labeled simply Rockfish.

So, if you like variety in your fishing you sure have it hereabouts. And if you are fond of fish to eat, a freshly caught Rockfish properly prepared is a dish you'll long remember. I haven't mentioned several other species of rockfish such as the Bluefish, the Blood Red Rockfish, and, of course, the highly prized Ling Cod. The Ling comes very close to being a game fish.

SOME TIME TRY fishing for small bluefish (usually not at the bottom, but maybe a few feet beneath the surface.) You many also hook a salmon—lots of them taken by rock fishermen. Also, don't throw back an octopus, they make good eating.

Regarding the tackle needed for deep sea rockfishing, your regular striped bass outfit is just right for rod and line, but you will need a supply of 16-ounce sinkers on a releaser.

Hurdler Davenport Is Off Track Team

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Star hurdler Willie Davenport, ranked as the world's best in 1967, is no longer a member of Southern University's track team, Athletic Director U.S. Jones disclosed yesterday.

"Because of his expressed individuality as a performer," was the reason given by Jones.

Lakers Present New Problems, Says Sharman

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors start their second round of NBA playoffs tomorrow night against Los Angeles on the Lakers' home court.

The Warriors are 0-3 at Inglewood, but then they were 1-7 against St. Louis and still somehow beat the Hawks 4-2 in the first-round playoffs.

Coach Bill Sharman says the Lakers present different problems than did the Hawks.

"St. Louis is a muscle team which works well under the basket. We were able to beat them with our quickness and outside shooting.

"But the Lakers are also quick," the Warrior mentor continues, "in fact, they may be the quickest team in the league. And they have the outside shooting, too."

Sharman feels the series "is going to be decided by the team that can find the open man. There is going to be a lot of movement out on the court."

DiGrazia Near .300 At Fresno

"This is his first opportunity to play on the varsity, and he sure is a pleasant surprise," said Fresno State College baseball coach Pete Beiden in describing Bill DiGrazia.

DiGrazia, a graduate of Terra Linda High School, has earned a starting role for the Fresno State College baseball team in centerfield.

After 19 games, Bill is ranked eighth among the hitters. His batting average is .293. He has been to bat 41 times and has 12 hits. He scored five runs and has three extra base hits including two triples and one double.

His best game of the season was in the opener of the California Collegiate Athletic Association tourney last week against San Diego State when he went three for four including a triple and batted in one run.

Bill is a junior majoring in art.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Holiday Inn Stock Still A Good Buy

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Why has Holiday Inns declined to about 42 since I purchased 100 shares at 52? I'm 38 years old, interested in capital growth. I also own Universal Oil Products at 54. Do you recommend holding both these stocks? — R.O.

A. Yes, indeed. I think that they are both well suited to your objective. As a relatively fast growth issue, Holiday Inns was perhaps more vulnerable to a general market decline. Your shares lost about what the market gave up percentagewise.

You must also take into account a rather large secondary offering that was registered with the SEC in February and went on public sale March 15 at $42.375. Until this block is disposed of — on behalf of some management stockholders wanting cash for personal reasons— market action will tend to be sluggish. I understand the offering has gone well.

When the market stabilizes, Holiday Inns should again move up on earnings that are expected to show another sizable gain for fiscal 1968, ending June 30. The best quarters of the year have customarily been those ending in June and September. You have done very well with Universal Oil Products which is about to be split 2-for-1. Shareholders vote on this proposal in May. After the split, a somewhat higher dividend is expected.

Q. I would like to buy Admiral Corp. I never invested in plastic before. Would I be doing wrong?—I.C.

A. Admiral Plastics Corp., now called APL Corp. (American Exchange), is not totally involved in plastics, as this operation represents only one of four main divisions. Activities also include manufacturing and distributing health and beauty aids, some drugs and vitamins.

Although long-term earnings growth should develop from APL's many and varied acquisitions — a fair start has already been made — two issues of convertible preferred plus outstanding options and warrants could dilute earnings by approximately 50 per cent. In my judgment your investment funds would be better employed in a growth stock like Talon Corp.

Refinery Process Cuts Pollution

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Scientists of Standard Oil Co. of California have announced development of a process for removing pollutants from refinery waste water.

The new method removes hydrogen sulfide and ammonia from waste water. Produced are pure water, which is re-used by the refinery, hydrogen sulfide (used in making pure sulfur or sulfuric acid), and pure ammonia, both of which can be sold.

Currently there is a worldwide sulfur shortage, and ammonia is in great demand as a basic ingredient of manufactured fertilizers.

The new system has been under full-scale test at Standard's Richmond refinery, for two years. According to the company executives, it has reduced both air and water pollution, paid for itself in a year, and is now earning a profit from the previously discarded by-products.

Wall Street Trade Eases After Record

A rally by airlines and steels featured a cautious market which reflected caution concerning prospects for long negotiations to achieve peace in Vietnam.

Volume for the first four hours was 10.27 million shares compared with 15.43 million for the like period yesterday.

Wall Street took a sober second look at the chance for a start in negotiations with North Vietnam and concluded that the road to peace would be a long and rocky one, as it was in the Korean War. At the same time there were profits to be taken and caution prevailed prior to the weekend.

Thereafter stocks felt their way along cautiously, with profit-taking losses accompanied by selective reinvestment and, in the case of airlines, a sudden rally which left many analysts mystified. Street sources were not aware of any news which could have caused the airlines to rally, but they cited their oversold condition as tempting to bargain hunters.

Delta Order In For Jetliners

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Delta Air Lines signed a contract today for 24 Lockheed jet airliners that will carry 250 passengers each.

The $360 million order was the largest ever placed by Delta president Charles H. Dolson said The contract calls for delivery to begin late in 1971, with the last of the $15 million jets to be delivered in 1975.

Earlier, Lockheed had announced other orders for 144 of the jumbo aircraft.

Hub Building Permits $119,542 For March

Eighteen building and repair permits for a total construction cost of $119,542 were issued last month by the San Anselmo building department.

Building costs for permits issued in February were $432,733. The total was $110,852 for March of 1967.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Carpet Firm Sets Opening In Northgate Industrial Park

A new rug and carpet business expected to open next week is Stan Mertel Carpets, at 77 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park.

Owner Stanley E. Mertel of Novato is hoping to move in over the weekend and be ready for business Monday morning. He has taken 2,000 square feet here, will carry extensive lines and keep open Mondays through Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

He was formerly a partner with John J. Mahoney in Carpets Unlimited at 2232 Fourth Street, San Rafael. The partnership was recently dissolved and Mahoney is now carrying on the business as Carpets by Mahoney.

HENRY BROCCO, owner of Greenbrae Pharmacy in the Bon Air Shopping Center, who is also secretary of the board of directors of the new Skymark Airlines, reports that the latter firm is now operating with three De Haviland Twin Otter planes, carrying 19 passengers each.

A new flight schedule calls for trips from the Oakland Airport to Bakersfield and Monterey Mondays through Fridays, and to Fresno, San Jose, Sacramento and Lake Tahoe seven days a week. A trip to Tahoe, for example, $15, is made in an hour and 40 or 50 minutes, with a five to 15-minute stopoff in Sacramento.

Brocco

Ring

EDWARD B. RING of Mill Valley has joined Commonwealth National Bank of San Francisco as vice president and manager of the installment loan department. He was formerly assistant divisional vice president for Northern California offices of the Morris Plan of California and has had managerial positions with that firm at Vallejo, San Jose and San Francisco.

ARCHITECT Mark A. Lechowski of San Rafael has been named an associate of the San Francisco architectural firm of Rex Whitaker Allen and Associates, where he is director of design. He has been with the firm four years and is responsible for several of its projects, including designing the Aldersly Danish Rest Home in San Rafael and the Marin General Hospital master plan.

FRED A. SCHURIG of Mill Valley has been promoted to regional sales manager for American President Lines, covering the territory north of San Francisco, including the East Bay, Marin County and Nevada. He began his career with APL in 1961 as a purser in the company training program. Previously he was a travel agent with Thos. Cook and Son.

Edelstein

La Belle

JOSEPH F. EDELSTEIN of Sleepy Hollow has been elected to the District Business Conduct Committee of the National Association of Security Dealers for the California-Nevada-Hawaii area. He is a partner in Edelstein, Campbell and Co., San Francisco.

RUSSELL W. LABELLE of Sleepy Hollow, securities representative for Blyth and Co., Inc., San Francisco, has been appointed to a three-year term on the advisory board at Bay View Federal Savings and Loan Association. He joined Blyth in 1945.

ROBERT KERNER of Belvedere, who operates Standard 5-10-25 Cent Stores in San Francisco, has joined forces with Melvin Shaw, owner of the Pacific 5-10-15 Cent Store in the city, to form a new company — Shaw Kerner Corp. — to operate Hallmark Stores throughout Northern California. The first store will open in Ghirardelli Square next month. Kerner is president of the new company, Shaw is secretary-treasurer.

THOMAS HEPPER of Sausalito has been appointed zone merchandising manager, new cars, for Chevrolet Motor Division for Northern California and part of Nevada (Oakland zone).

JOHN CUMMINGS of Kentfield, production manager for Honig-Cooper and Harrington, San Francisco, is attending the Gravure Technical Association convention in New York City this week. He is a member of the association's customer relations committee.

VODKA
PATENT No 2,879,165

Demand Gordon's Vodka!

Gordon's Vodka is the nation's fastest growing brand. And for good reason. Gordon's is the only vodka that has a U.S. patent on smoothness. Every drop of Gordon's is screened 15 times to produce the clearest, smoothest, most mixable vodka made.

And here's good news for Californians. Now you can buy Gordon's here. Just ask for it. Better yet, demand Gordon's Vodka.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, April 4, the 95th day of 1968 with 271 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning star is Venus. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1941, President William Henry Harrison died in the White House one month after being inaugurated. On the same day John Tyler became the first vice president to take over the nation following the death of a chief executive.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

Guessing For The Queen Of Trumps Is Sure Move For Quick Disaster

Whenever you try to guess which opponent has the queen of trumps you run the risk of guessing wrong. If you refuse to take a trump finesse you may be able to avoid that risk.

QUEEN OPENING

West opened the queen of clubs, and South won with the king. South led a heart to the ace and returned a heart to try a finesse with the nine. West won with the queen and returned a trump, after which South couldn't make his contract. He had to lose two spades and a diamond in addition to the trump.

South should make his contract by leaving the trumps alone. There is virtually no danger of a ruff, and the danger of an overruff at any late stage of play is no worse than the danger of misguessing the location of the queen of trumps.

STAGES CROSSRUFF

Declarer takes both top clubs, ruffs a club in dummy and then takes the ace of diamonds and gives up a diamond. The plan is to set up a limited crossruff.

East returns the jack of spades for lack of anything better, and this rides around to dummy's king. South ruffs a diamond and leads his last club. When West cannot follow suit, it is safe for dummy to ruff low. (If West had been able to follow suit, declarer would discard a spade from dummy.)

LEAD DIAMOND

Now South leads dummy's last diamond and ruffs in his own hand. (If West had discarded the queen of diamonds, declarer would discard a spade on the jack of diamonds.)

By this time South has successfully ruffed twice in each hand and has eight tricks safely stashed away. Since he still has A-J of trumps in the dummy and K-10 of trumps in his own hand, it is no great feat for him to win ten tricks and his game contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens in third position (after two passes) with one club. The next player passes.

You hold:
♠ A 4 3
♥ Q 6 2
♦ Q 9 7 5
♣ Q J 10

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond.

If you had another jack or a couple of tens instead of the low cards you would jump to 2 notrump. The actual hand is a trifle light for such strong action.

Hawaii's Education Costs Are Going Up

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's public school student teacher ratio has dropped in the past five years from 30.2 students per teacher to 25.3 students. And the cost of educating each student has increased in the same period from $344 in 1962-63 to $582 in 1967-68.

And the cost, says the state Department of Education, will jump to $609 in 1968-69.

DOMINICAN RANCH . . . WITH POOL
This is a really special 3-bdrm., 2½-ba. ranch in desirable and convenient Dominican. You'll be impressed with the solid construction of the house, opulent comfort of the decorative scheme, and the attractive landscaping which includes a pretty pool. Used brick and mellow paneling are used to good advantage in both living rm. and family rm., and the up-to-the-minute kitchen features every woman's dream, a walk-in pantry! Utility rm. also included.
$58,500

ADULT ENTERTAINMENT
Sophisticated couples will like this contemporary home of fine design in Kent Woodlands with an awe-inspiring view. An Oriental influence can be seen in the use of shojis and grasscloth, and the attractive landscaping, which includes a pool, is completely sprinklered. 2 bdrms., 2 baths, dining rm.
$67,000. Eves. 456-1562

CONGENIAL . . .
Habitat for the family that wants a flexible house on more than an acre of land in this desirable area where horses are as welcome as people. Added to the 3 bedrms. and 2 baths is the large guest house with rec. rm., bedrm., bath, and wet bar — perfect for teens or in-laws. The level yard is completely fenced with lawn, patios, orchard and pool, and one area is a logical setup for a children's riding ring. More than $100,000 has been spent on this San Rafael prop., but it can be yours for $79,500. Eves. 456-6037.

HISTORICAL VICTORIAN
Built by Lovell White in 1891, this three-story classic was known as the "Arches." Situated on 1½ acres (in the W. CREAMPUFF '66 BUICK RIVIERA

$3695

We sold this luxury Riviera new in '66 to local couple who just traded back to us on another new Riviera.

Sold new for over $6100. Fully equipped including power seat, power windows, power steering, power brakes, factory air conditioning, chrome wheels, w/w tires, and all the other Riviera luxury extras.

Not a mark of wear anywhere on the car. See it and drive it — you'll buy it.

HALL OF JUSTICE
SITE DEVELOPMENT
MARIN COUNTY CIVIC CENTER

MARIN COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed Proposals will be received by the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, until 10:00 a.m., April 15, 1968, for:

Site development of the Marin County Civic Center Hall of Justice, consisting of grading, asphalt concrete paving on cement treated base and select subgrade; construction of curbs, gutters, sidewalks, islands, retaining wall, drainage structures, sanitary sewer, lighting facilities, telephone conduit, electrical facilities, irrigation systems, and other related construction.

The work shall be done in accordance with official plans and specifications prepared in reference thereto which may be seen at the office of the Department of Public Works, County of Marin. Request for forms or information shall be addressed to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, Civic Center, San Rafael, California.

Plans, Specifications (but not including Standard Specifications or other documents included by reference), and Proposal forms may be obtained by prospective bidders upon payment of a deposit of Ten Dollars ($10.00) (cash or check made payable to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin) to guarantee safe return of the plans and specifications within ten (10) days after bid opening. Failure to so return the plans and specifications will cause forfeiture of the deposit to the County.

All bids must be submitted on the Proposal form obtained from the Director of Public Works and shall be accompanied by a Proposal Guaranty of at least ten percent (10%) of the bid. Guaranties shall be in the form of a certified or Cashier's Check or a Bidder's Bond. Failure of the successful bidder to execute and return the contract, or to file acceptable bond, as required, within the time allotted shall be cause for the annulment of the award and forfeiture of the Proposal Guaranty. All guaranties not so retained by the County shall be returned to the Bidders within fifteen (15) days after the award of the contract.

Proposals shall be filed with George H. Gnoss, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Civic Center, San Rafael, California.

Said proposals will be opened and read at 10:00 a.m. in Room No. 343, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above for receiving bids. Only the total amount bid will be read and not specific items going to make up said total unless written request for reading of each sub-total and individual items of the bid is requested in writing at the time of the submission of proposals. Bidders will be at liberty to inspect and review bids in the Office of the Director of Public Works to which they will be removed for the purpose of checking after the opening and reading of the totals.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will award the bid at 1:30 p.m., April 16, 1968, or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein, and neither partial bids nor contingent bids will be considered.

TIME LIMIT

The contractor shall commence work on or before the fifteenth (15th) day following the date of written notification by the Director of Public Works that the contract has been awarded by the Board of Supervisors. During this fifteen (15) day interval, the necessary contract documents shall be executed by the contractor and returned to the Department of Public Works. All work shall be completed on the project within one-hundred twenty (120) working days counting from and including the said fifteenth (15th) day.

For positions not listed above, the minimum rate paid for skilled, intermediate or unskilled labor shall be not less than minimum wage per hour and shall conform to the particular craft or classification of workmen employed on the project.

Attention is directed to the correlation of the specifications with the Standard Specifications of the State of California, Department of Public Works, Division of Highways, dated July, 1964, as to materials, methods and workmanship.

The contractor whose bid is accepted shall furnish the following bonds to the County (at no expense to the County), executed by a responsible surety acceptable to the County in the prescribed form:

a) Faithful Performance Bond
b) Labor and Materials Bond

The Faithful Performance Bond shall be in an amount equal to one-hundred per cent (100%) of the total amount bid by the contractor in his proposal.

The Labor and Materials Bond shall be in an amount equal to fifty per cent (50%) of the total amount bid by the contractor in his proposal.

EMPLOYEES AND NON-DISCRIMINATION

Contractor shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, religion, color or national origin. This shall include employment, demotion or transfer, recruitment or recruitment advertisement, layoff or termination, rates of pay or other compensation, and selection for training and apprenticeship. Contractor shall post, in conspicuous places during period of contract and available to applicants for employment, notices setting forth the provisions of this clause. Contractor shall insert the foregoing provision in all subcontracts hereunder, except subcontracts for standard commercial supplies or raw materials. The hiring of all labor for work shall be in accordance with applicable directives of the Fair Employment Practices Commission of the State of California. The contractor shall forfeit, as a penalty, in addition to any other penalty provided by law, to County, the sum of $25.00 for each calendar day, or portion thereof, during which the contractor knowingly allows any conditions of discrimination to exist in connection with the work, provided, however, that such penalty shall not be imposed without a full investigation and determination by the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Contractor shall cooperate fully with Marin County and affected Unions to promote and insure the maximum employment of Negroes and Spanish-speaking minorities, with particular emphasis on residents of Marin County, in all phases and at all levels of the work. Contractor shall encourage maximum utilization of apprenticeship and other on-the-job training programs, to achieve this goal.

Tiburon's Gains Cited By Hoffmire

Retiring Tiburon Mayor John S. Hoffmire said today he was leaving his successor with an economical government and a crime-free community.

Hoffmire capsuled the city's achievements during his four years on the city council, including the last two as mayor. His term ends April 16, and he is not up for re-election.

He said the city had the lowest crime rate in the county, yet was spending the least on police services.

Hoffmire also reported that Tiburon had the third lowest total of municipal employees in Marin, ranking behind only Belvedere and Ross.

"Our ration of employees is only 2.63 per 1,000 people," the mayor said. "No city in Marin has less than 2 per 1,000 and the highest has 6.41 per 1,000."

He added that, in 1966-67, Tiburon spent $3,763 per citizen for operating expenses, higher only than Novato, which spent $3,494.

Hoffmire praised unity on the city council, said correction of street drainage was "the first real thing anybody had done in 20 years to relieve downtown flooding problems," and applauded new zoning restrictions, landscaping projects and a start in undergrounding utilities as major achievements in recent years.

Student Transferred To Juvenile Court

Steven Alan Bajor, 18, of 51 Marin Avenue, Mill Valley, was certified to Juvenile Court from Marin Municipal Court yesterday to face a charge of being in a place where marijuana is used.

Star Observers Of Marin Slate Astronomy Talks

Star Observers of Marin, an astronomy study group, will sponsor a Bay Area astronomical meeting, open to the public, at the Marin Civic Center at 3 p.m. April 20.

Speaking at the session at the supervisors' chambers will be R. F. Barbera of Optica B/C Co. on "Astrophotography for the Amateur," H. L. Sowers, manager of electro-optics research section of Optics Technology Inc., about "Image Intensification in Astronomy" and John E. Gaustad, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of California at Berkeley, on "Interstellar Dust."

After the session there will be a dinner at the Pepperwood restaurant in San Anselmo, and, weather permitting, a star observing session after dinner, reported Mel Beck, club secretary.

Dinner reservations should be made in advance to the club at 170 Hillside Avenue, he said.

Talks Set Next Week In Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Joint meetings are scheduled April 11 between the principals in a machinists strike affecting 150 Bay Area manufacturing plants, it was announced last night.

Officials of the regional office of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service had hoped to get the parties together sooner, but representatives on both sides said they would be too busy until then.

Reed Board Cancels Bond Vote Review

Trustees of Reed School District Tuesday night cancelled a planned discussion of a $9,900,500 Tamalpais High School District bond issue because the Tamalpais district board has announced it will consider dropping the issue from the June 4 ballot.

Trustees decided to call for bids for construction of an additional cluster at Granada School, not to exceed a cost of $175,000, according to Supt. H. Joe Edgington. Bids will be due April 23.

Chairman James B. Atkin was absent.

The Reed School District Board also:

FEDERAL GRANTS — Approved submission of five projects for federal grants in reading, science, mathematics, family life education and television, for a total of $77,000 for the 1969 school year.

KINDERGARTEN — Voted to forward a resolution to the State Legislature supporting continuance of state aid funds for kindergarten expansion in school districts.

LEGAL ACTION — Accepted a recommendation from Deputy County Counsel Richard V. Godino to file suit for an undetermined figure against the Lytton Savings and Loan Association for encroachments on school district property caused by cut and fill in the Via Los Altos subdivision.

LITTLE LEAGUE — Approved a drainage correction on the Little League playing field at Del Mar School, not to exceed $650.

PERSONNEL CHANGES — Accepted resignations from Ann Hassard, fifth grade teacher at Reed School, and Mrs. Dorothy Erickson, secretary to Lynn Jenks, director of research. Decided to hire Catherine Schengel as a home economics teacher at Del Mar School, at $6,900 and Mrs. Lynette Erlach to replace Mrs. Erickson, at an hourly rate of $1.67.

Signup Dates Set For Kindergarten

Children entering kindergarten in the Mill Valley School District in September will preregister at their schools from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. April 16 and 17.

Children entering school this fall must have been born on or before Dec. 2, 1963. Proof of age may be a birth certificate, baptism certificate, hospital birth record, passport, or affidavit of a parent or guardian.

Parents will be asked to provide dates of polio immunization so an information card required by the state can be completed.

Further registration information is available at the district office.

THREE BUTTON

Corduroy Makes The Scene

The new spring corduroys are going in a new direction via wide wide wales and sculptured effects. The spring 1968 "Pretty Girl" look features plush clothes cut both horizontally and vertically in colors galore. They come in "Hot Line" shades from Hot Orange to Sassy Pink and in more subtle stoney shades with a hint of grey.

The tailored coat, done in both a chunky and narrow wale, teams up to trimmings such as buckles, leather leash closings and brass galosha fashionings.

Bride-To-Be Has Flexible Fashion Idea

Thanks to the ingenuity of today's designers and manufacturers, the young bride-to-be can have the trousseau wardrobe of her choice, and later on wear the same cloths to office, college or party.

These obligingly flexible designs are now offered in a 100 perc ent dacron polyester blend that is actually a knit, but bears no resemblance to the bulky, ribbed look of the past.

A beautiful going-away dress in creamy beige, with its own matching jacket. A dream of a dress for later on too, for it can be accessorized with ease.

While the mini-skirt, still about four inches above the knee, remains in evidence, there's a bit of softening in the creation of some of the dressier dresses. A few have a hint of the raised Empire look. Rather than the traditional A-line sheath, skirts are now a little bell-shaped.

But favorites in 1967 remain favorites in 1968. The turtle neck dress, as well as the sweater with turtle neck, are as popular as ever.

The short, kicky skirt, pleated or plain, keeps the young look on the move. Jumper dresses—or one-pieces resembling jumpers — are favorites with the young set.

Knit or stretch knit pants are on every young woman's shopping list, with fashion changes to be rung with the combined efforts of blazers and sweaters.

PERFECT FOR EASTER

Cinderella designed this dress and coat ensemble for the little girl with big plans this spring. Under the striped coat is a navy A-line dress with inverted pleats and a square neckline. The very latest in young people's fashions are at McKenzie's Jr. Vogue in San Rafael and at Northgate Fashion Mall.

Model Jennifer Chung To Wed In Chinese-American Custom

When Jennifer Chung marries her school sweetheart in Palo Alto in September, the wedding will combine both Chinese and American traditions.

Jennifer, who will become the bride of Dr. Fred Ho, now a pediatrics resident at Los Angeles Hospital, will wear a specially-designed wedding gown of lavender brocade, now being made in Hong Kong. She purchased the fabric, at $40 a yard, in New York City, where she is a fashion model.

"The day before the wedding," explained Jennifer, "I will go to my parents' home and to Fred's home to pour tea and greet the guests. We hope to be married in the college chapel at Stanford University, where Fred did his undergraduate work. There will be lots of guests as is customary in China.

"Afterwards we will sit down to a Chinese banquet. There will be music, but usually there is no dancing at such a Chinese function. We're trying to work that out, because it would be lovely to have some of the Chinese fan dances."

Jennifer explained that the Chinese brides wear no veil, so her head will be uncovered.

Born in China, but moving to Hong Kong when she was small, Jennifer was educated in Australia. She has been in this country for only four years. She started modeling in San Francisco, then came to New York to model for Leonard Tuttman, who has open his own house called Tutknit.

Incoming Fashions Are Soft, Feminine

This is a year where no one idea, no one direction, has caused a dramatic change in fashion. It is a year of broad selection of silhouette, of variety in all areas of fashion. There will still be some Mad-Mod extremists around, but they are no longer front and center. This year's girl is all-girl, pretty, feminine. In fact, soft best describes the incoming fashions. Men will welcome the return of fit, brought back by the renaissance of the belt. Belts are high and narrow under the bosom . . . low and lean on the hips . . . or wide and definite at the waistline . . . or wrapped. Even the free falling A-shape, a continuing favorite, will have more shape. Ruffles are everywhere . . . tiered ruffle shirts, ruffles at the neck, at sleeve edge. Pleats and shirring, starting below the hip, add softness to the new more fitted shapes. Smocking is used to cinch the waist. Tailored clothes are also soft. The newest suit is the sleeveless, a vest, a soft shirty blouse and dirndl. The new "Bonnie" suit is soft, the jacket long and fitted, the blouse clinging, the skirt moving.

The new tunic may be a coat, a vest or a jacket. It can go over a skirt, pants or a dress. Worn alone it is a good looking shaped short coat. Softness moves into coat costumes where the dress and the coat have a new proportion.

Skirts are pleated . . . there are long, narrow allover pleats from the waist or bust . . . narrow pleats on the side . . . short box pleats from the hips. Skirts are gathered into dirndls, others swing out into a circle.

There is every kind of shirt and it goes everywhere . . there are shirtdresses, shirtcoats and shifts to go with skirts. In sportswear sweaters will fit better. Nights are filled with flowering chiffons, violes and organdies.

THE BIG QUESTION . . . what will be the skirt length? The Mini-Mini . . . 9-10" above the knee, as a tunic yes, as a skirt length, no. The-Mini . . . 5-6" above the knee . . . no longer news, no longer sensational. As news, it is on its way out except for the teen-ager. The Midi-mid-calf. Not one designer has expressed real conviction regarding this length. They are all searching for a way to make the skirt longer, because fashion must change and what goes up must come down.

The "in" look is just above the knee. This is a becoming length for almost everyone. Should skirts get longer in the coming year, it will only be to the knee or very slightly below.

Therefore, spring will see continued emphasis on the leg. Here is where the dramatic fashion news lies. There's something for everyone, something for every fashion look. The leg will look long and slim with a rainbow of colors to repeat or blend with clothing and shoes, often in feminine lacy designs. Stockings and panty hose remain an exciting fashion accessory.

Spring fabrics offer enough variety, interest, and romance to fill the many moods that spring awakens.

There is much texture . . . moving in strong over the flat, flat look. Texture in surface weaves, barathea and cotton crepes with rough surfaces in wovens with the look of knits.

There are many, raised surface patterns, deeply sculptured plaids and patterns in thick and thin, fat and flat formations.

There is great interest in luster . . . sheen carried through in satin striping, rippling jerseys, sateens, in flowing fabrics with a smooth shiny look, satin backed crepes, even satiny fleece.

There are stripes . . . blazer stripes and awning stripes looking particularly sporty. Random stripes take to tightly woven worsteds and precise elegance.

Flowers take over and are bigger than ever. Sometimes they are barely recognizable in blown up dramatic forms, or in abstraction, or some clearly etched, sharply drawn. They turn up as clusters of tiny buds slapped all over stripes . . . or as stripes.

There are magnificent Indonesian prints on crisp cotton in deep mysterious colorings. Black, brown, navy are newest background colorings. Darks give new dimension to twin prints, silk chiffon over silk surah.

FLIPPY AND FLOPPY best describes the millinery market for spring. Brims carry over from fall, flipped up in the back and down in the front. They range from black organza heart shaped hats that flop in the breeze for the "femme fatale" for evening, to men's fedora with or without chinstrap for daywear to flippy floppy beach hats — the tinier the bikini, the bigger the hat. The brims need little trim but look for flowers and soft fabrics, print scarves or ribbons tied around them to color coordinate one's outfit.

The scarf hat of several seasons ago has been revitalized in looser scarf arrangements so that it can flow in the breeze.

Bows form their own hats whether gathered in clusters and placed on the top of the head or pinned at the nape of the neck, sometimes intertwined with the new curly locks.

The newest accessory, however, is the single big flower or daisies or other flowers 3½" in size scattered allover.

The young prefer the "Bonnie" hats from "Bonnie and Clyde." These range from the slouchy gunmoll berets to Garbo brims. The jockey hat seen in the fall will also carry over.

THE HARD MODERN jewelry of lucite, plastic and wire of last year has softened into more feminine materials, colors and lacey, antiqued and flowery shapes.

The lucite and enamels continue, found in softer colors ranging from pale pastels to warm brights. Forms will be more flexible and delicate with flowers and circles predominating. The ability of these materials to obtain beautiful colors make it a perfect background for Tiffany and kaleidoscope designs.

Spring Offers 'Pretty Girl,' Indian Style

The hippie influence in jewelry remains in their beads, ranging from glass to wood, etc. Their flowers also live in pins, earrings and necklaces. The new Indian philosophy will begin to show its influence in the way of ornate pendants, pins, earrings, and rings in mostly gold and beads or bells. The Indian styles lead into the "antiqued look" which began in the fall and continue to gain momentum. They must not be small but striking in size.

The "pretty girl" styles also cry for pearls, cameos, delicate chains, etc. so long absent from the market. Again, they must be distinctive and not the classic single strands.

The shirt needs accessorizing so look for more fragile yet colorful or antiqued cufflinks, buttons and tie-pins. Her belts range from crushy ties, to patent to ribbon to beautifully printed ribbons and brocades sashed at the waist in all widths. Distinctive buckles, bows or signatures are on everything. Her chains are more refined, lighter in weight and are many times incorporated with beads, bells, coins, pearls, colorful enamels, lucite, gold or ribbons.

Her shirtcuffs reach her wrist drawing more attention to her hands. Where last season she piled bands of enamels or gold on her fingers, this season she may combine two ornate rings on one finger, alternate chunky and bands, or put three chunkies on three fingers. Most of them are antiqued, twisted gold, enamel or large stones.

Earrings still remain the top seller, with the wedding hoop clip and flowers of enamel or fabric the most important day look and the long lacies continuing for evening. Pins are of enamel or precious stones and metal. Bracelets are still very important for the sleeveless dresses. Rings are increasing rapidly. Necklaces have been out of the fashion picture for several seasons but may begin to return in the way of coin chains "a la Bonnie and Clyde," Chanel chains, watch pendants, Indian and antiqued pendants. All important with the open shirt and decollotage necklines.

Scarves still are important tied in the hair, in the neckline of a shirt, or on the shoulder. The oblong scarf gains new importance tied at the throat in a floppy bow or tied to the side of the neck as recently seen in the Paris creations. The scarves are predominantly florals, geometrics or landscapes to harmonize with either the brights or pales, or filmy pastel laces, organdies, voiles or dotted swiss.

THERE HAS NEVER been a wider range of colors than for spring. Pretty colors, bright colors, pale colors, neutrals, color used in new ways. The pretty pales are not as light as pastels, not as strong as brights. This year's brights are still colorful but much softer, are bright without jarring, clear, but subtly subdued. The brights still turn up together, but don't crash-clash. They are toned down with dashes of neutrals, or hold dramatically in place with deep colors — black, rich browns, navy, used as a foil for the brights. There is renewed interest in neutrals. It is a season to go into soft and fragile pale delicate colors . . . or to stay bright and clear.

The current look of the dark brown or black or navy leg will probably go into spring but don't sell the pale leg short. It goes beautifully with the litte girl organdies, voiles and laces. There are still the two looks; but the dark leg is current high fashion.

ULTRA COOL CONTOUR

Country Set uses rayon-cotton pucker cloth for this summer contour belted white pants outfit, topped by a ruffled shirt of ivy green cotton. It's white dotted to match the belt, and called "The Pucker-Up." Available at Michelle Craig, Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael.

Balmain Tries To Drop Hem

By JOAN DEPPA

PARIS (UPI)—Pierre Balmain made fashion's first serious attempt in Paris to drop the hemline and kill the mini skirt.

Balmain put the skirt right back to the knee, from where it rose a few seasons ago.

To most eyes the look was far from new. In fact, many of the dresses look exactly like what conservative women had been wearing all along.

The shortest were mid-knee—about as high, for example, as Britain's Queen Elizabeth II has ever worn hers.

What made Balmain's collection in the spring-summer fashion parade were slim sheaths and princess lines.

Those, at least, were a change from the loose-fitting geometric look of past seasons, even though reminiscent of styles worn less than five years ago, jazzed up by colors usually termed modern.

"Strictly for the carriage trade," one writer remarked. There was none of the applause that punctured the Jacques Heim and Louis Feraud collections, which kept hemlines short.

Evening dresses were even a little longer, which in some cases worked quite well. It had a sort of costume look which women had been favoring for special dress-up occasions. The long evening dresses were as pretty as anyone else's and very elegant, particularly when the midriff was wrapped a high waitline to the bosom in beading or braids.

SUMMER-BENT

Two bright arnel jersey prints seem headed for all their worth toward a busy schedule of summer activities. At left, is a sleeveless spider-web printed shift available in black and white and also in a brown and white combination. The shirtdress in swirl print at right boasts long cuffed sleeves and patent tie belt in a brown, black and white combination or in pink white and gray. They're Kay Windsors from Ella Joseph in San Rafael.

PLAID-MAD MINI

Bringing a light-hearted approach to a new season is this plaid-mad suit with its elongated jacket, big patch pockets and a pleated skirt that really swings. It's by Mario Forte for Handmacher and can be seen in sizes 6 to 16 at H. Liebes, Northgate Fashion Mall.

Women Go Wild This Spring With Tailored Natural Leather Styles

American women will go wild this spring . . . in "wild American" leathers. These neo-primitive leathers, bold and natural in appearance, have been fashioned into handsome shoes, apparel, handbags and belts. It's a new leather look at once rich, raw and racy.

How do wild American leathers differ from the tamer textures? Leather Industries of America reports several ways to recognize this rugged product of native tanning. The leather has a soft glovey or waxy feel to it, it is found in the natural leather colors — tan, brown, beige and black. In most cases it sports an antiqued or dark-shaded effect. In addition, some leathers extend their "wildness" with a finish that highlights the original markings of the hide.

The "call of the wild" will be heard in coats, suits and ensembles crafted from these new American leathers. Beautifully supple yet firm and crisp, they lend themselves to meticulous tailoring and fine dressmaker detailing. Dashing spring coats, both single and double-breasted, are available in several types of wild leather — and in styles ranging from "private eye" to pretty and feminine. Some of the coats are teamed with matching leather skirts and silk blouses for an elegant outfit.

To suit the new season, choose a suit in new wild leather. Snappy A-line and wrap-around skirts are paired with jackets of all types from the Eisenhower to the ⅞-ths jacket. Here, too, many costumes come with blouse or shirt, often coordinated to the lining of the suit jacket.

There's stark stylish simplicity in spring dresses done in native wild leather. They highlight lines carved to the curve, plus the bare beauty of the leather. Sleeveless for the most part, these dresses feature yoke treatment, stand-up collars, seam detailing, leather or link belts, side closings, fringed or corded hemlines, and other touches.

On most wild leather apparel, including jumpers and separates, antiquing is used to dramatic purpose. Its rich artfully stained look has great eye appeal, and in the off-white and light tones, a stunning parchment-like shading.

Take a walk on the wild side in the newest of footwear . . . shoes in wild American leather. Several styles are being shown in the Spring '68 collections. Although especially adaptable to the breezy low-heeled broad-toed casual type of shoe, wild leather will also be found in pretty afternoon pumps and in sandals for play and street wear.

In a fashion season falling midway between tough chic and all-out femininity, wild leather is the material with just the right message. It speaks in our own native language, saying: I'm savage yet soft, wild but oh-so-mellow. Wild leather is "in" for the newest look in apparel, shoes, bags, belts, hats and other accessories.

Easter Handbags Are Keyed To Soft Colorful Leathers

For Easter enchantment, try waving a lovely leather bag in the air. There's springtime sorcery in new leather handbags, with more charm and space per square inch than in many a season.

The pretty purses slated to swing in the Easter parade owe their fashion magic to soft colorful leathers and soft graceful styling. The key word is soft this spring, notes Leather Industries of America — as soft as a downy chick. Leathers are softer, construction is softer, the whole handbag look is softer and more feminine.

Among the American leather textures on tap in new "made-in-USA" bags are grained, smooth, embossed, suede, real patent, waxy and brushed leathers.

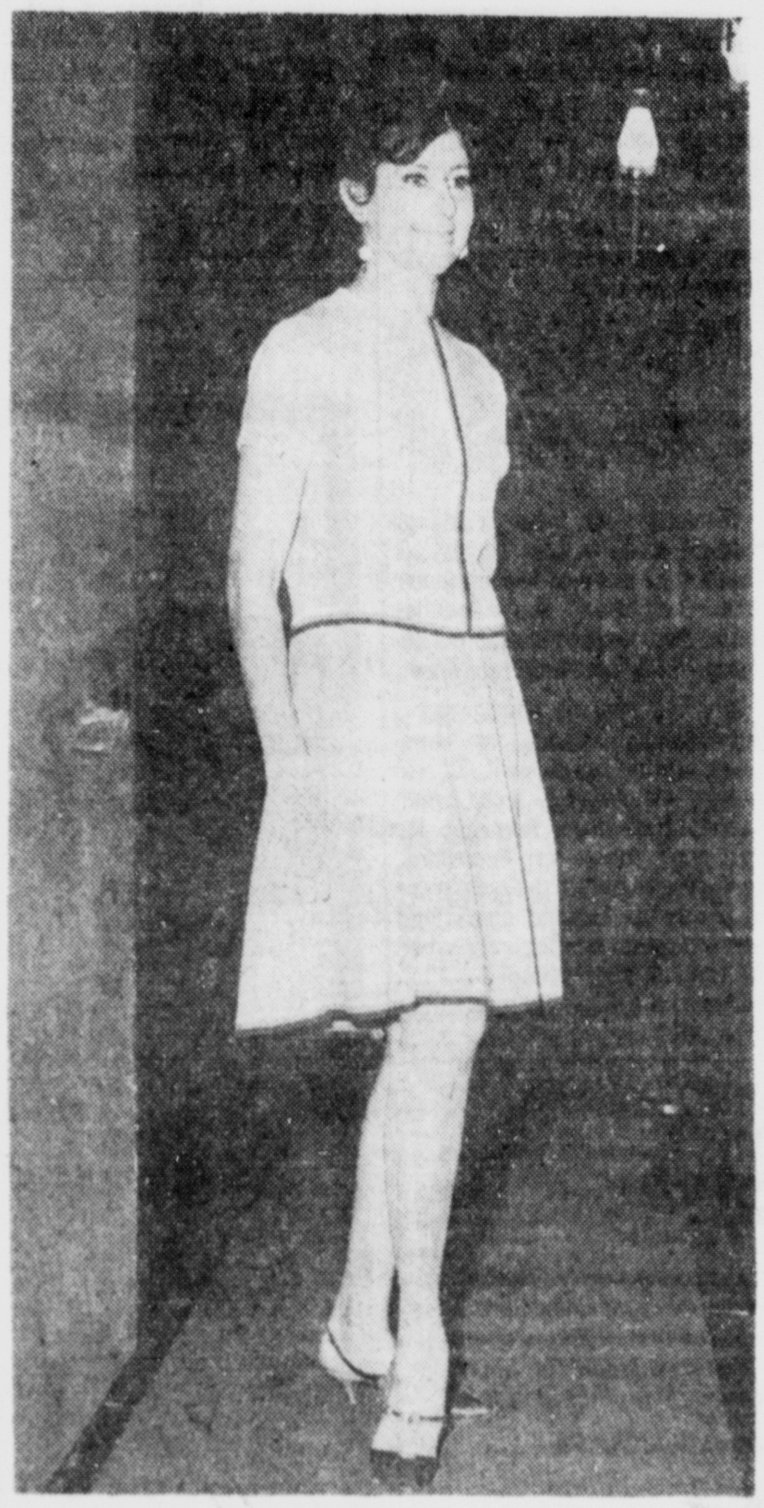
Sleekest and smartest handbags are the leather satchels, pouches and swaggers in new larger sizes, with a minimum of trim. You'll see self-leather piping, special strap treatment, flapped outer pockets, and discreet brass or gold closings used as decorative themes. Smaller leather bags— in tote, satchel, envelope and swagger silhouettes — have also cut down on trim for a more elegant look.

If that mid-April march along the avenue finds you in a casual type of costume, your bag should follow suit. Sportier bags — in handsome grained, antiqued, waxy and other natural American leathers — now come in small, medium and super sizes for every need of fancy. This spring's informal handbag styles are strong on stitching, heavy brass links or closings, outside pockets and shoulder straps.

After -five finery calls for diminutive dress bags in a variety of leather textures, including smooth, saffian, "reptile" embossed, lustre and metallic leathers. Most popular silhouettes for evening are the envelope, box bag and tiny tote. The closing is the primary fashion accent — with clasps of silver, gold and jewels wrought in many beautiful designs.

Growing Feet

American feet have been growing almost one full size every generation. Today the median U.S. male wears size 10. His grandfather most likely wore a size 7. At least one in every six American women wears a size 9 or more.



ITALIAN LOOK IN MARIN

FOR THE BIG DAY

Newest look at the altar this spring: Miss Vi, bridal consultant at Jon Robert, San Rafael, shows the elegant fit of silk organza, reimbroidered with alencon lace, soft, shimmers of seed pearls. The shape of the young in an a-line empire waist, scooped at the neck with Sabrina sleeve is accented by the full length allusion veil. Custom veiling is a specialty of the Jon Robert bridal department, just one of their many personal touches. The gown is from the spring-summer collection.

Clyde Has Little Influence On Men

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—There was a lot of talk this year in Los Angeles about the "Bonnie and Clyde" look in men's wear this fall. A good look around indicates the look will have a major influence but it won't revolutionize the men's wear industry.

The look was there in ties, in shirts, in shoes a little and, maybe, in hats. There will be a lot of striped double breasted suits with a pronounced gangster stripe, either pin or chalk, in a real look of the 1930s. But this is only a small part of the market.

The talk was at the recent convention of the Menswear Retailers of America and the concurrent meeting of the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. The retailers, of course, were looking hopefully for something that would increase sales.

And there was great hope that Warren Beatty as Clyde would have as much influence for the double breasted striped suit.

A check of the hundreds of exhibits showed the DB stripes were only a small part of the whole and that the very extreme models were likely to be snapped up by the avant garde or teen-agers who will wear almost anything as long as they are rebelling against something.

ON THE OTHER hand, men's dress shirts turned to dark tones and ties turned to light tones and it is possible to achieve a 1930 gangster look in a gray flannel suit, if they still exist, or some of the snappier glen plaids. After all, Michael Pollard wore big bold plaids in his role.

Knobby-toed shoes already have made an appearance and they were pretty much "in" in the 1920s and 1930s and in recent years there has been a resurgence of black and white and brown and white shoes on the golf courses. Hats have wider brims now—but not that wide. The chief effect may be on white Panama hats which are expected to be more popular this summer.

WITH AMERICAN designers having to cope with the tact they cannot change an entire industry overnight the chances are there will be a fringe of Clyde-type suits but it is more likely only that some of the lapels will be a little wider.

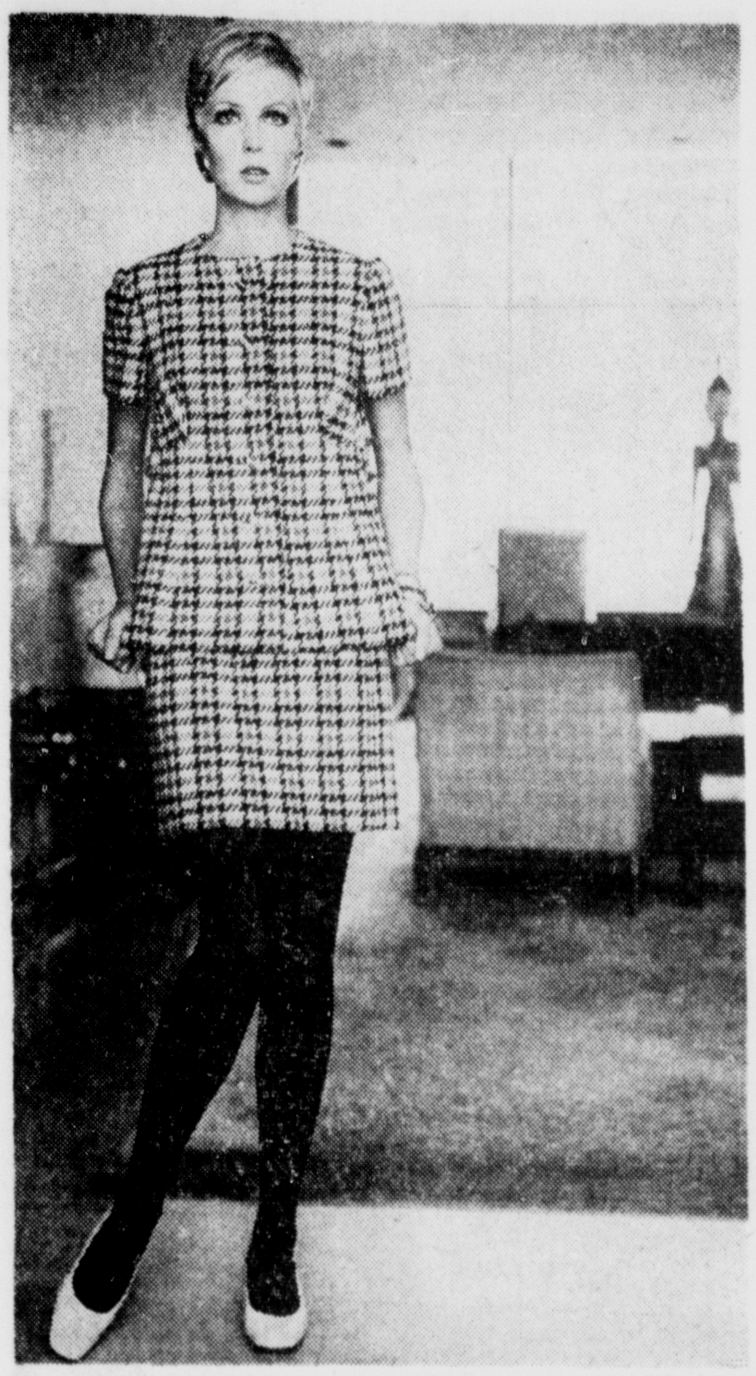
Theodora Van Runkle, who designed the clothes for the Bonnie and Clyde picture, said she always had been interested in the 1930s—her dignified father still dresses in those fashions—and that "most of my research file was in my head."

"The double breasted suits worn by Clyde won the most attention but what I liked best was a brown and white herringbone tweed with an action back and a high belt," she said. "Clyde wore it with brown and white shoes, a pale gray shirt and a vest—everything had a vest.

"Actually if I were designing men's wear I'd just design a vest and pants which Clyde wore so often."

SCINTILLATING!

Subtle-square toe shoe with flirty grosgrain bow has the new fashion angled heel. It is available in glowing tones of spring patent at Kramar's Shoes, Corte Madera Center.



A PINCH OF PLAID

Jacques Tiffeau presented this chic little plaid outfit for spring in his New York collection. The top is pinched in to accent the bustline, it has short sleeves and extends below the waist with a buttoned front. The easy skirt is cropped about six inches above the knee and worn with dark stockings. (UPI photo)

SEE-SAW HEMLINES

Lingerie Meets Constant Challenge

By JOAN LISETOR

As hemlines go and up or down so go lingerie styles with a quick pace to keep up with the demands for shorter and smoother lines.

When mini skirts were introduced, the question was, "How do I keep tops of stockings and garters from showing when I sit down?" To this the lingerie industry answered with panty hose. The slip that always showed was the next problem, so along came the pettipants and mini-slip, a short, short slip attached to a pair of underpants.

Coordinating with the outer silhouette, lingerie brought back the chemise, perfect for the no-shape dresses; however, a return to the shapely is developing, and the body shirt and belt are encouraging this trend to closer fit. For fitted waistlines and flared skirts, there's the dirndlette, similar to yesterday's bouffant petticoat, but more in keeping with today's fashion. Waist cinchers are back on the shelves of lingerie stores, and the demand grows, say lingerie shop owners, from women who have let their waistlines go with the shapeless styles. Then there's the bosom-minimizing three-quarter bra with wide-set straps and deep plunge, perfect to wear under a decollete shirtwaist because voluptuous spill-overs are strictly restoration comedy.

The opaque body stocking, a sleek, new underliner, is perfect under a see-through shirt. This manufacturer promises positive control with stretch bra cups, adjustable straps, snap crotch and garter tabs. The split petticoat-panty girdle solves the what-whould-I wear under-culottes problem. It's available with a peepshow of lace scallops, should you desire the added feminine touch under culottes.

Probably the most revolutionary unmentionable is the new Dior strapless bra. It really stays in place, not riding up or sliding down, thanks to latex bands along both its upper and lower edges. It is now sold only in the Dior lingerie boutique in Paris, but it is hoped it will soon be copied in a more moderate price range. However, Dior's sales-people warn, it is not suitable for the buxom, estimating 36B as the upper size limit for which the bra would be practical.

Dior is also marketing a panty girdle which holds up stockings without garters and works on the same principles as the bra.

On the more practical side, half slip shape up for the shaplier state of things in outer fashion. Slips for knits are extremely popular as are slip with fitted tops and a trace of lace to wear under "pretty girl" blouses. A new slip for knits, and also crochets, is the Chemini, a soft, slithery smoothie that combines a gentle-fitting bra-slip and separate but matching bikini pants.

With the onset of spring, lingerie is returning to delicate pastel colors and white. Fabrics are feminine and relatively sheer with many variations on voiles and dainty cottons. Eyelets, embroidery and crochet treatments enhance the pretty look.

If hemlines drop for the fall season, as many experts are predicting, the lingerie designers must again meet the challenge. Will it be back to bloomers, or is there a maxi-slip in the offing?

The Double Cross

There are moves afoot to switch the name "double breasted suits" to "cross over suits." Another move, of concern to men: the trend-setters want to drop "toiletries" for "men's cosmetics."

BRIGHT PLUMMAGE FOR MALES

Palm Beach springlite sport coats offer bright shades of green and blue and tattersalls of arnel triaceate for cool, crisp style. These coats team up with permanent press slacks in traditional plaids, miniature houndstooth or new spring solid shades. The total look in spring wardrobes is available at the Marcus Shop in San Rafael.

Supercolor Shirts Lead Mens' Spring Fashion Revolution

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Men's shirts for spring 1968 represent some sort of revolution in the clothing industry, which likes to boast that men's fashions represent evolution and not revolution. These shirts are best summed up in a single word—supercolor.

Every year, the cliche goes, spring shirts become lighter and brighter. But not this year. There are deep blues, deep greens, deep browns, deep orange, deep greys and for the more daring a deep raspberry. The deep tones apply to stripes and checks too.

One of the pioneers in this new approach to shirts is Henry Grethel, dress shirt stylist and product manager for the C. F. Hathaway Co., who began bringing out darker shades several years ago, starting with the deep French blue which everybody is making these days.

"THIS HAS BEEN the year of getting color across," he said. "Everyone's more color conscious—from cars to color television. And new colors for fall will be just as important with offbeat shades of the darker, brighter colors shown now. Stripes will be more unusual and we like the satin stripes popular in Europe, for instance."

"THERE IS a big revolution in colors," he said. "The day of the white shirt has ended, even in the evening. I like to think myself largely responsible. We started last fall with very deep tones and the dark is selling right through the spring. We now have eight deep tones."

Some of Boonshaft's shirts were the same dark colors in light weight fabrics—French blue, charcoal, antique gold, mulberry, pumpkin, fern green, chocolate brown. For spring he added paprika and emerald green. Stripes and checks were against backgrounds of the same dark colors. And there weren't any button downs—these were spreadcollars and a larger point. Formal shirts were in the same deep colors in a very fine Tottal voile from England. There were matching bow ties.

Hathaway, which emphasized a spread collar in its style leaders, did such dark colors as Beaujolais—redder than you'd see most other places—in a fine lawn, light as a handkerchief. There were also solid tones in a Swiss chambray which shines almost like changeable silk. New were checks and stripes in such colors as bitter orange, bitter lemon and tonic blue.

THE DEEP TONES extended to the permanent press lines of many manufacturers and Wren, which was traditional button down, showed deep colors in stripes and tattersalls and a "hot" item—a deep cream ground with a triple widetrack stripe in green, yellow and blue.

DRIPPING IN FRILLS

Frankly feminine from the House of Dior is this evening outfit of ruffles, embroidery, ribbon and bows. The silhouette and long curly hairdo comes straight from the 1930's—a trend in the Paris fashion collections for spring.

Cover-Up Coats Fit The Season, Even When Rainy

What do you do when spring doesn't quite make it around the corner on schedule? When April showers keep dripping right on through May? Do you hide away and keep your new clothes under cover? Not anymore you don't. The designers have seen to that.

When balmy breezes are still too blustry for eyelet and voile, wear them anyway. You can put them under this season's great collection of cover-up coats.

Canvas sets the fabric scene with a ribbed ottoman coming in as a strong second. Sunny golds combine with clear lavender and green crisp. Red, white and blue take on sparkling yellow or just leave out white altogether for a new twist to the familiar color formula.

All these stripings look absolutely smashing. Sometimes they rush down a coat cut exactly like a shirt right to the side vents. Sometimes they are shot across a side-buttoned style that carries its own coordinated dress. In the sporty vein, you'll find the stripes fashioned in a chevron pattern on a zippered cover-up.

All of these coats acquire a complete look by adding shiny little girl pumps and textured knee highs in colors that take their cue from the stripes. Of course, this means that the hem must be short enough to allow for a length of leg to show.

GREAT GRAY

The action-skirted wool suit has a brief box-jacket in gold and white plaid. It is just one from a collection of flawlessly tailored spring suits available in misses sizes at Roos/Atkins, Northgate Fashion Mall.

STRIPES FOR SUMMER FUN

Illustrating that stripes will be among the smart items worn this summer is Mrs. Kit Davitz, manager of Picadilly Ltd. of California in San Rafael. Kit models a suit combining double knit polyester and cotton which, incidentally, is washable.

Clothes Great For Travel

Time was when one prepared for a vacation by going out and buying a wardrobe of "travel clothes," — practical, packable separates, mostly, that were fine for sight-seeing but not to be seen in. Today all that has changed. The dress you wear to discover old Spanish treasure in Jamaica is the same dress you'll wear for spring in town and summer at your favorite beach resort. And chances are that such a dress, or dresses, are in gaily colored prints on carefree fabrics such as nylon jersey.

The "get-away" season begins now, continues non-stop through summer.

Kenya Official Seeks To Ban The Mini

NAIROBI (AP) — Attorney General Charles Njonjo would like to get a law passed banning mini skirts but fears it would give Kenya's police force too much extra work.

Airing his views in a local newspaper, Njonjo revealed a split in a Kenya cabinet over women's fashion.

Whereas the bachelor Attorney General denounced mini skirts as "human depravity," Minister of Commerce and Industry Mwai Kibaki reported he approved of them on younger women.

But Njonjo is adamant.

"I think the mini skirt fashion is ugly," he said. "It seems to accentuate the ugly parts of the body — from the knees downward. I saw a lot of these minis in London and it was terrible. I can only think of it as human depravity.

"I once thought of introducing legislation to ban mini skirts but it would have meant having all the police force on the street. One can only hope that with the occasional scathing letter in the press, women will stop wearing them."

Njonjo disapproves also of African women who straighten their hair. He reported he had warned his sister he would not associate with her if she straightened hers.

Commerce and Industry Minister Kibaki is more of a fashion liberal. His sole aversion is to boots.

SUNDROP AT THE BEACH

This beach ensemble has been named Sundrop by Cole Junior and it's all blazing white except for the floral print that lines the bikini. The tucked shift has a bib front and cut-in shoulders. It's in the beachwear collection at Kaufman's of San Anselmo.

PAJAMA DRESS

JEAN SHRIMPTON:

'I'm Really Very Ordinary'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The photographer took one look at the face of the girl and told her, "You stay that way and I can use you."

The photographer was London's David Bailey. The girl was London's Jean Shrimpton, with her long and straight ash blonde hair, the fair skin with out makeup, the dreamy blue-gray eyes, the leggy figure "five feet nine or 10 inches . . . about 130 pounds."

"I WAS RIGHT out of the country," says Jean Shrimpton, now 25. "Sort of scruffy and useless. But I hit at a time when the magazines were ready for something else. The stiff model type had had it.

"You either had to be so far out of reach, like a Garbo, or else someone people could identify with. I was lucky on looks. I'm really very ordinary."

Well, "The Shrimp," as this model has become known internationally, is being overly modest.

"FLAWLESS BEAUTY would be dull, don't you think?" she said. And who's to argue with the thinking behind the face of the girl who has become one of the most sought-after models in the highly-specialized business of photography for advertisements and editorial space.

Miss Shrimpton commands what probably is the highest fee paid any model — $120 an hour. The standard rate in New York for those facing cameras is $60.

"I really raised the rate so I'd get fewer assignments; not have to work so hard," she said. "Seven years of modeling is a long time. I'm a bit tired. Modeling means travel and nice money and new things and interesting people. But there's nothing much to sitting there while a camera goes click-click."

WHAT DO THE young people she meets ask her most often — "You know. How can I become a model? How did you become a model?"

Miss Shrimpton's career began "because I didn't want to go to a university and I was fed up with asking father for money." She is one of three children.

She was born on a farm about 30 miles from London—"I've always been mad for horses" — and her first move from home was to London to study secretarial work. "But I never could learn to type," she said, "and someone suggested modeling school."

Her first work was with Bailey, who like "The Shrimp" now is highly successful. Then, when she came to the United States to do an assignment for British Vogue, she met Richard Avedon and her association with the man who has photographed most of the world's beauties

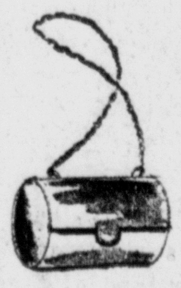
LEATHER PASSE

Handbags Will Be Of Synthetic Fabric

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Once upon a time one sure sign of spring was the appearance of the patent leather handbag, the patent leather pumps in women's wardrobes. The two, either in black or red, were harbingers as certain as the early robin and the first crocus.

But times have changed in the handbag business, to the point that purse styles come along so rapidly manufacturers hardly can keep re-tooling their factories to keep pace.



Take patents. They're year-round sellers these days, says Murray Resnick, who calls himself "king of the volume handbag business" and whose family has been in the field 35 years. And year-round, black makes up 80 per cent of patent sales. The patent can be leather or synthetic.

"FAR AS HANDBAGS are concerned," he said, "the new developments in technology will make leather passe in 10 years. That'll make the leather people angry, I know. But I have a bet on it with another manufacturer (who likes leather)."

With that comment, Resnick brought from one of a myriad of display cases in the showroom a pouch-shaped purse made of a nylon-coated vinyl. "I dare anyone to tell the difference from leather," he said. "The wearability of plastic is higher, too."

About those rapid changes of styles, Resnick hasn't figured out why unless the younger set—the teens, the Mods—have turned purses into fashion accessories, varying them as often as boots or hair styles, instead of buying one purse-period.

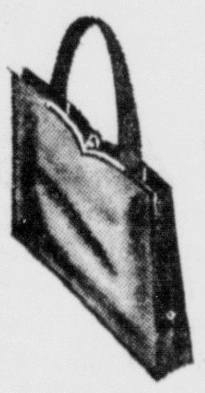
"THERE IS NO big name, no one leader, in handbag design," he said. "Of course there was the influence of Chanel the Paris couturier whose small, flapover purse with chain handle became an international style). Jackie Kennedy? No. But the handbag industry could have used her."

RIGHT AT THE moment, Resnick said, the minibag, measuring about three by five inches and a recent fad, is dead. It held very little and women found they had to carry a supplemental, larger purse too. But going strong is a larger version of the compartmented, expandable mini with chain handle —this one measuring about six by nine inches.

"From it," said Resnick, "we then jump to the satchel. There is no in-between. Some of the satchels measure about 12 by 16 inches, some even are larger done in figured carpeting.

CURRENT BEST-SELLER, he said are the purses with outside pockets and made in a variety of sizes. Some of the outside compartments resemble the rectangular shapes of "ammo" pockets of military men.

The alltime best seller? "What we used to call the mamma bag," said Resnick. It featured a couple of zipper-closed inside compartments, a foldover cover and plenty of room for stuffing things inside, despite its conservative size, about eight by nine inches.



"I quit calling it the 'mamma' when it was the first thing my daughters selected in the showroom," he said. "All the young things are buying it."

IN THE LAST 15 years, counting mamma and daughter purchases, the one style has sold 4.5 million units, he said.

Resnick, a veteran of World War II, is the father of three daughters, 20, 18 and 16 years of age. His father, 79 and retired to Florida, founded the Julius Resnick firm in 1933. But Julius Resnick had been in the bandbag business even earlier. Son Murray joined the company in 1938 and is now its president.

The company, with headquarters in New York, manufactures 4.5 million handbags a year, he said. It has factories in New York, Syracuse, and Hialeah, Fla.; factory and offices in Cornwall and Montreal, Canada, and manufacturing affiliates in England and Ireland. Now, Resnick's eyeing the possibilities in Australia.

TURNING HEADS TOWARD FASHION

IN FLYING COLORS

On the summer schedule are the new light tones of gray, blue, brown and green, which Hart, Schaffner and Marx are showing in a choice of "Flight Patterns." Here they are illustrated in Dacron polyester-worsted fabric in two-button styling, accented with slimming lines, slanted pockets and side vents. From Hastings Men's and Women's Store, Northgate Fashion Mall.

NEW SHAPE-UP

The new shaped or contoured look has captured the interest of men, who are delighted with every phase of it. The style transition is shown in the Hickey-Freeman Westshape model on display at Cazassa's, San Rafael. It is the authentic silhouette handled with the restraint, refinement and fine hand-tailoring that men of authority want in their clothing. Noticeable details of the Westshape are the gently contoured waistline, longer side vents, and slanting piped pockets.

Hemlines Are Up — At Least Till Fall

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hemlines on women's daytime clothes will remain above the knees — for a while.

But the prophetic talk is that by next fall how far these designers do plan ahead. They will inch down. Don't panic. The drop will not be enough to create havoc with the clothes in your current wardrobes. Today's woman is just not ready to give up the young and free look the above-knee skirts give. Not even the "midi," of the lower calf length some of London's mod set is wearing, will have enough influence to haul everything down.

"I'm just back from London and the skirts are shorter than ever, although we did see a few midis in the Carnaby Street area

"There's never been such an era of girl-watching. And the young girls in particular are not going to throw that away."

Mrs. Simpson was one of the several pace-setting designers with whom I discussed "whither the hemlines?" during the two weeks of spring ready-to-wear fashion shows staged semi-annunally in New York for the nation's fashion and women's editors. When the shows concluded, the universal look was one of skirts well above the knees.

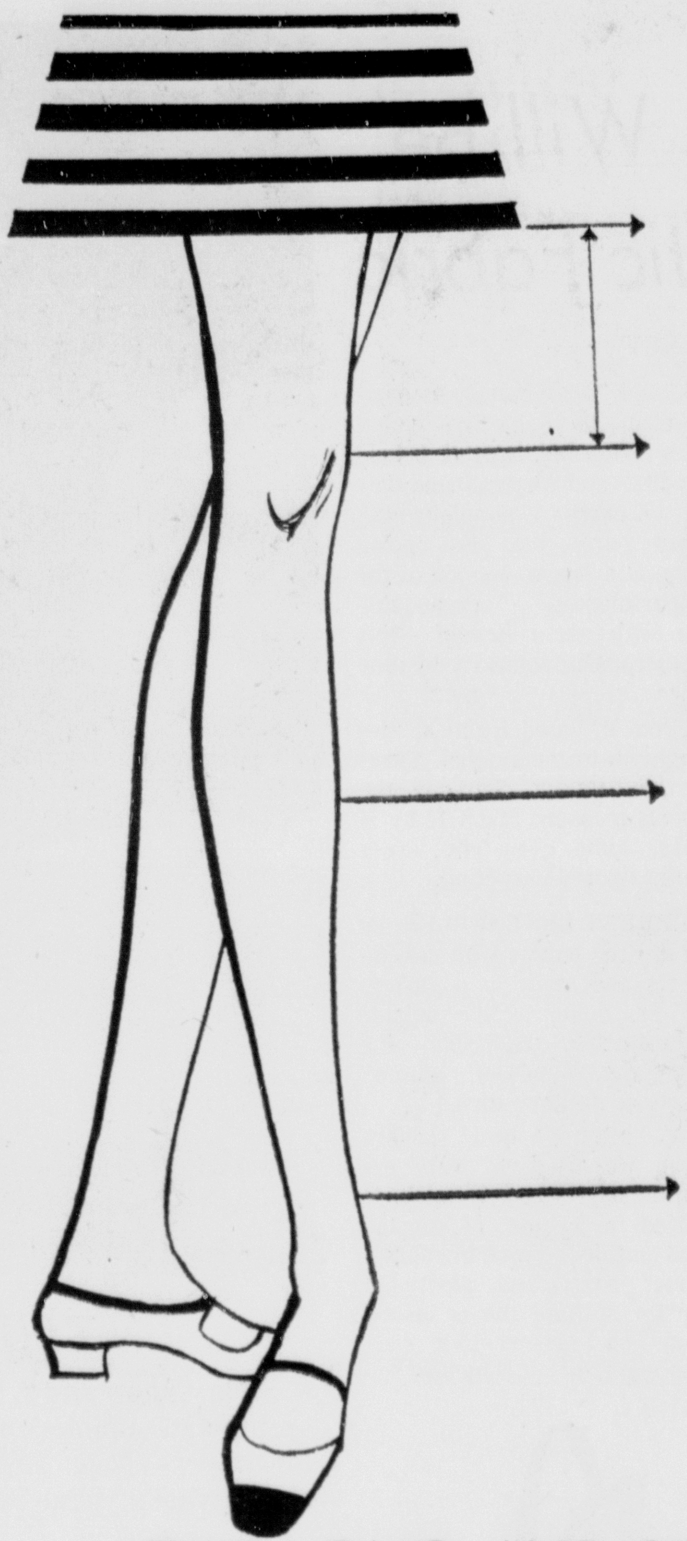
VICTOR JORIS, designer at cuddlecoat, advocated the mid-calf length at least five seasons ago, he said. But the only one he cut for spring and summer wasn't in his fashion presentation, it was in Tunisia being photographed for a magazine.

But Joris is one of the designers feeling there is a definite place for the mid-calf length . . . for at-home fashions, for evening clothes, and in coats always worn with boots in cold weather.

Geoffrey Beene, who won the conveted task of designing Lynda Bird Johnson Robb's wedding dress, feels the mini-skirts and the unfitted shapes are about through.

"HEMS WILL COME down by fall," he aid, "but to what extent I won't predict. Over a period of years, we designers have tired of working in one proportion."

"Oh, no, not a general drop in hems," said Chester Weinberg. "I like short, bouncy, young-looking things. Women'll just not accept below-knee skirts anymore. I see the midi only for late day . . . but the introduction of this length has just confused everyone. We've been shipping our spring line about 23 to 24 inches off the floor. The stores call us and ask us to cut them shorter!"



We believe the proper street length is from the top of the knee cap to four inches above the knee. It depends upon your age and the dress silhouette.

STRICTLY FOR A SPECIAL OCCASION:

THE MIDI --- mid calf for at-home entertaining or dancing.

THE MAXI --- two to four inches above the ankle. Worn instead of the floor length evening dress- for poolside; for at-home.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT

Are hemlines going down this spring and summer? A fashion flash from the Emporium in Northgate Fashion Mall insists this is not so. The proper street length is from top of the knee cap to four inches above the knee, they say, with the midi (mid-calf) length for at-home entertaining and the maxi (above the ankle) for evening wear.

MR. BLACKWELL PICKS

Worst Dressed Women Of The Year Include Some Top Film Luminaries

Picking the annual Worst Dressed Woman of the Year is the task of California designer, Mr. Blackwell. For 1967 he said the real blame for the outrageous fashion goes to the designers.

"I should have named the ten worst designers instead of blaming the women who wear their clothes," said Mr. Blackwell.

Here are his choices and comments

1. BARBARA STREISAND. "Today's flower child who has gone to seed in a cabbage patch."

2. JULIE CHRISTIE. "The greatest actress of the year dresses like an Al Capp cartoon of Daisy Mae lost in Piccadilly Circus."

3. JAYNE MEADOWS. "A Barnum and Bailey circus in a telephone booth."

4. ELIZABETH TAYLOR "looks like two small boys fighting under a mink blanket."

5. CAROL CHANNING. "The blonde bombshell who looks like George Sand caught in a wind tunnel."

7. RAQUEL WELCH. "A Dresden reproduction of Charles Atlas wearing Band-Aids."

8. ANN MARGRET. "A Hell's Angel escapee that invaded the Ziegfield Follies on a rainy night."

9. JAYNE FONDA. "Stretch pants on a angel food cake."

10. VANESSA REDGRAVE. "A do-it-yourself kit on stilts that came unglued."

Mao Jacket Makes It Big With Men

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wyatt Cooper was frustrated. There was his wife, the former Gloria Vanderbilt, on the list of the 10 best dressed women and he didn't have a thing to wear himself. Specifically, he didn't have a Mao jacket which now is becoming the rage among the rich and fashionable.

He had seen a photograph of Oleg Cassini looking impeccably dashing in one of these military-type jackets and a white turtle neck sweater and decided that was for him. A call to Cassini elicited the information that Cassini had designed it and it was for sale.

BUT WHEN Cooper entered the store Cassini had named he found the clerk had never even heard of a Mao jacket. Cooper indignantly called Cassini again and wheels began to turn. He was fitted personally by Henry Schwartz, president of Weber & Heilbroner who informed him the clerk had been re-educated.

For his purposes, Cooper chose a blue-black one for evening wear. But they come in all shapes, sizes and colors and can be worn for sports, weekends in the country, parties at home, and to the office which specifies collar and tie.

CASSINI DOES not claim to have invented the Mao jacket—it has been worn by the military for centuries and still is worn by cadets at West Point. As a matter of fact it is worn by Mao Tse-tung, for whom it is named, and has been for years.

Sensitive souls (and manufacturers) who do not wish their product to be tainted with such an image call it by other names—such as the Nehru jacket after the late Indian prime minister, or the garu jacket after the Indian Yogis.

There is scarcely a designer who has not fooled around with a Mao jacket at some time or other—Pierre Cardin made one eight years ago but it never caught on. Cassini says its current popularity can be attributed in large part to Peter Lawford, who turned up for the Mike Douglas show minus his shirt. Cassini put him in a white turtleneck and people liked what they saw.

NOW EVERYBODY is wearing them, including Johnny Carson who helped make the turtle neck popular, and they are beginning to filter down to the masses. New York newspapers currently are filled with ads for the jackets at prices ranging from $50 in navy wool to $160 for a white evening number piped in white silk.

The proper time to wear them? "Well, it is not proper to wear a dark Mao jacket during the daytime—that is for evening," Cassini said. "But you can wear them in the daytime in some fabric such as a twill and in lighter colors, and you can wear them with a turtleneck or with a shirt and tie."

Not For All

Before every man in the country rushes out to buy some turtlenecks, the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear cautions — "The turtleneck is a style that is not flattering to certain men; and certain necks."

TURTLE ON TOES

A slick new pump in beige turtle-grained calfskin is styled with the femininity of today, a soft rounded-toe, gently curved small heel an a perky matching bow. It's from QualiCraft's collection of spring shoes at Leed's in the Northgate Fashion Mall.

Ladies, Watch For Three Inch Heels In The Fall

Anyone shopping for shoes lately has noticed much that is new. For one thing, the shoe salon itself is apt to resemble a crowd scene from a movie spectacular. Chart the popularity of shoes on a graph and watch the curve rocket up and out of sight. The Major reason? Women are happy with the whole shape of shoes now, and they are buying them by the bunch.

Shoes are more comfortable than they've been in years, and heels are a major reason. They're prettier, too, and younger, and they can give new zing to a wardrobe. Again, look at the heels.

First, look at the ones that are top-of-the-news now, the ones that are higher than we've seen in some time. These are coming up in batches at two inches, to be worn for day or evening, and there are many in the two-and-a-half inch category, a height whose comeback is causing a real flurry. And this is not all. The word from the National Footwear Institute is: watch for three-inch heels in the fall.
